GUN TOTERS UP TO SWANSON

BRITISH GIGGLE AS UNCLE SAM GIVES UP SHIRT

Stimson Proposal on Navy Happy Shock.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Uncle Sam has not only given away his shirt again at an international conference, but he has done so this time before he was even asked for it. One gathers this not only from examination of the ground the Hoover administration has surrendered to the British on battleships, cruisers and submarines, but also from the imperfectly concealed jubilation of the highest officials of the British government.

THE TRIBUNE learns from unimpeachable authority the emotions of the British cabinet members, following Secretary of State Stimson's announcement of the American proposals last Thursday night, were mingled with exultation and dumfoundedness at the American surrender without a fight.

British Get Real Thrill.

Not only the government but the opposition benches in the house of commons rippled with amusement when told of the American proposal. British statesmen were enjoying their first real thrill of the conference. They found their suspicions confirmed; they were dealing with persons such as the American envoys, not only as innocents abroad but also as children in arms.

Although they were accustomed to the ease with which they had persuaded Uncle Sam to part with his navy in the past, the Britishers were prepared for resistance on this occasion. They had heard that the Americans were coming to this conference with burnt fingers and were resolved not to be taken in again as they were at the Washington conference, when they were induced to scrap their new navy and abandon their Pacific bases in exchange for an abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which was already doomed by the British dominions.

Along Comes Mr. Stimson.

Then along came Mr. Stimson, holding four aces, and to the amazement of other players, he threw them away before the game was fairly begun.

What Prime Minister MacDonald read in the paper Mr. Stimson handed to him was not only complete removal of the only serious obstacle to the realization of his battleship scrapping program for economy's sake, but a complete victory for the British admiralty to prevent America from achieving naval parity with Great Britain through sufficient preponderance of her cruisers with a long steaming radius, to offset the British preponderance of outlying naval bases and small cruisers.

The British at Geneva in 1927 proposed a limitation of 15 big cruisers for each country. Mr. Stimson now agrees to 18 for America, and 15 for Great Britain, but with options allowing Great Britain to go up to 18 and America to reduce to 15.

MacDonald Big Victor.

What with the battleship reduction to lower than provided by the Washington treaty and the concession by America to the British admiralty of their limitation scheme, the object of which was to preserve British sea supremacy, Mr. MacDonald is safe from a Tory attack and finds himself impregnable in his political position.

When the British say they were flabbergasted that Mr. Stimson threw away the winning hand before the game started they mean that they had expected America to hold out against battleship reduction until Britain was willing not only to accede to Mr. Hoover's original demand for an equal reduction of cruiser tonnage, but to allow America at least 21 big cruisers as compared with Great Britain's 15.

MacDonald Refuses to Budge.

Mr. Stimson started in by demanding 21 big cruisers for America to Great Britain's 15 and a material reduction of aggregate cruiser tonnage from 339,000 tons Great Britain was demanding, although the British only have 327,000 tons of cruisers in service now.

Mr. MacDonald refused to budge. He prepared for further and protracted haggling, if not a deadlock. Then, to Mr. MacDonald's amazement, but to his intense satisfaction, Mr. Stimson capitulated.

But in all fairness Secretary Stimson is not entirely to blame. It was approved by all other members of the American delegation, including Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, who was brought to be proof against British wiles.

It was directed by President Hoover and approved, before the delegation left Washington, the cruiser allocation scheme.

WETS AND DRYS GIRD LOINS FOR HOUSE HEARINGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—With the Wickersham dry unit transfer bill passed by the house and temporarily out of the way, congressional wets and drys this week will turn their attention to the next phase of the prohibition battle—public hearings before the house judiciary committee.

Starting Wednesday morning the committee will open what is expected to be the most thorough-going airing yet given to the prohibition question by a congressional committee. Chairman George S. Graham [Rep., Pa.], a wet, has indicated that no restrictions will be put upon the testimony and that all comers, on both sides of the controversy, will have their say. The hearings are expected to last several days.

Officials of the anti-prohibition organizations are expected to be among the first witnesses and these, according to plans of the house wet bloc, will be followed by formerly dry manufacturers, lawyers, clergymen and others who now believe prohibition a failure.

Boston Group Ready.

Conrad Crooker, counsel for wet organizations in Boston, is listed as one of the first who will appear before the committee. Replying to a telegram from Crooker, Representative Graham yesterday informed him that the committee had no power to subpœna witnesses, but that it would be glad to give a hearing to the delegation which he plans to bring from Boston. The Crooker group will arrive in Washington Wednesday.

Although the house judiciary committee probably will produce most of the fireworks this week, prohibition developments also are expected elsewhere. The senate judiciary committee is expected to take up the transfer bill, which will be formally sent to it from the house tomorrow.

Two more of the Wickersham program bills are moving along in the house. The Christopherson bill, to eliminate jury trials in minor liquor cases, is being considered by a subcommittee of the judiciary committee, and the Beedy bill, to tighten up provisions of the padlock injunction law, is expected to go to another subcommittee in a day or two. The author, Representative C. L. Beedy [Rep., Me.] has secured an hour to address the house next Saturday and Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.] has fifteen minutes to answer.

Wet Bills Coming Up.

Six or seven wet measures which will be the subjects of the public hearings are pending before the house judiciary committee. These include repeal, modifications, and referendum proposals.

One of the outstanding resolutions, which, because of the support it has received from influential anti-prohibition leaders, is expected to receive particular attention in the hearings, is that of Representative Adolph J. Sabath [Dem., Ill.], incorporating the government liquor control plan sponsored by the Federal Dispensary Tax Reduction league.

This plan, which its sponsors say is the most constructive of all wet proposals, would give the United States a liquor regulation system similar to those of Canada and Sweden.

Dr. F. W. Buck of Washington, national executive secretary of the league, boasts that the federal dispensary plan is the only one which previously has had a hearing before a congressional committee.

Woman Burns to Death; Hero Saves 3 in Fire

An elderly woman perished last evening and an aged couple was saved from death through the courage of their son-in-law when fire of undetermined origin swept a three story frame dwelling at 4344 South Honore street.

Felix Mizerka saw smoke curling up from the threshold of his third floor apartment and, upon opening the door, found the hallway ablaze. He drenched a quilt, wrapped in its folds his seven month old son, Robert, and placed the infant in the arms of his wife, Patricia.

Heeds Cries for Help.

As Mrs. Mizerka ran safely through the smoke with her son, her husband telephoned the fire department. He was following his wife to the safety of the street when cries halted him on the second landing.

His father-in-law, Jacob Koruba, 75 years old, Koruba's wife, Sophie, 72, and a visitor, John Kisteski, 55 years old, were trapped in the Koruba apartment. The guest had twisted off the door key in his haste to unlock the hallway door and flee.

Mizerka drove his shoulder thrice against the door as the cries within the apartment grew fainter. At his fourth rush the hinges gave way and the door fell. The husband staggered out and helped to lift his half conscious wife to Mizerka's shoulder. All reached the street safely.

Body of Woman Found.

Flames were shooting through the roof when engine 39 arrived. Michael Lubera, 50 years old, who was standing in the street with his face and hands scorched black, implored the firemen to save his landlady, Mrs. Veronica Pajkosz, 53, who, he said, was lying unconscious on the kitchen floor in her first floor apartment when the heat drove him out.

Lieuts. Lawrence Lynch and Martin Lee of engine 39 splintered the kitchen door with axes, entered into the blazing room, and brought out Mrs. Pajkosz's body. She had been suffocated.

Blaze in Loop Building.

A 3-11 fire, which inflicted between $10,000 and $15,000 damage in the Kranz building, 130 North State street, snarled traffic in State, Washington, and Randolph streets for half an hour yesterday. The blaze started in the offices of the T. C. Schaffner Clothing company on the third floor and for a time threatened to jump to the roof of the adjoining Roosevelt theater, which was empty at that hour. Stocks of the Kranz Candy company, which has occupied the ground floor for forty years, were damaged by water.

2 Die, 15 Hurt When Floor of Old Mosque Gives Way

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Two women were killed and fifteen seriously injured at Magnesia by the collapse of the floor of an old mosque during services yesterday.

"GOOD WILL" COURT STARTED BY HOLMES' CHURCH IN NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The Community church, of which John Haynes Holmes is the pastor, today announced it had established a "good will court" to settle differences of all who appear before it.

The "court" will have no legal standing, but will aim to adjust disputes between individuals so that recourse to the civil courts will not be necessary. There will be no fees and all the "judges" will give voluntary service. The court will meet once a week.

"The court is now organized," Joseph E. McAfee, director of community service at the church, said, "so that a different group of judges serves each week in the month, selected because of special fitness to consider the types of disagreement to be brought before them.

"The court is thus able to deal with four types of cases, which may be roughly classified as employment disagreement, strained social relations, general financial and business differences, and mental conflicts."

Mother Forgets to Light Gas; Baby Is Asphyxiated

Because her 12 day old baby, Frank, was fretting yesterday, Mrs. Frank Wirag, 2146 Fletcher street, prepared to bathe him, placing a kettle of water on the kitchen stove to heat. A few minutes later the baby ceased to cry in his crib and Mrs. Wirag, her husband, and a son, William, 3 years old, became drowsy as the odor of gas filled the flat. Mrs. Wirag investigated and found that she had failed to light the stove after turning on the gas, and that the baby had been asphyxiated.

Rioters Burn Racing Plant, Fight Cavalry

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Because ten out of fifteen nags got off to a false start in a minor race, things began to happen at the Vincennes race course just outside Paris this afternoon. A crowd of 100,000 began rioting and when things ceased to happen two hours later the race course resembled a battle field.

The stands were a mass of débris and broken glass, the betting booths and fences were nothing but ashes, and several hundred persons, including a couple of hundred cops and half as many beplumed officers of the Republican guard, were nursing broken heads.

Suspect Crooked Work.

Suspecting that certain irregularities had been going on during the current season, which was to wind up here today, the crowd became infuriated. Ten thousand surged from the inclosure, tore down the fence guarding the track, and started to rush toward the stand occupied by the racing officials. The officials, frightened, directed the mounted Republican guard to disperse the uncouth mob.

The cavalry charged, but the crowd, using sticks, stones, horseshoes, and finally a liberal barrage of sand, turned back the mounted troops. Then the mob soon stormed the stands and press coop, causing several hundred people to flee for safety.

Set Fire to Mutuels.

After demolishing the wooden fixtures and breaking all the windows the mob went to work systematically to destroy the place. They started burning things. There were a lot of betting booths on the other side of the track, and nearby there were a few braziers around which earlier in the afternoon the populace had been warming themselves. So, driving the betting clerks out, they dumped the braziers into the betting booths, added some gasoline, and soon there were roaring fires in a dozen different places.

Despite the excitement somebody thought of calling the firemen and several companies from Paris, Joinville, and nearby parts hurried to the scene.

Release Arrested Rioters.

In the meantime a riot call had been sounded and additional gendarmes arrived in police trucks and succeeded in arresting a couple of hundred of the rioters, but all were released late tonight.

After watching their park being destroyed, the officials annulled the race because of a false start and—a thing unheard of in French racing—announced that everybody would get his entrance money back. This seemed to have a magic effect and every one apparently went home happy.

The owners estimated the damage done as being between $20,000 and $30,000. But they also lost gate receipts aggregating well over $75,000.

LIST 22 GUNMEN WHO FACE FINES AND YEAR IN JAIL

Indictments by the grand jury, rather than trial in the municipal courts, will be asked today by Acting Chief of Detectives Egan for the men arrested in the drive against gunmen. State's Attorney Swanson agreed to proceed against gun toters in the criminal courts where more direct action may be had.

Every man arrested during the night and found to be armed will find an indictment waiting for him, Egan promised, and the grand jury will be asked to fix bonds as high as $5,000 for each offender. Even though there are other charges against the gun toter, such as robbery, attempted robbery, burglary, attempt to kill, or even murder, Egan said he will ask a separate indictment on the gun charge.

"Police Will Not Quit."

"It will cost these gun carriers more for trial in the criminal court and the possibility of the maximum penalty there will be greater," Egan explained. "We shall put them in the penitentiary or in the poorhouse. If other witnesses fail to go the limit on prosecution for robberies, the police who disarmed the criminals will not quit. And a gun indictment may be prosecuted even if there is any disposition on the part of any one to give probation to the gun rubber."

Police officials went to the statute books last night in furtherance of their campaign to drive the gun toter out of Chicago. Chapter 38, section 155, of the Illinois statutes, as revised by Smith-Hurd, says:

> No persons shall carry concealed on or about his person a pistol, revolver, or other firearm.
> The penalty clause of this statute is as follows:
> Whoever shall violate any of the provisions of . . . this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $300 or imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment.

22 Already on Egan's List.

Those included in the prospective indictment list prepared by Acting Chief Egan are the following:

Carl Hansen, 5038 Kenmore avenue; shot and taken prisoner by Policeman Herman Meyers.

James Riley, 1200 Lycest street, Detroit, Mich.; also shot and taken prisoner by Meyers when he and Hansen tried to rob the policeman.

Abraham Rudsky, 40 years old, 1900 Dayton street; caught after a robbery and after firing at a shopkeeper.

Edward Kirby, 30 years old, 5247 Lexington street; caught in the act of robbery.

Martin Logue, 29 years old, 111 South Francisco avenue; captured with Kirby. Both Logue and Kirby had guns.

John Cravello, 18 years old, 6152 West Grand avenue; caught in an automobile with one gun, two imitation pistols, and two companions.

John Rinos, 19 years old, 2311 Moody avenue; taken with Cravello and Hagobian.

Tony Petraitis, 17 years old, 4112 South Artesian avenue; caught armed after a series of taxicab robberies.

John Hubert, 18 years old, 3024 West 40th street; caught with Petraitis.

Joseph Hordek, 21 years old, 4134 South Campbell avenue; captured with Petraitis and Hubert.

Frank Mazerka, 19 years old, 4109 South Campbell avenue; taken with Petraitis, Hubert, and Hordek. All four confessed to robberies.

John Cosiln, 31 years old, 829 Bowen avenue; captured on the street with a gun in his pocket.

Woodward Clardy, 25 years old, 49 West 95th street; captured on street with gun in pocket.

Nick Rosko, 24 West Huron street; seized on street with pistol in his possession.

George Mootz, 21 years old, 1834 Cleveland avenue; arrested with John David, 1511 Edgewater avenue, who was unarmed.

Coleridge Mason, colored, 18 years old, 6029 Calumet avenue; identified as holdup man at whom five shots were fired.

William Williams, colored, 35 years old, no address; arrested on street and found to be carrying gun.

Joseph Maciong, 2112 North Central Park avenue; arrested on street with pistol in his possession.

Albert Carter, 242 East 36th street; captured on street with a gun in his possession.

Gene Hall, 509 South Dearborn street; arrested with a gun.

Jacob Romonaiff, 7307 Langley avenue; arrested and found to be carrying an imitation pistol.

Acting Chief Egan's expectations were that there would be many more names added to the list by this morning.

Parachute Jumper Falls 3,000 Feet to His Death

Roanoke, Va., Feb. 9.—(AP)—After announcing to a crowd of 3,000 people that he intended to take a long drop before pulling the rip cord, Raymond Ross, 25, professional parachute jumper, fell 3,000 feet to his death at an airport here this afternoon.

917 ARE SEIZED IN CRIME RAIDS; RECORDS ON 271

Grand Jury Action to Be Demanded.

Crimes were scarce and criminals scarcer last night. Police Commissioner Russell had put 917 persons in cells and the freedom of the streets was allowed only to the honest citizenry. The prisoners included gunmen, robbers, burglars, pickpockets, thugs, and racketeering hoodlums. Of the 917 arrested 271 had criminal records.

The drive under the direction of Acting Chief of Detectives Egan, begun on Saturday night, was particularly intended against gun terrorists whom State's Attorney Swanson has promised to prosecute relentlessly. But into the detective bureau during the day came pouring those who may rightly be termed suspects at any time, the disreputable class whose stay in Chicago is to be shortened.

Hoodlums Take to Hideouts.

Last night the "raid for guns" policy which had been put into effect with such excellent results the night before, was attempted again, but arrests were few, as the unwelcome class had fled as from a pestilence.

At the detective bureau late last night only eight minor crimes had been reported. One man was arrested with a gun on the west side. The north side, thoroughly combed, according to reports, yielded about 22 suspects. The south side reported few disturbances and 23 arrests.

Raids Bring Quiet Night.

There were none of the spectacular shootings such as had disturbed the early hours of yesterday. No criminals were caught in the act, as they had been at the beginning of the drive. There were no shootings, as there had been on Saturday night when the police exchanged bullet for bullet with criminals.

"It's a quiet night; we have broken the criminal back," said Egan at midnight when not a gunshot had been heard. "They're on the run. Most of them were from out of town, anyway, and they've gone to wherever they believe they will get a better reception."

Although the police force has not had a pay day since before Christmas, every man was eager to do more than his part, according to district and downtown commanders. They were working extra hours and with days off canceled, and those working all night were ready for a long day in court today.

Russell Starts Drive on Guns.

The series of shootings of the last ten days had brought the crime problem to an acute stage and the Association of Commerce through a secret committee was getting ready for action when Commissioner Russell started his campaign. The business men had called upon State's Attorney Swanson to fulfill the expectations of the public who had elected him as a protest against former crime conditions.

Russell and Egan answered the call upon them by massing their forces for a week-end cleanup that exceeded their hopes. They planned to keep the courts and prosecutors busy filling the prisons while the police kept up such an offensive against the criminal element that Chicago might soon come to be known as a gunless city.

"These drives are to continue without letup," Commissioner Russell said. "I am sick of having a lot of cheap gun carriers think they can rule a great city like Chicago. The police will not relax and the department is going to kill these hoodlums, put them in prison, or drive them out of the city. Most of them don't belong here.

Russell Praises His Men.

"The arrests of last night show that Chicago policemen place their lives second to the performance of duty. The reports of this drive show that one policeman shot down two gunmen who tried to rob him, another policeman was wounded battling four gunmen, and others made arrests of desperate characters actually engaged in robbing citizens or shooting at the police immediately after robberies."

"It is up to you men to allay the fears of the public," Egan told his 900 subordinates. "The way to do it is clear the streets, poolrooms, and crooks' nests of every wrong guy you see."

Lieut. John L. Sullivan was given charge of the showup, in which nine prisoners at a time were paraded and made to talk before a room in which 500 citizens were watching to identify men they had seen engaged in crimes. Included in the showup were four youths captured when they tried to hold up the fashionable Orrington hotel in Evanston.

They are Oliver Dilworth, 21 years old, 1954 Birchwood avenue; Roscoe Kilpatrick, 18 years old, 6408 North Clark street, recently graduated from the Angel Guardian orphan home; George Sturgen, 21 years old, a jockey employed by O. W. Leland; and Arthur Miller, 19 years old, 7136 Hilldale avenue.

The four were surprised by the Evanston police while they had their guns pointed at hotel officials. They tried to kill the policemen and were captured only after a fierce battle, in which scores of shots were fired. Later the youths claimed this was their first attempt at robbery.

Lieut. Phil Carroll and his squad made numerous arrests while seeking the four Negroes who killed Anthony Kilberg, 21 years old, 1419 North Central avenue, and Herbert Gers, 1626 North Mango avenue, during an altercation that began when both parties were driving into the city from Elmwood Park.

Policeman Shot in Gun Fight.

Detective Frank Vitek was wounded in the right thumb, which later had to be amputated, when he sought to question four men he saw in an automobile in an alley near Ogden avenue and Kirkland avenue. Vitek's squad car stopped in the street and Vitek went into the alley to investigate. When he was within a few feet of the car the men in it started shooting at him.

Vitek returned the fire and the car was put in motion. His squadmates, Edward Foster, John Meehan, and Marshall Pidgeon, ran to his aid. They all fired at the other car and then gave chase in their own car, but did not catch it. They said later they believed the gunners to be the ones who, earlier in the evening, held up Daniel Parrillo, 4213 Washington boulevard, an investigator for the state's attorney's office, and took his automobile.

Seize Robber After Battle.

A detective squad headed by Sergt. Lawrence Cooney captured Abraham Rudsky, 40 years old, 1900 Dayton street, after he robbed Michael Caluris, owner of a butcher shop at 6203 Montrose avenue, of $50. As soon as he had the chance Caluris armed himself and ran after Rudsky, firing at him and being fired upon in return. Sergt. Cooney and his men heard the shots and took Rudsky into custody after a struggle. The prisoner has a record as a robber in Philadelphia.

In the Albany Park district Policeman Henry Strengal seized two armed men in the act of robbing Isadore Feingold, 3517 Cottage Grove avenue, a cab driver, at Wilson and Kedzie avenue. The robbers gave the names of Edward Kirby, 30 years old, 5247 Lexington street, and Martin Logue, 29 years old, 111 South Francisco avenue.

In the Cragin district three young men were found in an automobile which had an automatic pistol in the pocket of the door and two of the youths had imitation pistols in their pockets. The prisoners are John Cravello, 18 years old, 6152 West Grand avenue; Jack Hagobian, 18, of 2302 Mead street, and John Rinoa, 19, of 2311 Moody avenue. They endeavored to escape, but their car was overhauled by the detective bureau car.

Seize Four Taxi Bandits.

Sergt. Anthony Bleschke and his squad came upon four youthful robbers of taxicab drivers in the Brighton Park district. The four, all of whom had revolvers, are Tony Petraitis, 17 years old, 4112 South Artesian avenue; John Hubert, 18, of 3024 West 40th street; Joseph Hordek, 21, of 4134 South Campbell avenue, and Frank Mazerka, 19, of 4109 South Campbell avenue. They confessed to numerous robberies.

Among the other known hoodlums paraded at the showup were Louis Clemente, a booze runner said to be affiliated with the Capone gang; Irving Sandler, son of Ike Sandler, known as "the bomber"; Ben Sorg, who has a long record; and Sammy Jacobson, who was introduced by Lieut. Sullivan as "better known as Sammy the Greener, thief, burglar, hoodlum, gunman and generally no good."

Coleridge Mason, 6029 Calumet avenue, 18 years old, colored, told Lieut. Sullivan that he had committed "two and a half robberies." When asked what he meant by the half he said that was an attempt to rob an elevated station ticket agent who fired five shots at him.

"I'm the man who fired at him," announced George W. Wells, 6017 Normal avenue.

"Too bad you're not a better shot," Sullivan commented. "Come down and use our target range any time."

Fred Flynn, colored, 39 years old, 1021 South Lincoln street, was shot in the back last night by two policemen who saw him break a glass show window in the dry goods store of Samuel Stein at 1947 Taylor street. Flynn was gathering up garments when Policemen John Krakacek and John Krbec of the Marquette station ordered him to surrender. He dropped his loot and fled, but fell in an alley with a bullet in his back. He was taken to the Bridewell hospital.

Slaying of 2 Youths in Auto Is Tragedy of Bootleg Gin

"It's prohibition. Those kids wouldn't drink gin if they didn't think they were being smart in evading the law."

"They were pretty drunk. There are a lot of places in the neighborhood to buy gin."

"Sure he drank. Who doesn't nowadays?"

These statements, made last night by the relatives of five youths whose wild "gin ride" led to the killing of two of them by a gang of Negroes early yesterday, expressed their opinions of the underlying cause of the tragedy.

Hunt in Vain for Clews.

The youths slain were Herbert Gers, 23 years old, 1636 North Mango avenue, and Anthony Kilberg, 20 years old, 1419 North Central avenue. Last night the police had found no clews to their slayers and hopes of capturing them had been practically abandoned, although the search was continued.

"I suppose the police will be blamed for this," said Acting Chief of Detectives John Egan. "But it is one of those things that may happen at any time when a bunch of young fellows mixes gin with gasoline and goes on a wild automobile ride. As long as boys can obtain liquor, as they always can when the liquor traffic is unregulated as it is under prohibition, we may expect such tragedies. These boys, feeling that they were being devilish in violating the law, were stimulated to a belligerent spirit and the Negroes, probably in the same condition, killed in the heat of the moment. There was no organized, premeditated gang killing. There was no chance to prevent it."

The three companions of Gers and Kilberg told a story of a group of youths "out for a good time" when the tragedy occurred. The three survivors of the fatal ride, Ralph Waggelt, Raymond Coughlin, and Stanley Berg, said they set out in Kilberg's coupe, riding about the country and drinking.

All of them were pretty drunk as they were returning home in North avenue, west of the city, and Kilberg speeded up to pass the automobile containing the Negroes, cutting in front of the other car. A race commenced in which the lead alternated several times, the occupants of the two machines throwing taunts at each other as they passed.

As the cars turned south into Mason avenue, the Negroes drew pistols and began firing. In front of 1431 North Mason avenue, Kilberg and Gers, who was riding in the rumble seat, were killed almost instantly. The other three youths were not hurt.

Father is Near Death.

Kilberg's father, who has been seriously ill, was reported near death last night as a result of the news of the tragedy. His son, J. H. Kilberg, joined with the families of the others in blaming prohibition.

It was Stanley Berg's brother, Garfield, who was at the scene of the killing soon after it happened, who said the youths "were pretty drunk." He declared that gin may be purchased in many restaurants in the neighborhood.

Gers' parents, however, claimed that their son never drank but Wilbur Gers, 17 years old, his brother, knew better, and he summed up the story of the tragedy thus:

"Sure, he drank. Who doesn't nowadays?"

CAPTURE 5 BOYS AS ROBBERS OF NO. SHORE HOME

Five youths will be arraigned before Justice Harold Tallett of North Chicago today charged with the burglary a week ago of the home of Hampden Winston, wealthy Chicago broker, on the Shore Acres golf course near Lake Forest. Property valued at more than $5,000 was recovered following the arrest of the five boys yesterday by Police Chief Frank Tiffany of North Chicago.

Fifteen year old Edward Wanka, 1917 Greenfield avenue, North Chicago, leader of gang, is on probation for seventeen burglaries committed on the north shore last summer. When arrested he confessed the burglary at the Winston home, named his confederates, and after aiding in the recovery of the property, asked Chief Tiffany to send him to the penitentiary.

Wanka's companions, all residing in North Chicago, are Jasper Halas, 15 years old, of 146 Argonne drive; Andrew Gesky, 15, of 101 Broadway; Milton Sladek, 15, and his brother, Charles, 17, both of 1923 Commonwealth avenue.

The Winston family is in Phoenix, Ariz., for the winter. The burglary was discovered by William Schimer, manager of the Shore Acres club, when he noticed a window of the home broken and a rear door open.

DIES IN JOY RIDE CRASH; FRIEND OF HIS WIFE HURT

Auto Hits Safety Island on Outer Drive.

John W. Revel, 45 years old, 6869 Crandon avenue, agent for a chemical manufacturer, was killed instantly about daylight yesterday when he drove his automobile into a safety island at 33d street and the outer drive.

His companion, Mrs. Florence Walraven, 38 years old, 2231 East 67th street, is recovering in St. Luke's hospital from injuries received in the crash. She suffered a fractured arm, fractured nose, and lacerations of the face, arms and legs.

Police Lieut. William Cusack and his squad found the wreckage.

Widow Tells of Crash.

"We were at the Green Mill Gardens," Mrs. Walraven told police. She is the mother of two daughters, Marion, 19 years old, and Jane, 16. Her husband, Earle C. Walraven, official of a soap company, is in Florida, the girls said.

"Who was he out with?" Mrs. Revel asked when the police informed her of the accident and told her a half emptied flask had been found in the wreckage. Her sister, Mrs. John W. Powers, 3750 Sheridan road, told her it was Mrs. Walraven who had been injured. The widow was aghast because, it appeared, Mrs. Walraven had been her close friend.

Revel's death and three others increased the Cook county motor toll of 1930 to 79. The other victims:

Dennis Closs, 50 years old, 3425 North Newcastle avenue, fatally injured by a cab at 14th and State streets.

Joseph Videk, 31 years old, 3544 West 58th place, who died in Holy Cross hospital of injuries suffered when his truck skidded into a ditch at 76th street and Columbia road.

Mrs. Hannah Wilson, 49 years old 3639 North Francisco avenue. Fatally injured when she was hurled through the windshield of the car driven by her husband, Charles E. Wilson, as it collided with another machine at Irving Park boulevard and Western avenue. Wilson was slightly hurt.

GIRL SENDS LOOT BACK TO OWNERS IN LAKE FOREST

A hired messenger brought to the Lake Forest police station last night a small diamond ring which Miss Mary McCarty, 18 years old, stole last Wednesday from a maid in the Lake Forest home of Harlan B. Eldred, and a frock which Miss McCarty claimed at the Eldred home after purchasing it on Mrs. Eldred's account at a loop department store. Miss McCarty confessed the theft to Police Chief Tiffany Saturday night and telephoned her aunt, Mrs. Mary McCarty, 2340 Calumet avenue, to send the dress and ring for Lake Forest police. The girl is held under $10,000 bond, charged with larceny and operating a confidence game.

BANDIT SHOT BY POLICEMAN IS EXPECTED TO DIE

One of two Detroit bandits who picked a Chicago policeman as their first victim here and were shot for their pains was in a critical condition at Bridewell hospital last night. This gangster, James Riley, 23 years old, was shot five times by Policeman Herman Meyers of the traffic division, who at the time was off duty and in civilian clothes.

Thomas Sawyer, alias Carl Hanson, 24, the other wounded bandit, was at Edgewater hospital suffering from a bullet wound through the neck. Two girls, Ruby Knutson, 18, 4850 North Leavitt street, and Anna Jurgens, 19, 4870 Sheridan road, who admit they have been attending cafés nightly with the bandits, were questioned and released.

CALDWELL TEL HIS SCHEME DISCARD STRA

Reveals Source of Go of New Committee

There were no developments i[n] Chicago's financial situation yes[terday] which indicated that the tax spe[nding] bodies were nearer to obtaining [funds] with which to pay more than [$]employes.

Indeed, what financial news [there] was tended to let the air out [of the] balloon of hope sent up on Sat[urday] in New York and Chicago fin[ancial] circles to the effect that a new [com]mittee, supposedly more friend[ly to] the tax spending officials, was so[on to] be constituted.

This body, which, according to [re]ports, was to supplant the Straw[n] committee and bring about [the] solution of the money ills, was rev[ealed] in New York as the same comm[ittee] suggested by H. Wallace Cald[well] school board president, several [weeks] ago.

Caldwell Tells Hopes.

Mr. Caldwell, interviewed by a [Tribune] representative, said he had [not] yet obtained a buyer for $48,00[0,000] worth of school board tax warra[nts] the mission on which he was in [New] York—but he was still hopeful.

"The new committee which is [now] talked about is the same plan t[hat] suggested several weeks ago," he [said]. "I still suggest that, with J[ames] Simpson as chairman of a comm[ittee] having representatives of all [the] spending bodies, but with cit[izens] forming a majority, a solution [can] be quickly reached."

Mr. Caldwell insisted that Mr. S[trawn] might still be chairman of [the] committee, although Mr. Sim[pson] never replied to his invitation. H. Strawn, head of the citizens' [com]mittee, was quoted in New York Saturday as saying that Mr. S[trawn] had refused to serve on suc[h] committee.

The school board president [was] asked if the proposed committee w[ould] supersede the Strawn committee.

"I don't like the word supersede," he replied. "I do not know what it would affect the life of the Str[awn] committee or whether both committees would go about their work in t[heir] own way. My objection to Mr. Str[awn] as leader of the committee is tha[t] I do not believe he retains the co[n]fidence of both the public and the p[ublic] officials."

Animus Against Strawn.

Mr. Caldwell was reminded that [the] Strawn committee has stood firmly [for] curbing waste, prevention of a re[duc]tion of present conditions, and [not] permitting those who put up money [to] say how it shall be spent. "Are th[ese] the same policies to be adopted [by] the new committee?" he was asked. "They certainly are," said Mr. C[aldwell]. "Every one of them."

Mr. Caldwell was next asked why the new committee would have a[n] identical with that of the pre[vious] Strawn committee, there should be [a] substitution of committees. His re[ply] indicated that the sharp criticism [of] himself and Mayor Thompson by [Mr.] Strawn had made Mr. Strawn obn[oxious] personally to the mayor and h[is] aides. He intimated, however, that [he] does not expect to be successful in [the] New York mission of selling tax w[arrants] unless Mr. Strawn is not got out [of the] way.

County Demands Action.

Harry A. Newby, chairman of [the] county's finance committee, announced an ultimatum yesterday. The county board will wait one more week for [action] from the Strawn committee before [issuing] tax anticipation warrants to [pay] employes in payment of salaries, he said. "County employes haven't been paid since the middle of December," he said. "We have coöperated in every way with the Strawn committee which knows that the county's condition is better than that of any other tax spending body."

George O. Fairweather, assistant business manager of the University of Chicago, also a member of the Strawn committee, emphasized also that [immediate] action is necessary.

"I don't care much what committee acts," he declared. "But some thing must be done. The one obvious fact is that whoever lends the money must be allowed to stipulate how it shall be spent. I'm sure that some definite action will be reached this week."

The Owners' Real Estate board is convinced that the coöperation of [all] real improvement associations has been enlisted to secure 100,000 signatures to a petition to Gov. Emmerson asking for a special session of the legislature to "avert the impending crisis threatened by the present tax [situation]."

CALDWELL TELLS HIS SCHEME TO DISCARD STRAWN

Reveals Source of Gossip of New Committee.

There were no developments in Chicago's financial situation yesterday which indicated that the tax spending bodies were nearer to obtaining cash with which to pay more than 40,000 employes.

Indeed, what financial news there was tended to let the air out of the balloon of hope sent up on Saturday by New York and Chicago financial circles to the effect that a new committee, supposedly more friendly to the tax spending officials, was soon to be constituted.

This body, which, according to whispers, was to supplant the Strawn citizens' committee and bring about a solution of the money ills, was revealed in New York as the same committee suggested by H. Wallace Caldwell, school board president, several weeks ago.

Caldwell Tells Hopes.

Mr. Caldwell, interviewed by a Tribune representative, said he had not yet obtained a buyer for $48,000,000 worth of school board tax warrants—the mission on which he was in New York—but he was still hopeful.

"The new committee which is being talked about is the same plan that I suggested several weeks ago," he said. "I still suggest that, with James Simpson as chairman of a committee having representatives of all tax spending bodies, but with citizens forming a majority, a solution could be quickly reached."

Mr. Caldwell insisted that Mr. Simpson might still be chairman of this committee, although Mr. Simpson never replied to his invitation. Silas H. Strawn, head of the citizens' committee, was quoted in New York on Saturday as saying that Mr. Simpson had refused to serve on such a committee.

The school board president was asked if the proposed committee would supersede the Strawn committee:

"I don't like the word supersede," he replied. "I do not know whether it would affect the life of the Strawn committee or whether both committees could go about their work in their own way. My objection to Mr. Strawn as leader of the committee is that I do not believe he retains the confidence of both the public and the public officials."

Animus Against Strawn.

Mr. Caldwell was reminded that the Strawn committee has stood firmly for ending waste, prevention of a recurrence of present conditions, and for permitting those who put up money to know how it shall be spent. "Are those the same policies to be adopted by the new committee?" he was asked.

"They certainly are," said Mr. Caldwell. "Every one of them."

Mr. Caldwell was next asked why, if the new committee would have aims identical with that of the present Strawn committee, there should be any reorganization of committees. His reply indicated that the sharp criticism of himself and Mayor Thompson by Mr. Strawn had made Mr. Strawn obnoxious personally to the mayor and himself. He intimated, however, that he did not expect to be successful in his New York mission of selling tax warrants if Mr. Strawn is not got out the way.

County Demands Action.

Harry A. Newby, chairman of the county's finance committee, announced an ultimatum yesterday. The county board will wait one more week for aid from the Strawn committee before issuing tax anticipation warrants to employes in payment of salaries, he said. "County employés haven't been paid since the middle of December," he said. "We have coöperated in every way with the Strawn committee, which knows that the county's situation is better than that of any other tax spending body."

"I don't care much what committee acts," he declared. "But something must be done. The one obvious thing is that whoever lends the money must be allowed to stipulate how it shall be spent. I'm sure that some definite action will be reached this week."

The Owners' Real Estate board announced that the coöperation of 371 local improvement associations had been enlisted to secure 100,000 signatures to a petition to Gov. Emmerson asking for a special session of the legislature to "avert the impending crisis threatened by the present tax laws."

PIT MERE VOICE AGAINST ROAR OF STREETS TODAY

Noise Survey Enters Final Stage.

Mechanical instruments having been used as far as possible in the survey of Chicago's din and roar—which health department and medical experts started several months ago—two human observers now are to complete the study. This was announced yesterday by Dr. G. A. Koehler, acting commissioner of health.

Delicate instruments have been hauled about the city to register and chart the intensity of the clamor and din in the loop and in the vicinity of hospitals. The spots at which the noises were charted were chosen with the view to obtaining the effect of noise upon the healthy as well as on the sick.

Start Voice Tests Today.

Beginning today two men will walk the streets and converse in normal voice and note the locations where they are unable to hear each other. Before they finish their task they will start climbing fire escapes, still talking normally, to find to what distance the din overshadows normal speech.

In a laboratory experiment with animals, Dr. J. Holinger, a Chicago ear specialist, found that the "detrimental influence of loud noises on the general health of the animals was so great that they simply perished." He submitted his findings in a report on the "Menace to Health and Hearing" of noises.

Noises are responsible to a great degree for the fatigue of city workers, according to Dr. Holinger. Most of these noises, particularly street noises, can be reduced or avoided, Dr. Holinger has found. The persistence of minor noises, he declares, has an effect as bad as that of loud noises.

Some of the evils of noise as described by Dr. Koehler are as follows:

High blood pressure; many cases of nervous exhaustion; rapidly increasing deafness; reduction of energy of office workers and of factory workers; a blending of sounds into a continuous roar that bombards the senses of those who are forced to remain or work in the din.

May Need New Laws.

Many complaints have been registered in the health department about the noise of radios in apartments and outside of stores. New laws may be necessary to overcome the nuisance, according to Dr. Koehler, but in the meantime the department will concentrate on enforcing the ordinances prohibiting sirens and the hawking of wares and the one covering general nuisances. Recommendations will be made in a report to the advisory committee of the Chicago Medical society by the health department. The society is coöperating in the campaign to abate the city's roar.

Dr. Koehler said the report on the survey will be made soon. He added that special attention will be given to the problem of abating the pounding sound waves which wear upon the nerves of metropolitan residents.

Russia Decrees 11 More Meatless Days a Month

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Feb. 9.—The latest decree of the council of national commissars being broadcast by the Moscow radio announces eleven more meatless days a month for Russian cities and prohibits the sale of meat products in private shops. Only trade unionists and members of coöperatives will be permitted to purchase meat, the declassed element of the population must be vegetarians. Meat cards will be issued similar to the bread cards introduced 18 months ago.

MEXICAN ARMY CHIEFS RENEW FEALTY TO RUBIO

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Mexican military commanders throughout the country today sent messages to President Rubio denouncing the attempt on his life last Wednesday and assuring him of their loyal support.

The president is reported to be steadily recovering from the wounds in his cheek and jaw.

Official silence still cloaks the investigation into the shooting. The authorities are studying the possibility it might have been a communist plot, but this is only one of their theories.

Hold Up Doctor, Family; Get Pistol and 97 Cents

Two bandits who held up Dr. Charles J. Stanton, his wife, and 4 year old daughter as he was putting his automobile in his garage at 7812 Constance avenue, robbed him of 97 cents last night. As they were searching him they found a revolver, which he had transferred from the pocket of his car to his own pocket as he drove into the garage.

Man Held for Murder Moved to Escape Mob

Eddyville, Ky., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Roy Spirnger, held for the murder of Frank Barrett, Fulton merchant, and wounding of Bailey Huddleston, Fulton chief of police, was rushed here tonight when rumors of mob violence were received at the Princeton jail, where he had been held since Wednesday.

Springer shot Barrett to death and cut Huddleston's throat.

'TALK TURKEY!' RIVALS ON NAVIES SHOUT IN LONDON

Paris, Rome, Tokio Fight Secret Sessions.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The fourth week of the naval conference starts tomorrow with nothing accomplished except the United States' surrender to Great Britain on a major premise—the discussion of battleships before cruisers.

Every other point under discussion since the parley began is deadlocked and France, Italy, and Japan are all standing pat on their original demands. The only progress discernible is the Anglo-American alignment, with Uncle Sam accepting John Bull's dictation in pursuance of the preliminary agreement reached when Prime Minister MacDonald visited President Hoover.

Paris, Rome, Tokio Angry.

Outsiders from Paris, Rome, and Tokio are distinctly dissatisfied with the proceedings and do not mince their words in saying so.

All the so-called "private conversations" which have been going on for three weeks are considered only bunk for the public while the English maneuvered matters to the point where American Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson caved in on battleships and cruisers.

Continental powers are amazed that the conference never got down to "talking turkey," with the heads of the five delegations around a table setting forth their viewpoints, as was done at all previous international conferences.

Private Talks "Just Bunk."

It is pointed out that the individual calls of American delegates on the French and the English on the Italians, and the Japanese on the others, mean nothing, as no one is empowered to speak for another and every accord is contingent on other angles for a general agreement.

"The primary principle of the conference is that every delegation maintains sovereignty over its own actions and decisions, so there is no place for intermediaries or go-betweens to try to make commitments on behalf of another power," said a member of the French delegation.

"In order to ascertain every one's policies and find out just what concessions and sacrifices each is willing to make for a general agreement, it is necessary to have round table conversations, with every one speaking their mind openly and before all the others."

Sub Propaganda Stirs French.

The French are getting fed up on the Anglo-American propaganda against submarines. Their ire is particularly directed again the Yankees. They can understand England's stand because of her vivid recollections of the U-boat blockade of food ships during the great war.

"Surely America is not afraid that France will send submarines across the Atlantic to raid New York or other Atlantic harbors or interfere in the Panama canal," said a French naval expert. "How are the British able to sew up the Americans so tightly that Washington indorses the admiralty's policy hook, line, and sinker?"

The French blame the impasse on lack of sufficient preparation for the conference, and bitterly remark that, because England and America thought they had things cut and dried for themselves, they believed they could drive other nations into whatever agreement they dictated.

"It is absurd that after three weeks we still have failed to even begin to grapple with the problems," they point out.

Mr. Stimson called on Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, for a half hour tonight, urging that nothing beyond the formal expression of his policy regarding submarines be expounded at the Tuesday meeting, and suggesting that Premier Tardieu refrain from presenting France's entire case on the naval subject until a later date.

Italy Backs Submarine Ban.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—After a series of consultations held by Dino Grandi, chief Italian delegate, with his naval advisers over the week-end, it has been decided Italy will declare itself unhesitatingly favorable to the abolition of undersea craft at Tuesday's plenary session. Grandi will plead that the sacrifice performed by weaker, smaller countries by depriving themselves of submarines, a weapon best suited to their defense should be accompanied by some corresponding sacrifice, such as destroyer tonnage, on the part of larger and stronger nations.

Hoover-Navy Differences Split Senate on Sea Parity

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Differences of opinion between President Hoover and adequate navy men in congress over the question of what actually constitutes naval parity with Great Britain loom as the major stumbling block to early senate ratification of any agreement worked out at the London five power conference.

Both the President and big navy men agree in the demand for British-American parity in all categories of fighting ships. A cleavage appears, however, just as soon as administration leaders mention figures, for the Hoover idea of parity with Great Britain apparently differs widely from that held by the adequate navy men, as well as large numbers of high ranking naval officers.

Stimson Proposal Attacked.

That this is true was shown this last week, when Secretary Stimson, chairman of the American naval delegation, published the United States naval reduction proposals. In this statement of American position Mr. Stimson emphasized the need of immediate parity in all classes of fighting ships with Great Britain and suggested cruiser limitation figures, which, he said, would give this country the parity it sought.

No sooner was the Stimson proposal made public than the suggested cruiser agreement with Great Britain was attacked openly by the chairman of the senate and house naval committees as unfair to the United States. Mr. Stimson said that the suggested agreement which limited the United States to eighteen 10,000 ton, 8 inch gun cruisers and a total tonnage of 327,000 tons for all types of cruisers constituted parity with Great Britain, which was to be permitted to build fifteen 8 inch gun ships and the balance of her fleet in smaller craft.

Totals Versus Details.

As evidence that this actually constituted parity, Mr. Stimson pointed out that in case both powers wished to build the same size vessels, the tonnage for each would be just the same. With Great Britain limited to fifteen 8 inch gun cruisers, her total tonnage was to be 339,000, a figure British statesmen have steadfastly refused to reduce.

Critics of the Stimson proposal attacked it on the ground that it did not provide parity, because it set too small a limit on the number of 8 inch gun cruisers which this country could build. It was pointed out that while the small cruisers, combined with many fueling and repair bases, would be of great value to Great Britain, such cruisers would be virtually useless to the United States, a nation with a small merchant marine, few naval bases and long coast lines.

It was argued, that to obtain parity this country should have had the right to built at least twenty-one 8 inch gun Washingon treaty type cruisers.

Among those who have stressed the necessity of big cruisers before congressional committees are Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, a ranking technical adviser at London, former Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur, Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of the naval operations; and the late Admiral E. W. Eberle, former chief of naval operations.

JAPAN ALL SET TO FIGHT SLASH OF SUBMARINES

U. S.-British Proposal Stuns Tokio.

TOKIO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—With the London naval conference preparing to grapple with the submarine question at the plenary session Tuesday, Japanese leaders today believed their delegation faced on that occasion one of the most difficult problems of the parley.

They considered that last week's proposals of the Americans and British showed it was the submarine category wherein Japan's policy differs most widely from that of the Anglo-Saxon powers. The American proposal asking Japan's limit on submarines be fixed at 40,000 tons, against 60,000 each for the United States and Great Britain, was a distinct shock.

Japan Demands 78,000 Tons.

Japan asserted from the outset that her minimum submarine requirements amounted to 78,000 tons, a total which her present program would provide by 1932. The mikado's government hardly expected serious Anglo-American opposition to Japan's program, although it meant virtual three power parity in the submarine category.

Understanding that America wants to cut the proposed Japanese tonnage in half and that Great Britain desires to fix the maximum tonnage for individual submarines at 1,500 tons, which is smaller than all the new units of Nippon's undersea fleet, the Japanese delegates are likely to enter Tuesday's conference session prepared for a stiff contest.

Has 64,657 Tons Now.

The new submarine E-60, just added to the Japanese fleet, has made a successful cruise from Sasebo, near Nagasaki, to Darien, in the Kwan-Tung peninsula. The E-60 is Japan's ninth submarine in the 1,650 ton class, her eighteenth above 1,000 tons, and the twelfth above the 1,500 ton limit Great Britain proposed.

In addition the E-60 gives Japan 64,657 tons of submarines actually commissioned, none more than 11 years old.

BANDITS ROB DELICATESSEN.

NAVAL EXPERTS OF FIVE POWERS ATTEND BANQUET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The heads of the naval departments of the five powers dined with Rear-Admiral James Fleet and Admiral Sir Charles and Lady Madden last night. The banquet was held in the official residence of the first sea lord which is built in an archway leading from Trafalgar square into Pall Mall.

Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Hilary P. Jones, Admiral and Mrs. William V. Pratt, Admiral Baron Abo, Admiral and Lady Takarabe and Admiral Giuseppe Sirianni were some of the guests at the dinner, some of the guests at the dinner.

Nineteen women of various delegations were entertained at a luncheon at Dean's Yard by Lord Chancellor John Sankey and his sister, Miss Sankey. Included were three women members of parliament, Miss E. Wilkinson, Lady Cynthia Moseley and Miss E. Picton Tubervill. Mrs. Stimson, Mrs. Reed, Mme. Pietri, Lady Takarabe, Signor Dino Grandi and Baroness Aciou were also present.

ROB OIL STATION ATTENDANT.

2 KILLED WHEN LOOPING PLANE CRASHES, BURNS

Ship Falls Thousand Feet Soon After Takeoff.

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The pilot of an airplane and his only passenger were killed today when their machine fell 1,000 feet, crashed, and burst into flames after failing to come out of a nose dive which was started at the top of a loop. The accident happened one mile outside of Hollis, L. I., a suburb of New York.

Although the fire completely consumed the plane and destroyed the bodies of the young men, it was established that they were Edwin MacGruder of San Diego, Cal., and William H. Gillette, a resident of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house, New York City.

Flyer Experienced Man.

The crash occurred twenty minutes after the pair took off from Roosevelt field, L. I., for Red Bank, N. J. MacGruder, the pilot, was an experienced test flyer for the Russell Lobe Parachute company. Gillette was one of MacGruder's friends and was new to the air, according to Fred Cole, mechanic at the airport. Cole said he overheard the pilot giving his passenger primary instruction on the use of the parachute and warned him away from the controls just before the takeoff.

The pair took off from Roosevelt field at 12:30 o'clock and it was soon afterward that motorists on Long Island noticed the machine "stunting" overhead. It was cutting a series of loops through the sky, and had reached an altitude of about 1,000 feet when it suddenly went into a sharp dive.

Plane Fails to Right.

Something evidently was the matter with the controls, for the plane failed to "flatten out" in customary fashion. Instead it streaked through the air at great speed and plunged into the center of a thick woods. By the time rescuers had fought their way through the underbrush the flames had demolished the plane and made identification of the men impossible.

The plane was a Waco Straight Wing "220" and was new last year. In it MacGruder had just completed a tour of the country demonstrating parachutes.

College Youth Is Beaten in Room by 5 Masked Men

Greensboro, N. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Charles Killenberger Jr., 17, a sophomore at North Carolina State college, Raleigh, was attacked and severely beaten by five masked men early Saturday morning in his dormitory room at the college. He said he knew of no motive for the attack.

GIVEN LIFE TERM

MRS. RUTH ST. CLAIR.

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—District Attorney Crain in a letter to Gov. Roosevelt took the first official step to save Mrs. Ruth St. Clair, habitual shoplifter, from serving the life term of imprisonment imposed on her last Thursday by Judge Levine in General Sessions. Mrs. St. Clair is the first woman in the state to receive a life term under the Baumes laws as a fourth offender.

In his letter to the governor District Attorney Crain advocated that Mrs. St. Clair be granted clemency after she had served an adequate time for the crime, adding, "It occurs to me that this is a case where the real efficiency of the Baumes laws may be demonstrated, in that the power of commutation is always in the governor."

SPIRIT OF TAFT HELPS HIM GAIN IN LIFE BATTLE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—The indomitable spirit of William Howard Taft kept him alive and gaining strength tonight, nearly a week after physicians virtually despaired of his life.

The former President and chief justice still lay gravely ill at his home here but signs of further improvement were seen in the announcement that he is now permitted to sit up in bed for brief periods and in the decision of Drs. Thomas A. Clayton and Francis R. Hagner to issue only one bulletin daily hereafter on his condition.

After the noon visit today, the physicians reported:

"The chief justice is resting quietly and his condition is unchanged."

PREDICTS A BUSY SPRING IN CITY'S BUILDING TRADES

Craig Outlines Projects Totaling $155,775,000.

Chicago and its suburbs are scheduled for an extensive spring building program which will speed up industry and relieve unemployment among the building trades mechanics, according to E. M. Craig, executive secretary of the Building Construction Employers' Association of Chicago.

Mr. Craig said that a casual survey of Chicago's spring building program shows it to consist of $61,300,000 in contemplated projects; $28,475,000 in construction awarded to contractors; and approximately $66,000,000 in building now being contemplated.

This tabulation, said Mr. Craig, does not include the fairly active home building program and a large schedule of home modernizing, repair, and alteration work in industrial types of building.

Among the large building projects listed are the following:

BUILDING CONTEMPLATED.

Chicago postoffice	$12,000,000
Wesley Memorial hospital	7,500,000

"Construction is the barometer of national prosperity," said Mr. Craig.

"During the rush of the stock market days building was shelved through an artificial economic condition, which was created by a frenzy of the masses of people to live off the fluctuations of the market. The market lure attracted all classes, from the newsboy on the corner to office workers and men and women of medium financial circumstances. Then came the crash. Banking institutions and investment concerns can aid a hasty return of normal times by promoting building."

COMMUNIST UTOPIA IN THE BRONX RUNS AFOUL OF CREDITORS

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The long nourished ideal of a group of optimistic young communists has been blasted by the taking over by creditors of the last unit in a residential and commercial center in the Bronx.

The vision of a communistic Utopia presented itself to the group while they lounged in a Union square restaurant, several years ago. There was to be a great brick building with marble stairs, elevators, and all the luxuries of a modern apartment house. All for the convenience of the leaders of the new thought.

Later there was to be another building which would contain stores and a restaurant and $200,000 in "bonds" were issued to comply with the economic angle.

In due time the two edifices graced the Bronx skyline. The communists lived in the apartment house and purchased their daily necessities in the cooperative stores. The first flaw in the Utopia came in a first mortgage on the apartment, with no funds to meet it. Soon the marble stairs were barred. Then, last Thursday the nine stores and restaurant were closed. A big sale, at which everything went for 25 cent on the dollar was in vain.

But the Utopia is not yet totally eclipsed, for there will be more "bonds," according to a forlorn individual peering into the darkened restaurant window tonight.

COLOMBIA VOTES FOR PRESIDENT; HERRERA IN LEAD

BOGOTA, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Colombia voted for a new president today, but the results of the voting will not be announced officially until Thursday.

Early returns indicated that Señor Olaya Herrera had carried Bogota by about 20,000 votes and led in the cities of Medellin, Cali, and Manizales. He is Colombian minister to Washington and candidate of the Liberal party. Señor Herrera is considered to have excellent chances for victory.

Five persons were hurt in a scuffle with police at the town of Florida. Reports from the country generally, however, indicated that the elections had passed off calmly.

Guillermo Valencia, poet candidate of one branch of the Conservative party, carried Cartagena, Bucaramanga, Popayan, Tunja, and other towns. Gen. Vazquez Cobo is another Conservative candidate.

MOTORMAN FOUND DEAD.

BOOZE KINGS PLAN TORONTO PARLEY ON RUM RUNNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 9.—A midsummer convention of higherups among the bootleggers of the United States is being heralded for Toronto, odd as it may seem. The story was picked up here from two different sources.

A hotel manager mentioned to a traveling salesman here today that he had wind of it. And the commercial salesman replied he had heard the same report in Cleveland and again in Buffalo. He said it was common gossip in railroad train smoking compartments.

The principal topic for the heralded convention is ways and means of getting booze into the United States once Canada closes down on liquor exports. And the reason they are all moving into Canada for their deliberations is that they do not desire American agents to have the opportunity of hanging around and making a "Who's Who" of the conventioneers.

Evanston Chef to Face Wisconsin Girl's Charge

Leonard Buchta, 23 years old, 1414 Chicago avenue, Evanston, a chef, was arrested yesterday for the police of Fond du Lac, Wis., on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Having waived extradition, he was returned to that city. With him went Mary Blattner, 17 years old, who left her parents' home in Fond du Lac two weeks ago, intending to marry Buchta, who was an assistant chef in an Evanston hotel.

7 Hours in Bed and Not 7 Minutes of Sleep!

The Toll Acidity Takes

You go to bed dog-tired, but the minute you hit the pillow all sleepiness vanishes. If you do sleep at all, it's only in snatches and you wake out of these "stupors" with a strange, startled feeling, sometimes in a cold sweat. Morning finds you a rag, gaunt and hollow-eyed and barely able to crawl out of bed.

Acidity is due to our unnatural eating habits, our excessive smoking and irregular hours. The excess acid upsets digestion and causes acid-indigestion with gas and heartburn. It causes putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal, which frequently results in ragged nerves, sleeplessness, logy days and general loss of strength and vitality.

A remarkable new corrective of acidity has been developed by a famous 100 year old pharmaceutical house in Germany. This new, improved magnesia comes in the form of small white tablets called Magnesia Oxoids, which do not have to be chewed, but which may be swallowed whole. Magnesia Oxoids, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active, oxygen! Now, active oxygen, as any doctor will tell you, when generated within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks the putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. It exercises a stimulating effect upon the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the movement of the bowels.

All three effects are necessary to the true relief of acidity, and Magnesia Oxoids supply them in a perfectly natural manner.

5-Day Acidity Test

To ascertain just how "acid" you are, make this 5-day acidity test. Get a bottle of Magnesia Oxoids from Walgreen's Drug Stores and Economical Drug Stores or any other druggist on our money-back guarantee. Take two after each meal for five days. Mark the change in your physical condition—note how more sound and restful your sleep and how more cheerful and active your days. If you don't sleep better and have more "pep" and power, return the balance of the Magnesia Oxoids to the druggist and he will refund your money.

170,000 ALIENS SNEAK IN YEARLY; FEW DEPORTED

Congress Is Asked to Rid U. S. of Undesirables.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Figures showing that the United States is adding 170,000 deportable aliens to its population each year and is doing virtually nothing to get rid of them, have been called to the attention of the house immigration committee.

The deportation statistics, together with an appeal to congress for more money and machinery to apprehend undesirables flocking into this country illegally, were laid before the committee by the California joint immigration committee of San Francisco. The California organization recently completed a study of the deportation question, obtaining its data from government officials in several large cities.

Annual Deportation Below 30,000.

Charging that "the present immigration restriction act has not been enforced, is not being enforced and, without supplemental law and regulation, cannot be enforced," the joint committee's report pointed out the following facts:

1. This country is flooded each year by from 175,000 to 200,000 or more deportable aliens who either enter surreptitiously or, entering as tourists, seamen, or students for a fixed period, remain illegally.

2. The annual deportations do not exceed 30,000 a year.

3. Those deported are confined largely to individuals discharged from state jails, hospitals and asylums, no effort being made, because of insufficient authority and appropriation to apprehend or deport other classes.

"In consequence of these conditions, there are now in this country about 2,000,000 aliens who are here illegally, all of whom came since 1921, when the immigration gates were reopened," the report asserted. "Most of this number are undesirable residents, many unassimilable and not a few vicious and criminal.

"It is true that most of the 2,000,000 are now immune to deportation for illegal entry because of five years' residence, but that very fact furnishes reason why the necessary measures should be adopted at once to prevent such illegal entry in the future and the disastrous results therefrom to our standards and citizenship."

Chicago Agitation Futile.

Despite strong agitation in Chicago and other large centers, for the deportation of alien gunmen, gangsters and others of the criminal type, the California joint committee report declared, "no efforts are made by the immigration bureau to apprehend deportable aliens," the bureau's efforts being limited to aliens discharged by state institutions and forced upon its attention.

The report cited the statement of I. F. Nixon, chief immigration supervisor, that, "Each effort made to round up criminal aliens in Chicago failed for lack of support from the local police department and tipping off of plans."

No blame is laid upon the immigration bureau or the department of labor, of which it is a part, for the conditions.

Responsibility, the report asserts, lies entirely upon congress, which has failed to appropriate funds and enact legislation that will enable the immigration officials to act.

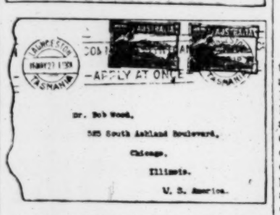
From Launceston, Tasmania



Letter received by Dr. Rob Wood, 525 South Ashland boulevard, Chicago:

Launceston is the second city in population of Tasmania, an insular British colonial state, forming part of the commonwealth of Australia. The island of Tasmania lies just to the southeast of the Australian continent, being separated from the mainland by Bass strait.

Tasmania was discovered Nov. 24, 1642, by Abel Jans Tasman, a Dutch navigator who named it Van Dieman's land in honor of his patron.

Launceston is the chief commercial center for the north of Tasmania and has a population of about 29,000. It is situated at the confluence of the North and South Esk rivers with the Tamar.

KAROLYI URGES UNITED EUROPE IN VISIT TO CITY

Says Fascism Now Rules His Homeland.

Economic and governmental salvation for the old world lies in socialism and a United States of Europe, Count Michael Karolyi, deposed president of Hungary, gave as his opinion on his arrival in Chicago yesterday. He is on his first visit to America and Chicago since 1917, his absence being due principally to action by the department of state, which refused him a visa on the grounds that his ideas constituted danger to American institutions.

Count Karolyi spoke yesterday afternoon to a large group of his countrymen and interested individuals, at the Masonic temple at 32 West Randolph street. His address was for the most part in his native tongue, and devoted to conditions in Hungary, at present under the régime of Admiral Horthy, dictator.

Attacks Present Dictator.

The former president of Hungary, who seized the reins at the fall of the Hapsburgs, expressed disapproval and impatience with the policies and activities of Horthy. Count Karolyi asserted that under the dictatorship, Fascism, allied to that in Italy and receiving material support from it, had taken possession of his country and was causing endless trouble.

"Horthy is quite as absolute a dictator as Mussolini—but with less brains," he declared. "Fascism has captured the imagination of what is referred to in Hungary as 'the awakening Magyars,' and I firmly believe Hungary at the present moment is in a worse position both economically and governmentally than any country in Europe.

Urges European Unity.

"I know Americans are not fond of the idea of socialism, but that is positively the only hope of Europe. It is utterly foolish, these groups of little countries, especially in southeastern Europe, Rumania, Czecho-Slovakia, and the like, each maintaining a separate government and separate army, when their hope for the future lies in sweeping away boundary lines, uniting their governments and working together for their common good.

"I am trying by writing and by speaking to convince American interests the best thing they could do for Hungary would be to stop sending money there to finance the facists. Then they would have to work out things another way and the country would be far better."

Count Karolyi will remain in Chicago until Wednesday. He was a luncheon guest yesterday at Hull house, and will be the speaker at noon today at the City Club forum.

KILLS GIRL, CHOPS UP BODY; EASILY TRACED

Eccentric Slayer Uses Shallow Grave.

Muskegon, Mich., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Forest E. Weaver, 28, an eccentric character who posed at times as a cowboy, a deputy sheriff and a federal officer, admitted today that he murdered Mrs. Gladys Echardt, 20, chopped up her body and buried it in a shallow grave half a mile from his home in Muskegon township.

"I killed her because I loved her," Weaver said in his cell at the county jail. He indicated that he would plead guilty to first degree murder when arraigned tomorrow.

The woman's body was found last night in its shallow, snow-covered grave in a wooded section not far from the hill where Weaver had gone on a skiing expedition with Mrs. Echardt during the afternoon. Weaver was arrested at midnight as he was walking toward his home from Muskegon.

Slayer Easy to Trace.

Officers learned that during his visit to the city after the murder he met Austin Vandorn, brother of the victim, and asked where his sister was.

The body was discovered after a boy who was skiing on the hill reported seeing blood and what appeared to be a grave. Officers went in the darkness and opened the grave. They found the body nude and dismembered. The girl apparently had been shot four times. The arms, head and legs had then been chopped off with an ax and buried with the torso.

Tracing the crime to Weaver was easy. Officers learned that he had returned to his home early in the evening, telling his mother, Mrs. C. O. Weaver, that the girl had returned to her home. Later, he confessed that the visit home was for the purpose of getting an ax. After that Weaver drove his automobile past the victim's home several times and talked to her brother.

Both Formerly Married.

Weaver had been divorced while Mrs. Echardt was separated last spring from Ronald Echardt, whom she married when she was 16. Authorities are trying to locate the husband.

Weaver met Mrs. Echardt in a restaurant a month ago, officers learned, and since had showered his attentions on her daily, posing as a deputy sheriff and federal officer. On Friday he invited her to go skiing yesterday. Her mother, who knew of the expedition, waited up for the girl to return home, and was notified of her death at 2 a. m. today by the officers who found the body.

The slayer often appeared on the street in cowboy costume and at times carried varied sorts of badges, one of which was taken from him recently by Chief of Police Peter Hansen.

HOOVER REACHES FLORIDA TO REST AND FISH A WEEK

Gilchrist Stockton Meets Him at Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 9.—(AP)—President Hoover and his party, en route to Long Key for a fishing trip, spent about 25 minutes here tonight.

A crowd of spectators seeking to gain entry to the train sheds was held back by special officers of the railway and police.

Soon after the train stopped, the President climbed down from his car and took a brief walk for exercise. It was the first time he had left his car since departing from Washington.

Stockton Greets Him.

A delegation of officials was at the station to welcome him. The President also greeted his friend, Gilchrist B. Stockton, whom he has appointed American minister to Austria. While striding along the concrete passenger runway in the sheds he saw Mr. Stockton and called, "Hello, Gilchrist. Come over and join the party."

The two conversed for several minutes as the President continued his constitutional.

Mayor Extends Thanks.

Mayor Alsop thanked Mr. Hoover for his appointment of a Floridian and a Jacksonville citizen as minister to Austria. The President smilingly acknowledged his thanks, declaring that "Gilchrist is a mighty fine boy."

This afternoon as the train was moving through Georgia, Mr. Hoover took a brief period of sleep, something he seldom does in the day.

The presidential party will arrive at Long Key tomorrow morning for a week of rest and deep sea fishing.

THRONG STORMS DEPOT TO GREET JEWISH LEADER

Crowd Fights for Glimpse of Rabbi Schnayerson.

The arrival in Chicago of Rabbi Joseph Itzchock Schnayerson, a noted leader of orthodox Jewry and a descendant of the Chasidic dynasty, known for centuries as the "Chabad," caused great excitement in the La Salle street station yesterday as several thousand orthodox Jews fought to get a glimpse of their leader.

When Rabbi Schnayerson, whose followers in Russia and Poland number more than 3,000,000, appeared on the platform of the train, there was a rush forward. Several persons were trampled upon before policemen arrived to restore order.

The rabbi, a small man with a reddish beard streaked with gray, was plainly bewildered as he was buffeted back and forth by the eager crowd. He wore a round black beaver hat and a formal coat.

As men and women struggled to see him, those nearest him touched his coat with their fingertips, which they then kissed ceremoniously.

Police Clear Way to Station.

The gesticulating, excited crowd continued to surround him until the police cleared a path into the station. There the rabbi spoke a few words from the station steps. Then he was placed in an automobile and a parade was formed. He was escorted to the home of Morris Gillman, 3639 Douglas boulevard, where he will remain for two days until a residence at 3317 Douglas boulevard is prepared for him, it was said.

City officials participated in the welcome to Rabbi Schnayerson. Among them were Judge Michael Feinberg, Judge Joseph Sabath, Judge Harry M. Fisher, and a group of aldermen headed by Jacob M. Arvey.

Early last night a reception was held for Rabbi Schnayerson at the Gillman home. He will remain in Chicago several weeks with the members of his party, which includes his son-in-law, Rabbi Samarius Gourary, two secretaries, and one man who acts as a bodyguard. While here he will attempt to raise funds for the aid of Jews in Russia.

Thinks America Wonderful.

"Rabbi Schnayerson finds America a wonderful country," his son-in-law declared, explaining that the rabbi spoke through him except on rare occasions. "He was astonished to find that here there actually is freedom for the Jew.

"He also finds America religious despite the quick tempo of the life, and is delighted to see that even the younger generation still clings to tradition to a certain extent. 'Not,' he added hastily, 'that the rabbi does not like modern things—he does.'"

Two years ago Rabbi Schnayerson was sentenced to death by the soviet authorities, but such a protest arose throughout Russia that the sentence was deferred. His home now is in Latvia.

Someone certainly expects a Valentine from you

In Italy centuries ago there was a perfect lover whose name, it is most interesting to record, was Valentino ▪ ▪ ▪ History tells that the young man died on a February 14, leaving a letter to his sweetheart which he signed, "From your Valentino."

The spring in Italy comes earlier than elsewhere, and February was the time of the annual festival to celebrate the approach of the new season. How fitting for the Church fathers to canonize the young man, whose virtues were many, and to give the name of St. Valentine's Day to this festival of life and love's renewing.

Generations have decided that there is the one, and perhaps only one, perfect "Valentine,"—candy.

On this day the gift of candy carries a significance that is altogether most appropriate and unique.

▪ ▪ ▪ ▪ At all of DeMet's 8 stores, on shelves and cases, piled to the ceiling, the Valentine boxes are now awaiting those who seek to honor a cherished sentiment.

Mail orders and orders for out-of-town delivery should be sent soon to 312 West Madison Street.

DeMet's Candies

DeMet's red Valentine boxes range in size and price from $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, etc. (for normal hearts) to $8.50 (for hearts overflowing). There are also glacé fruits—a most exceptional gift—$1.00 a pound.

SPANISH LEADER DEMANDS RULE LIKE ENGLAND'S

Ex-Premier to See Exiles on Trip to Paris.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 9.—"There is only one way to save the monarchy in Spain and that is to establish a constitutional government, one modeled after that of England," Count Romanones, former prime minister of Spain and leader of the Liberal party, told interviewers who met him on the Franco-Spanish border tonight.

He is en route to Paris to confer with numberous Spanish exiles who were freed by King Alfonso's general amnesty. He plans particularly to see the former foreign minister, Santiago Alba.

Would Keep Monarch.

Count Romanones, who will probably be asked to form a new government as soon as free elections are held in Spain, denied he is advocating complete abolition of the monarchy in favor of a republic.

"The sentiment of the people has naturally swung very far to the left," he said, "and that is the natural result of the dictatorship, which made a joke out of every kind of liberty. What the people want is a constitutional monarchy, with advanced liberal ideas, and that is what a free election will give them."

Returning Exile Hits Monarchies.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Only a few hours after returning to Spain from nearly six years of exile in France, Miguel de Unamuno, one of the foremost of Spanish intellectuals, today delivered a vigorous broadside against all monarchies, dictatorships and clergies.

Declaring that he was the enemy of any kind of dictatorship, from communist to Fascist, he said he was of the liberal faith that recognized only God, country and law. Then he made a bitter attack against the resigned dictator Primo de Rivera, who passed through Hendaye this morning on his way to San Remo, Italy, for a vacation, while Unamuno himself was eating his last breakfast before quitting French soil.

Mayor Turns Back on Exile.

IRUN, Spain, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Refusal of the mayor of Irun, Spanish frontier town opposite Hendaye, France, to attend a banquet in honor of the return of Miguel de Unamuno, exiled Spanish intellectual, today caused a demonstration by citizens.

Crowds gathered in the streets calling for the resignation of the mayor and remained around the city hall for several hours, demanding the resignation of the entire municipal council.

The police intervened, but there were no serious disorders. For fear of trouble a banquet in Unamuno's honor was canceled and held in Hendaye instead.

New Jersey Business Man Found Dead in Hotel Here

Morton M. Curry, Ridgewood, N. J., was found dead in his room at the Hotel Atlantic, 316 South Clark street, early this morning. Dr. E. J. Stroud, 53 West Wacker drive, who was summoned, declared death was due to an internal hemorrhage. Curry was a representative of the National Manufacturers' Audit and Credit bureau.

U. S. BUREAU REPORT ASKS HIGHER PAY FOR GIRLS IN CHAIN STORES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Higher wages for sales girls in the limited price chain department stores were bluntly proposed in a statement issued today by the women's bureau of the labor department.

The government bulletin stated that 70 per cent of the 6,000 girls in the chain stores surveyed were receiving less than $15 a week; 44 per cent were getting less than $12, and 25 per cent failed to receive "even as much as $10 a week in the last quarter of 1928."

However, the women's bureau is hopeful, and concerning the working hours established by these stores reports that the "weekly schedules, despite the long Saturday, were not excessively long for the majority of the employés, although about one-fourth worked more than fifty-four hours, though none so long as sixty."

The report scored the "theory that young unmarried girls living at home should be paid a low wage because they can live more cheaply." Ninety-two per cent of the five and ten cent store salesgirls were said to live with relatives.

"To the extent that the employed girl is unable to maintain herself entirely," the report said, "she becomes dependent upon her family and thus contributes to any precarious financial condition existing within the family while actually spending her time and energy in work that should afford her a living."

SUSPECT ARSON IN STENCH ATTACK ON APARTMENTS

The Shakespeare police early this morning were seeking the author of a stench attack on a three story apartment building owned by Knox Elkins at 3414 Medill street. Elkins returned home last night and found that a quantity of ill smelling oil had been poured down the stairway of the building, saturating the carpet. The police were investigating a theory that an attempt was being made to set fire to the building when Elkins appeared. They learned that Elkins does not employ a janitor for the building. It was also reported that neighbors had objected to a catering establishment which he conducts in the basement.

U. S. Agents with Axes Put Dance Hall in Uproar

A dance in a hall at 1366 Huron street was thrown into confusion early yesterday when prohibition agents, armed with axes, raided a bar in the rear of the hall. One hundred dancing couples fled from the dance floor screaming when they saw the agents with axes, but the weapons were not used. Peter Job, 45 years old, 822 North Winchester avenue, and Edward Potstek, 40 years old, 736 Temple street, the owners, and Walter Patuszybski, 20 years old, 1221 North Claremont avenue, the cashier, were arrested.

Do You Know the 16 Important Rules of Health?

AIR

1. Ventilate every room you occupy.
2. Wear light, loose and porous clothes.
3. Seek out-of-door occupations and recreations.
4. Sleep out of doors if you can.

FOOD

5. Avoid overeating and overweight.
6. Avoid excess of high protein foods, such as meat, fish foods, eggs; also excess of salt and highly seasoned foods.
7. Eat some hard, some bulky, some raw foods daily.
8. Eat slowly and taste your food.
9. Use sufficient water internally and externally.

POISONS

10. Secure thorough intestinal elimination daily.
11. Stand, sit and walk erect.
12. Do not allow poisons and infection to enter the body.
13. Keep the teeth, gums and tongue clean.

ACTIVITY

14. Work, play, rest and sleep in moderation.
15. Breathe deeply; take deep-breathing exercises several times a day.
16. Keep serene and whole-hearted.

These are the sixteen important rules of health as given in the Life Extension Institute's book, "How To Live." This book contains the consensus of opinion of the foremost scientific authorities on the correct rules of living.

The Life Extension Institute was organized sixteen years ago, in co-operation with a large group of eminent physicians, scientists and professors of medicine, to teach men and women the value of yearly physical examinations and to bring to their attention the latest and most authoritative information on healthful living.

If you are interested in such a health examination, for yourself or any member of your family, send in the coupon below for further information about the Institute's work and for the free booklets, "How to Live Long" and "Hygiene at Middle Life." Your inquiry involves no obligation of any kind.

The Life Extension Institute was the pioneer in establishing and popularizing the periodic health examination. The Institute has established in its Western Headquarters in the Tower Building, 6 North Michigan Boulevard, Chicago, a health examination unit similar to that which it has at its Home Office in New York City, with every scientific facility necessary to the making of these critical and searching examinations.

Since the Institute was organized in 1913 over 700,000 men and women have had the benefit of its examinations and instructions on healthful living, and in this large group many lives have been saved and prolonged and much physical suffering and financial loss averted.

During the past year the Institute examined about 125,000 men and women and referred at least 90,000 of those examined to the clinical profession for some form of needed medical attention, either for serious impairments or for defects that could shorten life or reduce efficiency. At least 70% of this group were not aware that they were in need of any form of scientific attention.

These life extension examinations are available everywhere, as the Institute has medical examiners in all the principal cities and towns of the United States and Canada and in several foreign countries. If you will send in the coupon below the Institute will send you complete information about this subject, together with many interesting free scientific reprints on health and hygiene.

Only registered and ethically accredited physicians, highly trained and experienced in this work, are selected by the Institute to examine its members. The Institute renders no treatment, performs no operations, but makes a scientific survey of your whole life and body to determine the need for medical treatment for correction of defects, or better regulation of the ways of living. Every man and woman should be examined at least once a year, either by their own physician, through the Life Extension Institute, or by any accredited scientific agency where the work can be competently done. Send in the coupon below.

'GET IN OR OUT' DECISION IS UP TO U. S. IN HAITI

Hoover Commission Will Face Challenge.

BY WILLIAM LAWSON.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—"Get in or get out!"

Strange as it may sound, because it has been there for fifteen years, that is the challenge facing Uncle Sam in Haiti today.

That challenge will confront President Hoover's investigating commission 24 hours after it reaches the island, and its answer, it is generally agreed, must be a recommendation for negotiation of a drastically modified treaty extending both the time limit and the scope of the American protectorate over the Negro republic.

Under the present treaty, the helping hand extended to the revolution-torn little country in 1915 would be withdrawn in 1936, but conservative Haitian leaders will assure the commission that Haiti will not be ready for self-government for 30 to 50 years.

Reign of Terror Feared.

Withdrawal now, in 1936, or at any other time in the near future will certainly result, the commission will be told, in a reign of terror, oppression, rebellion and bloodshed far exceeding anything in Haiti's turbulent history.

"Why?" one naturally asks. Because the helm would have to be turned over to the same "elite" group of aristocrats, composed principally of mulattoes, the result of French or German intermarriages with natives, who, as the ruling class for a hundred years, plundered the public treasury and pillaged the countryside until their frightful excesses brought about the intervention of the United States in 1915.

Senators who have never ventured beyond the three mile limit and house members whose knowledge of conditions in Haiti was picked up on sightseeing trips in Port-au-Prince, ascribe the "failure" of the attempt to build a stable native government in 15 years to Brig. Gen. John H. Russell, U. S. M. C., the American high commissioner to Haiti, and his staff of treaty officers.

1915 Treaty Blamed.

The Hoover commission will find that responsibility for the "failure" lies in the 1915 treaty, a colossal blunder in itself because when they undertook to pledge the United States to build a stable government in Haiti its authors assumed the existence of a literate, articulate electorate as the foundation for such a structure.

The result is that for 15 years the United States has been working from the top down, so to speak, because there was no such foundation. There is none now, and it will take at least one generation, and perhaps more, to build one.

More than 95 per cent of the 2,500,000 people in Haiti are absolutely illiterate and, for the most part, poverty stricken "black peasants." Between them and the American occupation, like an insulation, stands the remaining 5 per cent of the population, the educated, cultured "elite" mulatto class who, for all their lip service, hate the Americans and are as cordially despised themselves by the "blacks."

For a hundred years before the United States intervened to end a nuisance and forestall all European intervention the history of Haiti had been a succession of revolutions, butcheries, assassinations, and tyranny.

Of eight out of twenty-eight rulers since the "Emperor" Dessalines only four completed their terms of office. Five were assassinated and the others were either driven out of office or fled the country with whatever loot they could lay their hands on in anticipation of an opposition coup d'état.

When the occupation, in keeping with its obligation to train natives to take over the government, sought material, it found the only natives literate enough to qualify for training were of the élite class and today the various services established by the occupation are manned and officered, outside of the American personnel, largely mulattoes.

U. S. Withdrawal Urged.

Already in indisputed and unhampered possession of the local governments, this élite class is credited with inspiring much of the agitation for early withdrawal of the occupation which would leave it free, as in the old days, to plunder the rest of the population and turn into their own pockets the new streams of national revenue developed by American administrative efficiency.

KILLED BY SLEEPING POTION.

John O'Brien, 65 years old, of the Diversey Arms hotel, 644 Diversey parkway, a tanner, died last night at the Augustana hospital of an overdose of a sleeping potion.

RALPH CAPONE WILL FACE U. S. HEARING TODAY

Ralph Capone, brother of the Philadelphia imprisoned Alphonse, will appear before Federal Judge Wilkerson today for trial on indictments charging him with falsifying the amount of his assets in an attempted income tax compromise. The United States attorney's office, it is understood, will oppose any attempt to delay the hearing.

Attorney George N. Murdoch, Capone's lawyer, filed a request for a continuance last Thursday, stating that he had not been in the case long enough to familiarize himself with all its details.

Indicted last November at the same time as were Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, Ralph Capone is charged with having owed $5,000 income tax on the basis of schedules he filed for 1922, 1923, 1924, and 1925. On Oct. 7, 1927, he offered $1,000 in compromise, claiming that he was insolvent. At that time, the indictment charged, he had $25,000 on deposit in the Pinkert State bank of Cicero under the name of James Carter. In 1927-'28 his combined accounts totaled more than $500,000, according to the government.

Gas Explosion Mistaken for Bomb by Neighbors

Gas leaking from a faulty main ignited, police presumed, by a cigaret tossed into the hallway leading to an unoccupied second story flat at 849 Maxwell street, caused an explosion last night which was at first mistaken for a bomb and excited the neighborhood for blocks around.

The building, a two story frame structure, is owned by Julius Solovay, 1647 South Harding avenue, and, according to Sergt. William Moran of the Maxwell station, the second floor had not been occupied for two weeks. Property damage was slight.

ROBBED NEAR HIS HOME.

Florian Senese, 45 years old, 3008 West 60th street, was robbed of 95 cents and a $13 signet ring by two armed men near his home last night.

POLICE INQUIRERS TO BRAND SLEUTH HERO OR PLOTTER

Kin of Detroit Kidnapers' Victims Will Testify.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 9.—(AP)—A police trial board will reconvene here tomorrow to hear more testimony on which its members will form an opinion as to whether Henry J. Garvin, inspector of detectives, is a friend of the underworld or worthy of the 16 citations received during his 16 years in the Detroit police department.

The board must pass on this question, although Garvin is not on trial but is only an invalided witness, carrying his arm in a sling as the result of wounds inflicted by gangsters. The latter forced his automobile to a curb on Jan. 2, and emptied their guns, wounding Garvin and an 11 year old school girl who was passing.

Personal Enmity Aired.

During the two days the board sat last week most of the testimony was about a personal enmity between Garvin and Inspector Robert A. MacPherson.

The board was summoned to try Detective Adolph Van Coppenolle, who had been quoted as telling William P. Rutledge, former commissioner, that two months before the shooting Inspector MacPherson, head of the Black Hand squad to which Van Coppenolle then belonged, had tried to engineer a plot to have Garvin killed. Rutledge repeated his story to the board, but Van Coppenolle denied it categorically and launched into an account of departmental activities which cast MacPherson in the rôle of hero with Garvin as the villain.

Relatives of Victims Quoted.

Following along the same lines, Detective Sergeant Max Waldfogel yesterday related that he was familiar with the kidnaping situation in Detroit during the last two years and that the prevalent opinion among many relatives of abducted persons and others was that Garvin was behind the kidnapings.

Waldfogel asserted that kidnapings for ransom were practically unknown in Detroit before the organization in 1927 of the crime and bomb squad with Garvin as its commander and that there had been many such cases since that time.

Witnesses called for tomorrow include relatives of kidnaped persons. The board is turning to them to straighten out the Garvin matter.

M'DONALD BACK IN MIAMI AFTER SAVING DR. RITTER

German, Wife Starving on Island.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Rescue of Dr. Friedrich Ritter, German philosopher, and his young wife, self-exiled on Santa Maria island of the Galapagos group in the South Pacific, was related today with the arrival of Commodore E. F. McDonald Jr., arctic explorer of Chicago, who sailed from Miami on his yacht Mizpah Jan 3, with a party of archæologists and friends on a mysterious cruise.

The object of the cruise today remained as much of a secret as it did more than a month ago when it was announced that the party had "one chance in 1,000" of accomplishing its purpose. Today Commander McDonald volunteered the information that ground work had been started for an archæological venture and that the chances for success now were one in 100.

Note Penned in German.

"For years on Santa Maria," the yachtsman said, "a barrel on a pole has served for the postoffice. We discovered in the barrel a note written in German which told us that Dr. Ritter was in need of immediate assistance. He wrote that he had cut himself with an ax and was injured.

"The supplies left on the beach when the couple exiled themselves had been stolen by another vessel's crew. A vessel promising to return with supplies had failed to arrive and the couple have moved inland in search of water.

"We fired guns and at night swept the skies with the searchlight of the Mizpah, but without results. The next day we organized two searching parties and the one led by Dr. Baker Brownell discovered the couple. It had been five months since they had seen or talked to human beings.

Abundance of Wild Life.

"Surrounded with an abundance of wild life, including wild goats, they were slowly starving to death, disdaining wild life because they were vegetarians. We left them with a six months' supply of food, tools and medicines, but their greatest desire was for vegetables and vegetable seeds.

Commander McDonald was accompanied on the cruise by U. J. Hermann, president of the Chicago library board and theatrical magnate of Chicago; Dr. Baker Brownell, professor of contemporary thought of Northwestern university, who left the party on the return visit to Havana; Dr. George Fox, president of the Michigan Archæeology society and curator of the Warren Foundation museu mof Three Oaks, Mich.; the Rev. Dr. F. W. Fitzgerald, Chicago archæologist; Maj. Charles Hanna, former mayor of Syracuse, N. Y., and John Lock, actor.

TRUCKMAN FINDS COUGH RELIEF ON CAR RIDE

MR. LOUIS F. BRAUN

Car-card introduces him to REM

Mr. Louis F. Braun of 72 E. McMicken Ave., Cincinnati, spends most of his time on a truck—and he doesn't find it all easy riding. There are lots of hours and days he must spend in the cold and wet. One day he had a very bad cough when he happened to ride on a street car. There he saw a REM card, and decided to give it a chance to prove its worth. Mr. Braun found that "REM was just what it claimed to be, for it relieved my cough very quickly." Mr. Braun's bottle is only one of the 10 million bottles of REM that have been sold under an absolute "money-back" guarantee. Yet not one customer in a thousand ever wanted it back! There's a record for you!

REM has "made good" in over 10 million cases. Follow the 10 million!

The Silks In the February Sale

Are Those Most Important in Fashion

The prints are in the gay floral patterns of Spring in all its vivid coloring, and the weaves are cleverly adapted to draping "in the modern manner." And especially are these silks smart appearing in the many new phases of the new mode—those soft unpressed pleats, the bustles and the peplums.

At this time and here, with such silks underpriced, it is advisable to buy for the Spring and for the Summer.

$1.95 Yard

Flat Crepes, in charming printed designs, widely spaced, on colored grounds.

Printed Chiffons are vivid in the large floral patterns for formal wear.

Satin Crepes, lustrous and heavy, in every wanted shade for Spring.

Plain Shantungs, in bright sport colors, for active sports, and the softer pastels.

$2.25 Yard

Canton Crepe, of heavy quality, in the new street shades and black.

$2.45 Yard

Canton Crepe, in a wide range of colors, and in black and white.

Printed Flat Crepes, in many of the widely spaced patterns on colored grounds.

Crepe de Chine, in the pastel shades, for evening and also street shades.

LAWS THAT HAVE KILLED PARTIES.

Representative James M. Beck of Pennsylvania, in discussing the bill for the transfer of prohibition enforcement from the treasury department to the department of justice, made a speech of first importance on the eighteenth amendment. Mr. Beck was formerly solicitor general of the United States and his authority in constitutional law is recognized. As a Republican he warned his own party that it "can no longer afford to sell its soul to the fanatical drys" and that it cannot "hold forever a large number of self-respecting men and women to whom the intolerance of prohibition is a moral affront."

He referred the party to the fate of the one it succeeded, the Whig. He might have pointed to another picture, that of the Federalist, which preceded the Whig. Two great national parties which had had control of government killed themselves by supporting tyrannical laws obnoxious to liberty. The father and the grandfather of the Republican party committed suicide in this fashion. The grandchild is invited to study its family record and draw its own conclusions as to the probable consequences of its present policies.

The Whig, a solid and respectable party, died because it became worthless to the greater number of the people who had composed it. It ceased to defend their principles or to express their wishes. It supported the fugitive slave law. This law had the authority and the sanction of the constitution. The slave was property and recoverable, if he ran away, in any state in which he might be found.

That was the law of the land. In its day it was almost the supreme law of the land because it covered the most controversial issue in political thought and action and in government. It was the question which was shaking the nation and dividing it into embittered sections. The law was sustained at all points by the Supreme court, and congress, controlled by slave owners who denied the principle of human liberty, passed extravagant, excessive, and detestable enforcement acts to coerce the indignant and outraged people of the free states.

It was made treasonable to refuse to aid a United States marshal in capturing a slave who had escaped to free territory. All citizens at hand were to be compelled, as needed by an officer, to join in the hue and cry. Whatever their feelings were it was the law that they must help run down the fugitive and hold him until he could be returned as property in the sight of the constitution and the law to the enraged owner who had lost him. The state officers of free states were compelled to assist and it was a felony to aid the wretch. It was the English rule and boast that English soil made a freeman whenever a slave's foot touched it. Free state laws could not do that in the United States. The fugitive slave law virtually enslaved the free whites for the purpose of recapturing an escaped item of personal property.

In the most celebrated slavery decision the Supreme court, with five southern judges, said that not only had Dred Scott lost any liberty he might have gained by residence in the free north but that congress had no right to prohibit slavery in the territories. Slaves were property and a man could take his property with him. No federal law could deprive him of his property. This decision was in a Democratic administration. Buchanan, although a Pennsylvanian, was in sympathy with it.

The free people of the country before this had been looking to the Whigs for a policy of opposition to these influences and their consequences, but in vain. The eminently respectable Whigs in the south, the superior people, controlled the party in the north where it had its votes. The northern leadership succumbed to the influences in the party against human liberties and freedom and for a constitutional and statutory denial of them. The northern voters deserted their unworthy party and asserted their principles in the Republican party and with Lincoln to lead them won. The Whigs disappeared, swept out of existence in the south by the radical slave Democrats and out of existence in the north by the indignant Republicans.

This was the second time that a national party had supported a law obnoxious to liberty and had died. The Federalists in John Adams' time tried by the sedition act to suppress liberty of speech. They were taken out of power by Jefferson and put out of their feeble existence by Jackson. They tried to deny one form of liberty. The Whigs supported another denial of it. The Republican party, which is their present day successor, "may profit by their example."

UNCLE SAM IN CONFERENCE.

Some one has said that the United States has never lost a war and never won a conference. The negotiations now proceeding in London do not at the present writing seem likely to dilute the substantial ingredient of truth in that epigram. It invites some serious consideration by the American people, inasmuch as conferences multiply and the urge to be in them seems to be irresistible with our government, if feeble with the public. Certainly if our official representatives are unable to resist the lure of the international poker game it is of some moment to the nation that its hand be played with skill and that Uncle Sam do not return from every such occasion with nothing but a borrowed barrel to hide his nakedness.

Our ill success in international conferences we ascribe to the fact that, contrary to the rule among the nations we meet at the board, our ablest men either do not aspire to serve in government or, in such cases as they do accept assignment to public responsibility, seem to check the qualifications which marked their career in private enterprise at the door of the council chamber. In England, in France, in Germany, in Italy, men of great private achievement esteem public office and political distinction as the crown of a distinguished career, a final shining objective. In America our political life is impoverished and our public action enfeebled by the general and persistent abstention of such men from the high service of the republic. And, as we have said, in such exceptional cases as occur at long intervals the individual, masterful, clear headed, resourceful, and unflinching though he may have proved to be in his private affairs, suffers some strange sea change, with results neither creditable to himself nor profitable to his country.

The United States thus has found itself at a deplorable disadvantage in international political negotiations for many years and this handicap presents one of the most serious objections to our participation in international negotiations wherever they can be avoided. That they cannot be always avoided is obvious enough, but the weakness of our representation is the more serious in that when they are unavoidable they are momentous. Our only safeguard lies in the political intelligence of our people, which when given opportunity refuses shortsighted and unprofitable bargaining and insists upon the preservation and advancement of national rights and interests.

This contrast between the gullibility and feebleness of our official representation, on the one hand, and the clearness and firmness of public decision when it is able to intervene, on the other, is astonishing in a representative government. It is, in fact, a failure of effective representation and it is to be hoped may be cured in due time. Meanwhile it must be faced and its unfortunate effects mitigated as much as possible.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MEXICO.

Not only President Rubio and his family but the Mexican people are to be congratulated that the attempt upon his life has failed. Another assassination of a high official would injure Mexican prestige in the eyes of the world and would threaten the political stability which is the prime requisite of Mexico's progress and prosperity. President Rubio, moreover, represents forces in the political and economic life of the nation which offer the most promise of such progress and prosperity, and his untimely taking off in any circumstances, let alone the unjustifiable means of assassination, would be a national misfortune. The American people therefore share the gratification which must be felt by all intelligent and right minded Mexicans in the president's escape as well as their hope for his speedy recovery and future safety and success.

DECREASING INDICTMENTS.

Reduction in the number of indictments returned by recent grand juries is to be welcomed if it indicates an increased sense of responsibility by jurymen and prosecuting authorities. Indictment is subject to grave abuse, for it may be employed as a method of political or personal coercion or revenge by an unscrupulous prosecutor and unwittingly cause serious injury and injustice when inconsiderately voted by a jury.

The mere indictment of a citizen carries with it a stigma which subsequent failure to prosecute or even a verdict of not guilty upon trial does not wholly remove. The public's memory is vague and casual, and human nature is prone to suspect. There is no adequate return or compensation for this wrong, and both prosecutors and juries should therefore proceed with great caution and act only upon substantial evidence.

A large grist of indictments does not in itself prove either proper zeal for the public weal or competence. It may prove the contrary and at least suggests it where indictments are dubious and ill considered. The prevalence of lawbreaking and the pressure of public opinion for the punishment of criminality should not obscure the duty to protect the innocent from injustice.

Editorial of the Day

WHAT IS A FILIPINO?

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

They have been staging anti-Filipino riots in California. Californians have long been known for their general dislike and suspicion of Chinese, Japanese and other orientals, but the American orientals who come from the Philippine islands have only lately come under California's popular disapproval. This, probably, is due to the fact that Filipinos are a stay at home race, and have only recently been coming to California in considerable numbers.

The Filipinos are a fighting people. We do not recall any Chinese or Japanese or Hindu boxers making any mark or money in the pugilistic ring, but the Filipinos have taken to prize fighting like the proverbial duck to water. They have repeatedly beaten the Nordic, the Latin, the Celt and the Semite in the American realm of pugilism. And in the greater part of the United States their successful efforts have been popular.

Now the California boxing commission takes official action to bar Filipinos from further fighting in the state. According to the chairman of the commission it is feared that mixed fights may result in race riots, especially in the likely event of a Filipino knocking out a Californian. A "race riot," of course, would mean only the beating up by an American mob of a few handy Filipinos. It would be an extreme manifestation of cowardice.

And it brings up the question of "What is a Filipino?" If he is not an American, what is he? And if he is an American ought he not be given a fair chance, even in the bumpy walk of pugilistic endeavor?

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. R. H. L.

It Looks as Though Uncle Sam Has Lost His Shirt—

at the naval conference in London and will have to come home in a barrel. We're not so surprised he lost his shirt; the only thing that astonishes us is that he lost it so quickly. How come it happened so sudden-like? It takes time for a fellow to get his shirt off. He has to get off his coat and vest and then sort of wriggle out of his shirt. But, gosh, the way they snaked the shirt off Uncle Sam makes us believe he wasn't wearing it when he went to London, but carried it in his hand when he came down the gang plank.

Yessir, Uncle Sam must have had his shirt off and waving it when he got over there. And the rest of us hoped that he'd have his shirt stitched to him, or glued on, or something. We were pretty much afraid he'd lose it if he didn't—he was going up against a stiff combination. But, shucks! He ought to have kept it longer than he did. Anyhow, he ought to have put up more of a fight. He ought to have made 'em throw him down and haul him around the room four or five times and tear the blamed thing in getting it off him. That would have made us feel a little better about it.

We hate to think that he took it off on the way over, or, as some allow, before he started. And even if he did keep it on until he got to London all they had to say to him was, "Hey, you, git outten that shirt," to make him take it off. No, they wouldn't say it that way. They would say, "Sorry, would you mind removing your shirt, please? We wish to fly it from the top of the Tower of London. Ah, thanks awfully!"

Yessir, that's what hurts. Of course, we can buy Uncle Sam another shirt, but this was a sort of heirloom. It was made at a little place up in Massachusetts. Let's see, what was that place? Oh, yes, Bunker Hill; and the cuffs were stitched on down in Trenton, New Jersey, and the collar sewed on at Yorktown in Virginia.

Yessir, it was more than a shirt; it was a sort of antique, and we thought a lot of it. Too bad! Too bad!

THE UNSEEN ROAD.

There is a highway, to the hill,
Which leads afar,
As distant seeming to me, still,
As yonder star.
That men may go to town, or lake,
At every turn the road may take
It stretches on without a break,
Or end to mar.

Another road without a name
That it may bear,
Scarce wide enough to bear the fame
Of thoroughfare.
Too indolent to try to roam
It rambles on through good rich loam,
Turns in at gate of every home,
To gossip there.

Now soars an airplane out to sea,
Romance wings high;
But no loved road is left for me
To trace it by.
For never shall a roadway there
Show in the early twilit air,
However many airplanes fare
Across the sky.

CLARA EDMUNDS-HEMINGWAY.

LADY ASTOR indignantly denies she said that cigarette smoking by the gals is a "disgusting habit." M'lady declares that what she said was that "cigarette smoking was a nuisance and that one only has to be a housekeeper to know it." Somebody has been dropping lighted cigarettes on Lady Astor's best rugs again. People shouldn't do that, and if they had good manners they wouldn't. Cigarette butts should be chucked under the lid of the grand piano or buried under the sofa pillows. In truly polite circles this is considered far more genteel.

AND NOW COMES the warden of the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet to say that he's changing things down there and installing a loud speaker with radio connection in every cell. Gosh! If you can't even get away from those things by going to jail, what's the use!

A BIG ROW is being raised in Washington against the appointment of a major general to be in charge of the Washington police. The hue-and-criers say it looks like an attempt to put the city under military rule. Well, military rule may be necessary, although the last we heard Mrs. Gann and Alice Longworth were waving flags of truce.

FREE.

Roots loosening a little . . . face upturned
To where a stranger sun smiles gently down,
Hazy the memory of days when burned
The vicious gossip of a little town;
Peace coming back again as one would meet
A friendly visage in a milling throng
Of morons, apes, and beings incomplete;
A clear sanity, a sweeter song
Sings through the havoc that one wrought for me
In all the sad old, mad old days gone by,
And in glad days to come, now I am free,
A fairer moon will rise into the sky;
Roots loosening a little . . . presently
The answered calling of the waiting sea!

REPRESENTATIVE JAMES M. BECK from Pennsylvania, himself a Republican, says that prohibition is going to ruin the Republican party if something isn't done about it right away. Is going to ruin the Republican party? Is going to ruin? James, how do you get that way? Is going to? Why, look at the dam thing now!

WELL, WELL! So dear old Senator Heflin broke loose again Friday. He'd been so silent since the Democratic party down in Alabama tied the can to him that we almost stopped our subscription to the Congressional Record. But now he's back, and again and again we'll get a lot of laughs out of our favorite humor magazine.

IT ISN'T SPRING YET by a long shot, but it must be on the way, for the demons and demonesses romping around on the beach down in Florida have quit sending us the we-ate-dinner-out-under-the-palms-today-wish-you-were-here post cards anyhow. R. H. L.

GAINS OF THE FEMALES.

"OLD LOUISIANA" is an interesting story of the life of the early citizens of that state, with special attention to the social life, between 1830 and 1860, their heyday. It is written by Lyle Saxon. The author knows his theme by reason of residence, inheritance, and the spirit of his soul. His book is replete with secondary source material.

Some sixty-odd pages are devoted to the diary of an inconsequential young man. The diary is as inconsequential as is its author, but it is valuable in that it holds a mirror to the doings of the day. The images tell us of the life and thought of the men and women of the period unvexed by distortions due to the mirror. In one place he describes the screams and fainting fits indulged in by ladies during a severe thunderstorm. "The young ladies proved themselves typical of their generation by swooning time after time. It seems to be the fashion to faint during thunderstorms." "Aunt Theophile was very much frightened by the noise of the thunder and got into bed."

Illustrating, first, the tendency to hide one's head as a means of escaping danger, and, second, hysterical overtones, the diary gives a story of the reaction of a middle-aged widow to the death of her son. The lady had buried more than a fair allotment of husbands and relatives and, therefore, should have accumulated some stamina, even though she began with none. When her son died in another part of the state the family kept her in ignorance of the fact, that she might enjoy a week of gayety and also because they feared the consequences of her grief. "After a week the painful tale was told my aunt, who immediately fainted, and during the day had many fits which followed each other in rapid succession. During the next week she went from collapse to collapse." This was in 1852.

Some who wrote of Abraham Lincoln's family life in the White House used almost the same words in describing Mrs. Lincoln's behavior following the death of Willie in 1862. Some who study Mrs. Lincoln's personality in the light of today regard the period of hysteria following the death of Willie as suggestive of what was to follow. It loses much of its meaning when it is seen to be nearly typical of the emotional reaction to great grief on the part of women of the period.

Women of the present day do not indulge in swooning. They do not get in bed when it thunders. Fainting is not a fashionable pastime. This is true of the ladies of the social strata which corresponded to those dealt with in this diary. The last eighty years have witnessed a wonderful gain for and by women. They are better specimens mentally, physically, and emotionally. The male has not improved as much.

TAKE NAP AFTER MEALS.

Mrs. S. D. R. writes: Is it injurious for people along in years to lie down and nap just after eating luncheon? We are told it is very bad on the heart. We are 65 years old and do get drowsy after lunch.

REPLY.

I advise you to take your after-lunch nap. Beyond promoting obesity the after-lunch nap does no harm. On the other hand, it is very relaxing.

Of course, fat folks should not indulge.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE.

Mrs. E. D. M. writes:

1. What is high blood pressure?
2. What causes it?
3. What is pernicious anemia?
4. What causes it?
5. To what extent are those two diseases dangerous?

REPLY.

1. A high registration as shown when the blood pressure apparatus is used.
2. The principal cause of persistent high blood pressure is a certain change in the walls of the blood vessels. This goes by the name of arteriosclerosis.
3. A form of anemia which has a marked tendency to destroy life. It is characterized by a decrease in red cells which is greater than the decrease in hemoglobin or coloring matter.
4. This is not known, though there are many theories.
5. Until the use of liver treatment, pernicious anemia was invariably fatal. High blood pressure is sometimes very dangerous and sometimes not much so.

MAY BE EPILEPTIC.

W. M. D. writes: I have a son 14 years old who is growing rapidly and is doing well at school. He is 5 feet 6 inches and weighs 115 pounds. He is well except for the following: During the last year he has had peculiar spells, sometimes daily and sometimes weekly. Without warning he becomes rigid, his eyes become fixed, his hands shake, and he sometimes falls. He comes out of this in a short time. What is the trouble?

REPLY.

My guess is that the attacks are epileptic. Have your physician decide. Control his diet, his bowel habits, and his exercise.

STATE AND CIVIC PRIVILEGES.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Does the constitution of Illinois give people of the state the power of initiative, referendum, and recall?

2. Does the charter of the city of Chicago grant these powers to its citizens?

3. In what manner might the people of the city of Chicago effect a change of municipal government? S. R. A.

1. No. 2. Yes, as to referendum on certain matters. 3. Appeal to the legislature.

GROOM UNNECESSARY.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Please let me know in what way, besides getting married, I can have my name changed to one more easily pronounced and remembered. E. S.

No legal proceedings are required to make a change of name valid. Hence a marriage or other legal act performed under an adopted name is not for that reason invalid. A person adopting a new name permanently should for convenience give notice of the change to those persons to whom the information may be material. In transactions in which the old name appears we suggest continuing to use it to avoid confusion. For example, if real estate records show title in the old name, it should be used in a subsequent conveyance.

REAL ESTATE PAYMENTS.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.] — 1. Will you kindly advise me whether when a contract has been signed to pay for a lot in five years, but the payments have been made such that they could not be paid within the five year limit, is the unpaid balance subject to immediate payment at the end of the five year period?

2. If unable to pay same at that time, could the lot be taken from me?
M. R. F.

1. Depends on the wording of the contract. 2. Yes, if the contract so provides.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 10, 1865.

NEW YORK.—The Tribune's Army of the Potomac special says: "The object of the movement to the left now seems to be a general reconnaissance of the enemy's position, strength and movements, and to interfere with a line of fortifications it is understood to protect a branch railroad they are building below Ream's station. The rebel force that met ours at Armstrong's mill was part of Hill's corps, including Malone's veteran brigade. Prisoners taken said they were not expecting an attack now that the peace commissioners from Richmond had gone to meet President Lincoln.

CAIRO.—A general court martial has been ordered to meet here to try Brig. Gen. Eleazer A. Paine. It is composed of Maj. Gens. Hunter, Heintzleman, and Casey, Brig. Gens. Carrington, Harrow, and McIntosh, Col. Council of the 28th Iowa, and Judge Advocate Dunn.

CHICAGO.—David W. Sutherland and Miss Leona C. Noble were married on Feb. 8 at Trinity church by the Rev. Dr. Cumming.

NEW YORK.—The Herald's Fortress Monroe correspondent says that arrangements have been made for a complete exchange of all soldiers, now prisoners, including colored troops. The exchange will take place at Aiken's landing on the James river.

CHICAGO.—Brig. Gen. W. D. Whipple of the Army of the Southwest is stopping at the Sherman house.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 10, 1900.

LONDON.—Although the war office insists that it has no confirmation of the report from Boer sources that Gen. Buller for the third time has been repulsed and for the second time forced back across the Tugela river, nevertheless it is generally believed. The Boer report is that the British were driven from their position by a bombardment. Military experts express the opinion that Buller's purpose is to keep the Boers busy while Gen. Roberts acts elsewhere.

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Gov. Taylor has not yet signed the peace agreement. Republican leaders are to confer with him tomorrow, and it is believed that after the conference he will agree to the arrangement. Lee Jones of Whitley county was arrested suspected of having knowledge of who fired the shot that killed Goebel. He declared that Harland Whittaker, now in the Louisville jail, knew who fired the shot. Jones said: "Whittaker knows who fired the shot. And if you want to be sure you must get a former state official, ex-Secretary of State Finley, from whose office the shot was fired."

NEW YORK.—Assistant District Attorney Osborne closed the state's argument in the trial of Roland B. Molineux, charged with the murder of Mrs. Kate J. Adams, by sending poisoned candy through the mail. Recorder Goff will charge the jury tomorrow morning and a verdict is expected during the day.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—All that was mortal of Gen. Henry W. Lawton, killed in the Philippines, was laid to rest today in the windblown hills of Arlington. Fully 2,000 troops turned out as a guard of honor.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 10, 1920.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In face of an indorsement of the principle by President Wilson and his appeal to take no party action against it, the Democrats of the house of representatives recorded themselves overwhelmingly in opposition to universal military training legislation by this congress.

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Martial law prevails in this city and 800 federal and state troops are patrolling the streets to prevent further rioting, which during the day took a toll of five dead and fourteen wounded. Lexington and all Fayette county were placed under martial law by Brig. Gen. F. C. Marshall upon his arrival from Camp Taylor with 300 troops of the 1st division. The rioting began when a mob bent on lynching William Lockett, a Negro, who confessed the murder of 10 year old Geneva Hardman, was fired upon by the militia as it was storming the courthouse trying to get the prisoner during his trial.

CHICAGO.—State's Attorney Hoyne announced that "Big Tim" Murphy, labor boss, probably would be booked today on a formal charge in connection with the murder of "Moss" Enright, his principal rival in power. Murphy's arrest followed the confession of Tony Cifaldo, formerly bartender for "Dago Mike" Carozzo, who, according to Hoyne, declared he had been offered the task of executing Enright. The actual slayer is said to have been arrested on the south side. Hoyne also said he had obtained a confession from Ralph "Braggo" Buglio, owner of the Enright death car, that Carozzo had the machine at the hour of the killing.

CHICAGO.—It was announced that Miss Clara Vopicka, daughter of Charles J. Vopicka, United States minister to the Balkans, and Jerome J. Schlesinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Schlesinger, 5124 Michigan avenue, will be married on Feb. 14 at Our Lady of Sorrows church.

SURRENDER.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—I have just read in THE TRIBUNE the action of Stimson at the naval parley in London. I never felt more disappointed in my life.

My complaint is that Stimson allowed himself and the delegation he heads to take less than rightfully belonged to this country. All they needed to do was to say to the other nations that they did not think a fair deal was proposed for the United States and to say that they would go home until a fair deal could be secured. England's whole record is one of giving in to a sharp call after a reasonable amount of discussion. In contrast to that, Stimson and his delegation have given in to England in a most disgraceful way.

Of course, this whole matter may be of the class that is referred to the United States senate and there may be there enough patriots to prevent its acceptance, but past records of the senate do not warrant such a belief.

ROBERT G. PILKINGTON.

GODLESS RUSSIA.

Alpena, Mich., Feb. 4.—The article by Donald Day showing the attitude of the soviet government in its campaign to eliminate churches from Russia and the recent edict closing the remaining four Lutheran churches in Leningrad was to my mind the outstanding article published in your paper of that date.

It is about time for a paper of your class to begin a series of articles telling more of what is being done in Russia to make that country absolutely godless. Americans should be warned of the dangers of dealing with people or a nation that refutes the idea of a supreme being. Its end is in sight, but the suffering that must be undergone in the meantime is deplorable.

WILLIAM J. M'DOUGALL.

HANDS ACROSS THE SEA.

Chicago Heights, Ill., Feb. 6.—I wonder how many readers of today's TRIBUNE noticed carefully the cartoon, "While Murder Stalks the Streets," on the front page, and then read your editorial, "Recognizing Russia."

You speak of Russia slaughtering suspected dissentients of the soviet government. You refer with horror to Uncle Sam grasping the bloody hand of Russia. It seems to me your anxiety is unwarranted. Russia would, no doubt, have more cause to fear such intimacy than Uncle Sam.

The people of Russia are fortunate in that they have no fear of being shot down by dry agents or getting in the way of gangsters' bullets. They never have to listen to long lectures by Bishop Cannon, F. Scott McBride or the Rev. Clarence True Wilson. We Americans have no such protection. We are at the mercy of dry agents and gangsters. Dry agents are given government protection and our representatives in congress applaud their ruthless slaughter of liberty loving Americans.

By all means, let Uncle Sam extend his bloody hand to soviet Russia.

J. W. CLARK.

SOVIET BLISS.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—The news from Russia published by THE TRIBUNE is true, but deftly seasoned. The letter of "J. B. M." published in the Voice of the People, shows how this seasoning goes to the heads of the readers.

When the soviet government plans to adopt the efficient American system of mass production of shoes, clothing, and other necessities, THE TRIBUNE announces that the bolsheviks aim to eradicate all individuality. And "J. B. M." kneels in gratitude to the Almighty for saving our own land from Red rule and for keeping in force "the law of compensation and the law of attraction"; also for accomplishing his purpose of general prosperity by the ingenious device of keeping a handful rich and millions in misery.

The Russian people have discovered that God helps those that help themselves. Since that discovery they have changed from an oppressed, priest ridden, and illiterate people into one shaping its own destinies and striving, without any help and with much hindrance from the outside, to such an undreamed of height of physical, spiritual, and moral well-being that the very contemplation of it is too great a tax on the microscopic brain of the pious.

EARL A. HOFFMAN.

MODEL.

Moline, Ill., Feb. 7.—Your article concerning the Gettysburg address as a model for those who want to write a short history of the United States was very timely.

There is a great deal more to the address than we realize unless we give the address a thorough study. In this brief address Lincoln has given us an epitome of our history and presented the important facts of its two chief periods—the formation of our nation and government and the preservation of the same—the period of Washington and that of Lincoln himself.

The speech contains 266 words, 1,129 letters, 193 words of one syllable each, 48 words of two syllables each, 17 words of three syllables each, and eight words of four syllables each. J. B. OAKLEAF.

EXAMPLE OF WASTE.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—Regarding city extravagance, I would like to call your attention to what was told me by a school teacher of the Komensky school about Christmas time.

She said that a woman who was stationed on the ground floor of the school for some unknown reason and had been there for some time told this teacher that she didn't know what she was there for, but she was pulling down her $120 a month. This probably is an example of what is going on generally.

C. W.

POLITE ROBBERS.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—Your first page article about the polite robbers who dined their victims, etc., no doubt is highly colored, but the strain in which it is written makes heroes out of the dirty scoundrels who live on other people's honest work. The naïve comments of the victims are sickening, and the tendency of the article is to encourage high school boys to be Claude Duvals and Jack Sheppards. That's right, keep up the good work and increase the number of these curs who hold up honest people.

R. V. ESS.

EDUCATIONAL.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—We are all enjoying very much the "Letters from Out of the Way Places" column. The descriptions and history you give are most educational.

P. D. HOLMES.

IN PRAISE OF FILTERS.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Frank Scher is wrong when he assumes magnifying glass and mirrors are responsible for the appearance of the clear water marked "filtered" in the lobby of the city hall.

Let him come out to the south shore (69th and Oglesby), where we have a filtering plant and he may have all the cool, crystal clear water he can carry away. Even those who are not plant experts will readily see the difference.

Most of the residents of the south shore get all of their drinking water from this station and I hope some day it will develop into something more than just an experiment.

M. E.

VENGEANCE.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—I think your criticism of Judge Swanson is uncalled for. What do you expect one honest man to accomplish with the bunch of rotten politicians we have in office—with our unspeakable mayor, the city broke and a disgrace to the United States? I sincerely hope that all the voters that worked so hard to defeat the only gentleman and honest mayor we have had for years are getting their fill of what they have.

MRS. F. S. D.

LITERATE ARISTOCRACY.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—In answer to "John Bull's" letter in today's issue of THE TRIBUNE, he is perfectly right. The aristocracy of England are the only ones that know how to read. The other 99 per cent receive dole from the government to remain dumb.

We Look Like Quaint Old Fashioned Valentines!

with our frills and furbelows, our puff sleeves and our long gloves. So we couldn't resist putting a few of our quaint new fashions into valentines this year with Valentine Greetings!

No! we didn't copy her from an old fashioned Valentine. We simply went to Fashion Bureau and said "Give us something darling." And here is the result! A bridesmaid's dress in organdie.

$89.50

Fashion Bureau, Middle, State

Demure but ever so smart is the frock with little tailored bows and chiffon insets—in the best manner of an old fashioned Valentine . . . even to the "pretty" colors in which it comes!

$52.50

Misses' Dresses, South, State

Prim in the best 1930 manner is this adorable tailored frock with its collar draped into a bow—and its cunning nipped in high waistline. It's far too useful a frock to languish away on a Valentine!

LEWIS IN SENATE RACE; OPENS FIRE ON DRY TYRANNY

Ex-Senator Accepts Bid of Party Leaders.

Answering the call of his party, James Hamilton Lewis yesterday announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States senator. In doing so he suggested principles for the platform on which he will run and prominent among these was his characterization of prohibition as "national tyranny."

Mr. Lewis, who was elected to the senate during the Wilson administration—the last Illinois senator to be chosen by the legislature—addressed his letter of acceptance to the state and county Democratic committees.

"I did not seek this nomination," Mr. Lewis says. "It is well known that after I left the senate I declined office under the Wilson administration. Also I declined minority appointments under the Harding and Coolidge administrations. The material necessities of life forced me to take this action. I now respond to the invitation and say that I accept."

Seven Planks Suggested.

Then stating that his platform in detail will be given the people during the campaign, the former senator sets down seven suggestions concerning what his principles will be.

The third on this list is headed: "Prohibition" and in it he says:

"This nation asks temperance in the habits of its mankind and it prays that these may be induced by free religion and enforced by just laws. It protests against any system of laws that invokes trespass on the homes, invasion of the family, violation of the privacy of life, and the mortal wounding of citizens as the method of so-called law enforcement. Such action is national tyranny."

He touches upon the farm problem, saying:

"We protest that the farmers of the west have long been deceived by specious promises of relief which were known by those who put them forth to be a deception and who now under the name of refuge force these planters and producers from the land to be delivered to the bondage of interest payments and mortgage yokes that consign the family of the farmer to distress and penury."

Chides G. O. P. of County.

Blame for the financial distress of the county, city, school, and park boards, and the sanitary district is laid by Mr. Lewis on the local branch of the Republican party. He says "Republican official quarrels" have plunged the city into the financial quagmire."

Newton Jenkins, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, will open his campaign tonight in Aurora.

Mellon, Vare Factions Cannot Agree.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Whether a spectacular Republican primary contest in Pennsylvania, involving nominations for United States senator, governor, and other offices, can be averted seems doubtful, despite negotiations which have been going on in Washington and elsewhere during the last week.

A harmony proposal contemplates the joining of the Mellon and Vare factions in support of a ticket including Senator Joseph R. Grundy for renomination, and Francis Shunk Brown of Philadelphia, former attorney general, for governor.

Thus far, however, harmony has not been attained. William S. Vare having shown unwillingness to withdraw as a candidate for United States senator against Grundy and the latter insisting upon backing the candidacy of Samuel S. Lewis, former state treasurer, for governor.

Grundy Seeks Election.

Brown has been definitely chosen as the candidate of the Vare Philadelphia organization for governor. Senator Grundy also is in the race for renomination to stay. If there is to be harmony, other candidates for the two places must be eliminated.

There is friction within both the Vare and Mellon groups. Some of the Vare lieutenants in Philadelphia, recognizing that Mr. Vare is too ill to make an active campaign against Grundy, would like their chief to withdraw in order to make certain the nomination of Brown for governor.

Vare Would Run Again.

A Philadelphia delegation is to visit Vare in Florida this week to discuss the situation with him. Mr. Vare, however, according to dispatches from Florida, insists that he is not "bluffing" in his candidacy for the seat to which he was elected in 1926, but which he was not permitted by the senate to occupy.

RUTH M'CORMICK WILL SPEAK IN 19 CITIES THIS WEEK

Headquarters for Ruth Hanna McCormick announced yesterday that this week she will carry her campaign for the Republican nomination for United States senator into 19 cities in 17 downstate counties. She will speak in three or four cities every day. She opens the week at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the town hall at Yorkville, Kendall county, and ends it next Saturday at 7:30 p. m., with a speech in the Consistory theater in Freeport, Stephenson county.

Mrs. McCormick will speak in Morris and Mendota this afternoon and evening. Tomorrow she will speak in Granville, Lacon, Henry, and Princeton. Wednesday she moves on to Toulon, Kewanee, and Galesburg; Thursday she speaks in Oquawka, Monmouth, and Aledo.

Morrison, Sterling, and Dixon are on Friday's schedule. She speaks Saturday, before ending the week in Freeport, in Savanna, and Galena.

CALLS CHICAGO LIVE STOCK CO-OP MODEL FOR U. S.

Farm Board Explains How It Aids Producers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—The Producers' Live Stock Commission association of Chicago, the second largest live stock coöperative in the country, today was singled out in a report of the division of coöperative marketing—an agency of the federal farm board—as a model organizaiton of the type farmers are being urged by the board to join.

Following a study of the Chicago association's activities over a period of six years, officials of the division cited it as proof that such an organization may render numerous valuable services to farmers and save them money in marketing expense.

Sales Value $121,348,230.

In the six years between 1921 and 1927, it was determined, the Chicago association handled 495,744 head of cattle, 302,453 calves, 4,066,039 hogs, and 454,467 sheep, having a total sales value of $121,348,230. The value of stock handled by the association in 1929 was $31,632,789, which was surpassed only by the Central Coöperative association of St. Paul, with sales of $33,000,000.

"The Chicago association has been consistently supported by its shippers," the report continued. "Although there is no marketing agreement, 59 per cent of the commissions in the five year period, 1922-'26, were from shippers who had consigned to the association every year of the five. In the five years $256,810 was refunded to members in patronage dividends. And the association was able to operate on reduced commission charges. The organization was instrumental in the formation of stocker and feeder pools, through the agency of which range lambs and cattle are moved direct to corn belt feed lots. This activity is now carried on by the National Live Stock Producers' association.

Other Services to Farmers.

"Other services to farmers sponsored by the association were the Producers' Credit corporation, through which stockmen may take advantage of the facilities of the intermediate credit banks for live stock feeding loans, and the promotion of sales from boys' and girls' calf clubs."

Carlstrom Lauds Lincoln in Speech at His Tomb

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 9.—(AP)—The citizenship exemplified by Abraham Lincoln was lauded today by Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom in an address before more than 1,500 members of the order of De Molay gathered at the tomb of the martyred President. It was the organization's fifth annual pilgrimage to this city and part of its program for better citizenship. De Molay chapters from half a hundred cities were represented.

COALITION TARIFF BILL LOSES LAST OF ITS FRIENDS

Farmer, Labor Let Loose Blast on Senate.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—The long pending tariff bill seems to have lost its last friend.

Agriculture, which has obtained numerous increases in duty, today turned against the measure because of refusal of the senate to boost rates on sugar, blackstrap molasses, casein, hides, and fats and oils.

Continuance of the present law would be preferred by agriculture to the bill in its present form, it was asserted in a letter to all senators, signed jointly by heads of leading farm organizations.

Up to this time agriculture has seemed the only group with any interest left in the bill.

Encourage Industries.

Formal protests heretofore have been registered against the bill by industry and by labor, the two groups referred to in its title which proclaims that it is intended to "encourage the industries of the United States," and to "protect American labor."

Except for the insistence of senators eager to redeem the Republican pledge for aid to agriculture, it is more than likely that the tariff bill would have been abandoned long ago. As many as fifteen old guard Republicans, chiefly from eastern states and sympathetic to the manufacturing industries, recently were prepared to vote against final passage of the bill because of cuts made in industrial duties by the coalition of Democrats and radical Republicans.

About ten of these Republican regulars have tentatively agreed at the insistence of Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader, to vote for the bill as a means of getting it into conference and with the hope that the conferees will revise the duties upward.

Labor Files Protest.

Organized labor, which favors high duties for the protection of American workers, filed its formal protest against the bill a week ago in a letter to senators signed by Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and president of the American Wage Earners' Protective conference.

Even the leaders of the coalition, who have been responsible for the slashing of industrial rates and who, although professing zeal for agriculture, have been unwilling to increase duties on the particular commodities referred to in today's letter of the farm organizations, show no great satisfaction in the bill, as it stands.

Low Tariff Men Hostile.

There are enough high duties in the bill to cause most of the low tariff advocates to vote against it.

With industry and labor already showing a disposition to prefer the present law to the new bill, the definite declaration in this direction by agriculture adds to the uncertainty and raises a serious question as to whether there will be enough votes to insure enactment of any bill at all.

If the Hoover administration exerts its influence to get the bill passed in the senate, it will not be because of complete approval of the measure as it stands, but because of a desire to work out a more satisfactory compromise between the house and senate bills.

Wool Growers Win Victory.

In the letter it is asserted that discussions on the floor of the senate prior to the Christmas holidays were encouraging to farmers. It was at that time that the wool growers won a victory by obtaining restoration of the higher rates of the house bill, which had been cut by the senate finance committee. In recent weeks, however, the letter says, "the objective for which tariff adjustment was begun appears to have been forgotten."

"In our estimation," says the letter, "this objective is the placing of American farmers, who must meet competition from low cost, low living standard producers abroad, in a position to enable them to supply the domestic market as completely as possible and to enjoy the benefits of so doing.

"This forgetfulness was illustrated by the defeat of the rates which were requested by a combined agriculture on sugar, blackstrap molasses, casein, hides, and the fats and oils."

Respond to Tariff Influence.

The annual import value of these particular commodities, it is asserted, exceeds 472 million dollars. Many of the agricultural commodities on which increases have been given, it is contended, are of such a character as not to respond to tariff influence, the domestic production being considerably greater than is sufficient for domestic requirements.

"On our part there will be no compromise in regard to our final position relative to the tariff bill," says the letter in delivering agriculture's ultimatum. "If insignificant measures of tariff relief are given and such important products as those mentioned above are allowed to come in duty free or at such rates of duty as are inadequate to protect our domestic producers, we shall consider such action by congress a failure to carry out the popular will.

"For the present it would be better for agriculture to continue under the tariff act of 1922, which does not protect agricultural products, than to put up with a new bill which could not be changed for probably a decade, in which either inconsequential or surplus agricultural commodities are given protection while really important ones such as those above mentioned, upon which tariff rates would be effective are neglected."

The senate will resume the tariff grind tomorrow with no hope whatever of passing the bill by next Saturday, Feb. 15, the date which the leaders had predicted during the holidays would mark final action. The leaders are now talking of passing the bill by Feb. 25, but there is no definite assurance of action by that time.

LEADER WITHDRAWS FROM D. A. R. BECAUSE OF "UNFAIR POLICIES"

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Dr. Valeria H. Parker, honorary president of the National Council of Women and prominent in the activities of other women's organizations, today announced her withdrawal from the Daughters of the American Revolution.

In her letter to the national board of management of the D. A. R. at Washington Dr. Parker said:

"I can no longer support, even indirectly by a silent membership, policies which I believe to be mistaken and contrary to the purposes for which the D. A. R. was founded."

Discussing the so called "blacklists" of individuals and organizations, Dr. Parker said:

"The lists have included the names of many distinguished citizens, leaders in social, educational, and religious fields, whose unselfish services and reputation for integrity should have spared them such indignity.

"The denial of this circulation of lists in the face of generally known facts does not give me confidence in the administration of the National Society of the D. A. R."

WOMAN IN LAKE SAVED BY COAST GUARD AND COPS

Resourcefulness of the coast guard and a police squad resulted in the rescue from the lake yesterday of a woman hospital patient who attempted to end her own life. The woman is Mrs. Etta Wiener, 50 years old, of North Manchester, Ind., a patient at Passavant hospital. She had eluded nurses and leaped into the lake at the foot of Superior street.

When Capt. John O. Anderson of the coast guard arrived the woman, buoyed up by a heavy fur coat, was floating 400 yards off shore, surrounded by ice floes, which made navigation in the guard's motor boat impossible.

A light skiff, then at the lighthouse at the Navy pier, was needed to effect a rescue. Lieut. Edward Waller's squad car was hailed as it passed on the drive. The skiff was hastily placed upon an auto trailer and the trailer hocked on to the squad car and driven to Superior street.

The woman was unconscious when taken from the water but after being revived at Passavant hospital, attachés said she was little the worse for her experience. Mrs. Wiener was removed to a sanitarium at Kenilworth last night.

ROBBED OF HIS NEW AUTO.

Joseph Durlach, 2528 Haddon avenue, was robbed of a new automobile and $2 last night by three men who held him up as he was walking to his car at Leavitt and Thomas streets after visiting a friend at St. Mary's hospital.

EVANSTON CHIEF DENIES NEGLECT IN BURGLAR HUNT

The charge of John Keane, 1220 Judson avenue, Evanston, wealthy broker, that the slowness of the police in arriving at his home permitted the escape of a burglar whom he had routed from the house, were denied yesterday by Chief of Police William Freeman. Chief Freeman said that the police arrived at Keane's home before the burglar left the grounds and fired one shot at him.

Keane chased the prowler, who was a Negro, down a drain pipe from a second story window after Miss Catherine Keane, his daughter, had found the man in her bedroom. The burglar fired two shots at the broker.

NO REROUTING OF STATE HIGHWAYS NOW IN CITIES

Will Wait Until Touring Season Is Ended.

BY HAL FOUST.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Motorists in Chicago will be spared during the 1930 touring season from the confusion that would result from the proposed rerouting of the state highways within the city at this time. This assurance was given today by executives in the state highway department, who did not want to be quoted by name in the absence on a vacation of H. H. Cleaveland, director of the department of public works.

"I am quite certain," said one of the director's closest advisers, "that there will be no material change in the highway routes in Chicago before late in the fall. There are many objections to such a change this spring."

Suggested by Traffic Bureau.

The recommendation for rerouting the highways was made by the central traffic bureau, which was organized last fall to coördinate the traffic work of the various officials in the metropolitan area. The theory of the proposal is to obtain a better distribution of street traffic by placing highway markers on more of the passable pavements and thereby to relieve congestion on the boulevards.

The administration believes that the city streets proposed for state routes should be placed in good condition before they receive the state markers. Many of the thoroughfares suggested as new state routes have pavements that are on the program for repair or reconstruction this summer with the county's share of the gasoline tax. This would result in many detours.

Not Propitious Time.

The highway department understands that this is not the most propitious time, on the eve of the touring season, for a radical revision of the state highway routes. Newspapers, motor clubs, and other map publishers are now preparing their 1930 road guides and a change of routes this spring would result in many erroneous maps being in circulation.

In the late fall, or early next winter, state highways might be rerouted over pavements conditioned during the summer, officials here pointed out. The motoring public would then have all winter to learn the new system before another season of heavy travel.

In the meantime, Cook county is progressing with its marking of through routes within Chicago, using combinations of two letters, such as "BG," as symbols.

TRI-STATE COLORADO RIVER CONFERENCE HALTS IN DEADLOCK

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 9.—(AP)—The tri-state Colorado river conference, which convened here last Thursday, ended today in at least temporary failure.

W. J. Donovan, chairman and personal representative of President Hoover, announced Arizona and California commissioners were unable to agree upon interpretations of a clause in the Boulder Dam act defining the manner in which the power question should be determined.

The parley was recessed subject to the call of the chairman, who left by airplane for the east and said he would submit a full report of the proceedings to Secretary of Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur.

California had contended that the question of power allocation and prices to be charged for power under the act should be determined by the secretary of the interior, while Arizona took the stand that power questions under the act must be settled through a tri-state compact between Arizona, Nevada, and California, the three lower basin states.

Arizona's viewpoint was supported by New Mexico, Utah, Colorado, and Nevada.

ORDERS PROBE OF DEATH OF ARMY MAN'S RICH WIFE

$700,000 Estate Held Up by New Inquiry.

HONOLULU, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Sheriff Patrick Gleason, ex-officio coroner of Honolulu, today said he had been induced to call an inquest and new autopsy upon the body of Mrs. Marion Sevier by the receipt of a letter Jan. 20 from Maj. W. C. Whitmore of the United States army medical corps.

Mrs. Sevier, who died in August, 1928, left to her husband, Col. Granville Sevier of the 64th coast artillery, an estate valued at $700,000, which she inherited from her mother, Mrs. Riette Shainwald of New York, who died in 1925. Investigations into Mrs. Sevier's death have delayed settlement of the estate.

Based Diagnosis on Early Illness.

Maj. Whitmore, who attended Mrs. Sevier during her last illness, in the letter said that his diagnosis of nephritis and enlarged heart at time of death was based on what he had been told of an illness from scarlet fever in the woman's early life.

Since then, the letter said, he learned other physicians who examined Mrs. Sevier eight years prior to her death affirmed an absence of nephritis and heart disease at that time. Maj. Whitmore said he had been given to understand the scarlet fever had caused heart trouble during that time.

"I was not in possession of the above facts until recently and since they tend to throw a different light on the case, I believe a coroner's inquest should be held to determine, as accurately as possible, the cause which induced a comparatively young woman interstitial nephritis and rapidly enlarging heart," Maj. Whitmore wrote.

Brother Admits Statement.

Ralph Shainwald, brother of Mrs. Sevier, admitted he furnished Maj. Whitmore the statements of physicians who examined his sister eight years prior to her death. Shainwald has been in Honolulu since last April and attended the autopsy which the department of justice arranged at his request. There has been but one definite report from the eight physicians at the autopsy filed to date. Parts of Mrs. Sevier's body were taken to the mainland for examination, as facilities for studying body tissues were not available here.

Col. Sevier advised the sheriff he was anxious to coöperate with authorities and gave permission for a second autopsy on the body, which is in a vault awaiting removal to the mainland, when Sevier's tour of the Hawaiian department of the army expires.

Col. Sevier was located at Fort Slocum, N. Y., when he first met Marion Shainwald. They were married in Baltimore Nov. 13, 1926. Sheriff Gleason was expected to set a date for the inquest and autopsy this week.

2 DIE, 9 WOUNDED IN NEW POLITICAL AFFRAY IN BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Antonio Carlos, president of the state of Minas Geraes, today telegraphed Brazilian President Washington Luis, saying he had been unable to obtain full data on the disorders at Montes Claros last Friday, in which five persons were killed and 15 others, including the vice president of Brazil, Mello Vianna, were wounded.

Simultaneously a telegram was received from Bautista Luzardo, chief of the propaganda delegation of the Liberal party, saying there had been a second clash at Montes Claros with two killed and nine wounded.

Señor Carlos said his investigation had been hampered by refusal of federal officials in charge of the railways and telegraph to coöperate. He said they had declined to transmit messages carrying news of the disorders for state officials and had refused to transport state investigators.

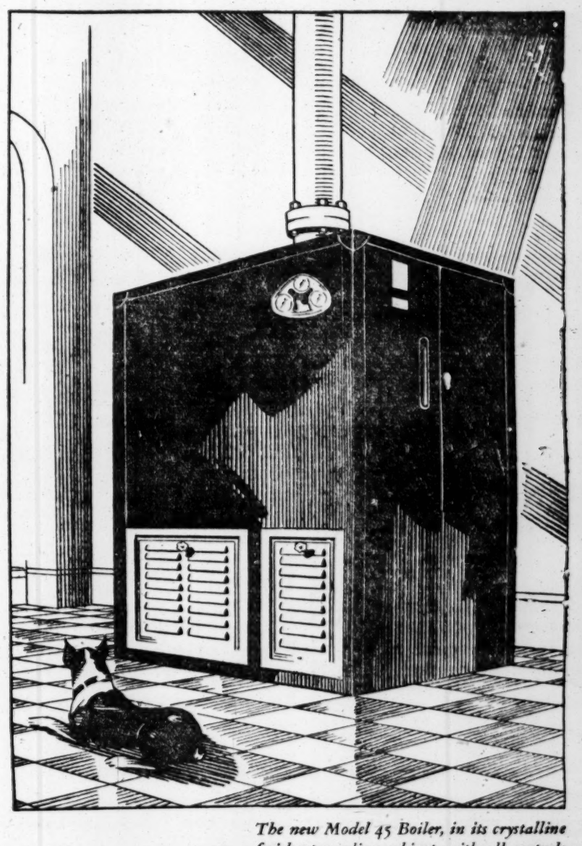
Truly automatic heating!



The new Model 45 Boiler, in its crystalline finish, streamline cabinet, with all controls concealed, needs no partitions or screening.

WHEN the Bryant Pup takes charge of your furnace room it can be just as you see it above. No shovels, tools, brooms, oil cans or refuse cans hidden "around the corner." The pup has absolutely no use for them or for accessories of any kind. A Bryant doesn't compel anyone to be a mechanic, chauffeur, nursemaid or shovel-athlete. Not an inch of storage space is required. There is no dirt-distributing fuel bin or storage tank somewhere outside of the picture for the pup or his household to bother about. A Bryant Boiler or Furnace is as clean in the basement as it is in the picture.

The Bryant-heated house is a house to be envied. No fuel trucks ever drive up its driveways. Nobody keeps a constant eye on its fuel bin or tank—no furnace fuel is ever stored on the premises. No grime or greasy vapors ever seep up from its basement to tarnish walls and woodwork, damage upholstery and take toll of silverware, china and clothing.

The Bryant heating plant in its basement "orders its own fuel;" never burns more—or less—than is needed. It keeps inside temperatures healthfully uniform within a single, thermometer-measured degree, day and night, through cold spell and thaw. Trips to the furnace room are made by the calendar—not by the clock; makes a single match the winter's kindling. Completely dependable, automatic operation, forever removes all dread of the furnace months for its happy household.

LETOURNER HURT IN BIKE CRASH; OUT OF RACE

HAVANA HORSE PAYS $685 FOR $2 MUTUEL TICKET

MISS FOUNTAIN'S PRICE LONGEST OF SIX YEARS

Victory Her Third in 29 Starts.

Havana, Cuba, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Miss Fountain, a six year old plater racing in the silks of G. M. Anderson, won the first race at Oriental park today and paid $685.60 in the $2 mutuels. This was the longest price paid on an American or Cuban track in six years. Place tickets were worth $78.20 and show tickets $60.

In the history of the pari-mutuels only four horses have rewarded their backers more generously than Miss Fountain did today.

Record Price $1,885.

Wishing Ring won a race at Latonia on June 17, 1912, and set an all time record of $1,885.50 for $2 straight, $644.60 for place and $172.60 for show.

Up to that time the record was held by Muzetta W., which paid $830.70 for $2 at Lexington on May 7, 1910. Place and show tickets on Muzetta W. were worth only $60.25 and $19.50 respectively.

Lieut. William J. Murray won at Havana on Feb. 11, 1923, and paid $696 for $2. A few months later, Dec. 19, 1923, Fincastle set the Havana record of $702.

Before today's race Miss Fountain had started six times this year and had never been in the money. In 22 starts during 1929 she won but twice.

Wins by Two Lengths.

But today she had little trouble mastering the field of nine other entries in the 5½ furlong sprint. She got away in fifth place, moved up steadily approaching the stretch, drew clear in the last sixteenth and won by two lengths.

Miss Fountain is a daughter of Flying Squirrel and Miss Sweep. She is trained by W. J. Hall and was ridden today by Jockey Bernier.

ALEXANDER PANTAGES WINS

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—One more track record fell at Agua Caliente today as Alexander Pantages, from the Albecarrodio stable, dashed to a brilliant victory in the Francis Lee handicap at six furlongs.

He covered the distance in 1:11 1-5, to clip 1-5 seconds from the mark set Dec. 29 by Brown Wisdom. The winner was ridden by H. Philpott. A stable mate, Shasta Bullet, finished second, a length behind the winner, while Bartlestein and Unna's Golden Price was third. Alexander Pantages paid $7.00 in the $2.00 mutuels.

HOUSTON OPEN GOLF MEET WON BY AL ESPINOSA

Houston, Tex., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Al Espinosa, Chicago professional, today won the Houston open golf tournament with a score of 281 for the 72 holes over the Rio Rico Country club course.

In his morning round Espinosa turned in a score of 69 for the par 72 course and this afternoon he shot a 73 to go over par for the first time in the $2,500 open tourney. His Saturday round scores were 72 and 67.

John Golden of Paterson, N. J., took second honors with a total score of 284. Harry Cooper of Buffalo, N. Y., was third with 286 and fourth place went to John Rogers of Denver with 287.

REISELT DEFEATS COCHRAN IN CUE MATCH, 700-696

New York, Feb. 9. — (AP) — Otto Reiselt, former world three cushion billiards champion, defeated Welker Cochran of Hollywood, 700 to 696, in a special match completed here tonight.

Reiselt moved into the lead by 19 points when he took the afternoon block, 53 to 31, in 32 innings and just barely managed to nose out Cochran when the Hollywood star won the night block, 65 to 50, in 68 innings. Cochran had a high run of five in each block. Reiselt's best clusters were six and five.

The match required 689 innings.

TILDEN-AUSSEM ARE BEATEN IN CANNES TOURNEY

CANNES, France, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian now living in England, and Henri Cochet of France defeated Big Bill Tilden and Fraulein Cecilie Aussem of Germany, 12-10, 6-3, in the finals of the mixed doubles of the Cannes tennis tournament. Both Cochet and Tilden played erratic tennis, the continued superiority of Miss Ryan over Fraulein Aussem giving her team the victory.

THE GUMPS—A-HEM!

Carl Steinwig, Marie Fierce Win Cullen A. C. Skate Titles

Carl Steinwig of the Moynihan Skating club and Marie Fierce of the Barrett A. C. won the interstate speed championships featuring the second annual ice skates Derby of the Cullen A. C. at Columbus park yesterday. Steinwig scored 80 points to take the senior men's title, while Miss Fierce won both races for senior girls, amassing a 60 point total.

MARIE FIERCE.

In the team competition the Barrett A. C. rolled up 170 points to take the championship trophy. The Moynihan S. C. totaled 130 for second place, while the Cullen club gathered 80 for third. Thirteen of the 20 competing clubs scored. The races were conducted under the direction of the Western Skating association.

Turns Tables on Steinwig.

Steinwig won two of the three championship races. He captured the 220 yard event by ten yards from John Balash of the Opal A. A., and took the half mile by five yards from Harry Littlefield. In the one mile race of the title series Littlefield turned the tables on Steinwig, winning by about six feet in a fast finish.

Miss Fierce's victories were decisive. Helen Bina finished second in each of the races and Priscilla Richey third. All of the girls skated under the colors of the Barrett A. C.

In the open events Ed Gathman and his Elgin S. C. mates swept the field in the class B one mile event. Gathman won the race, with Melvin Labauer second and Jimmy Smith third.

The class C mile race was won by Earl McConnell of the Northwest Triangles, while the half mile novice class event went to Charles Dierman of the Avondale Playground.

John Irving was victor in the 440 yard event for boys under 14 years. Summaries:

TODAY IS LAST CHANCE TO ENTER SOUTH SIDE MEET

Kopp, Coulon Select Their Golden Gloves Squads.

Entries for the south division preliminaries of the Golden Gloves tournament to be held at White City on Feb. 17 and 18 close at midnight. Entries bearing today's postmark received tomorrow will be accepted.

Among the strong team entries filed for the White city tests is Johnny Kopp's Boxing school in Roseland. Kopp, former boxer, has entered fourteen boys who have had a year or more of experience. Among these is Toots Rago, who finished third in the lightweight division a year ago.

Coulon Enters Team.

Leo Mylinski, a hard hitting light heavyweight who has won most of his fights by knockouts, will be a finalist, according to Kopp. Paul Adducci will be the school's representative in the middleweight division, and Jimmy Hopkins in the featherweight. James Sands will wear the club's colors in the flyweight class. Kopp is giving his fighters personal instruction, and feels sure he will send a number to the finals at the Coliseum on Feb. 25, 26, 27, and 28.

Johnny Coulon, former world's bantamweight champion who conducts a gymnasium at 1154 East 63d street, has nominated twelve fighters. The former 118 pound title holder has been grooming his team for THE TRIBUNE tourney for three months. He has held trials to determine his best boxers and is confident they will make a good showing.

Many individual entries were received for the south side trials, and the total may exceed the north or central preliminaries.

All plans have been completed for staging the first set of preliminaries at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium tomorrow night. Dressing quarters have been arranged for the boxers, scales installed, and officials are ready to report early.

All Is in Readiness.

The ring and seats will be installed tomorrow morning so that the building will be ready to handle a capacity crowd on both nights. There will be from forty to fifty fights each night. The first bout will be staged at 7 o'clock each night. Admission will be fifty cents and one dollar. There will be no reserved seats.

Fighters must report to be weighed and examined not later than 6 o'clock. Drawings will be made at 6:30 so that the first contest can go on promptly at 7 o'clock.

In all preliminaries winners of the first four places in each class will qualify for the Coliseum finals. Those who win first and second places at the Coliseum automatically will make the Chicago team which will meet New York at the Chicago Stadium on March 19.

STARTING THE SLEEPLESS JOURNEY

Col. Robert Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, starts the riders competing in the six day bike race at the Stadium. The race to nowhere ends at 11 o'clock Saturday night.

*Leader—McNamara.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Jimmy Walthour and Franz Deulberg led the six day bike race at the Chicago Stadium at midnight last night after three hours of riding, during which one contestant suffered a broken collarbone and two combinations were broken up.

The revamped combination of Alfonso Zuchetti and Paul Brocardo was second and Reggie McNamara and Gaetano Belloni were third. The three teams were tied in mileage but points won in their sprints determined their positions.

A crowd of 4,000 was treated to some of the greatest riding ever seen at the opening night of a six day grind in Chicago. Five minutes after the gun was fired the first jam started. It was stopped only when riders fell in a heap on the track.

Form New Team.

The most serious spill of the night came in the sprints. Fred Spencer, Alfred Letourner, and Anthony Piemontasi locked handle bars and went down in a heap on the back stretch. Letourner was carried to the training room where it was found he had suffered a broken right collarbone. Spencer and Piemontasi resumed racing after a short rest.

When the extent of Letourner's injury was announced Promoter Chapman broke up the Zuchetti-Piemontasi combination and teamed Zuchetti with Brocardo, the partner of Letourner. The new pair were penalized one lap but when they went on the track pulled up on even terms in mileage with the leaders during a jam.

At the time Letourner was forced out of the race the French team was out in front. Letourner had been doing the best riding of any of the experts. His sprinting carried him around the track at a dizzy clip and he took all sorts of chances in going through the relief riders.

Series of Mishaps.

In a spill, which took place on the east turn, Gerard De Baets, Anthony Beckman, Henry Lemoine, and Reggie McNamara hit the boards. After a short rest, during which skin bruises were dressed, they resumed racing. Piemontasi, Spencer, and Letourner fell in another jam. At another time Brocardo's front tire blew and he slid down the track, but was not hurt.

There were so many spills that it took nearly two hours to complete the series of ten two mile sprints.

The jamming started shortly after the race had started. Delponte jumped the field, but the pack chased and caught him. McNamara then cut loose, but was caught by Letourner, who kept on going. He made a perfect pickup with Brocardo and the Frenchman soon gained a lap on the field. They held this advantage up to the time Letourner was injured.

Kid Team Also Broken Up.

Just before midnight the kid team of Lance Claudel of New Orleans and Pete Smessaert of Chicago was broken up. Claudel withdrew and his partner had four hours in which to find another partner.

The field of fifteen teams was sent away from a rolling start after the riders had been introduced. Col. Robert Randolph, president of the Chicago Chamber of Commerce, fired the starting gun. Alfonso Zucchetti of Italy led the pack around the circuit after the gun. Gerard De Baets, who has Anthony Beckman for a partner, led at the end of the first mile. Anthony Piemontasi of Italy was the first rider to fall. He blew a tire on the back stretch and fel lat the east turn.

Calamity Jane Grows Erratic; Jones Shoots 80

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Bobby Jones, national open champion who will lead the American invasion of England in quest of the Walker Cup April 30, lost a close decision to his putter today as he made an informal start on preparations for the 1930 golfing wars.

The disagreement between Jones and Calamity Jane, the putter, resulted in an unimpressive total of 80 for 18 holes. He played in a foursome arranged in honor of Miss Marion Hollis, who stopped over in Atlanta en route to her home in California to play with Jones over his home course.

Midwicks Lose Polo Final to Argentines

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Argentina's four horsemen of the Pampas today won the Pacific coast open polo championship by defeating the Midwick team of Los Angeles on the latter's picturesque field, 8 to 7.

The Pampas riders thrilled 15,000 spectators by one of the fastest exhibitions ever offered here. Midwick rallied desperately in the final chukker, but the Argentines staved off the drive.

Midwick went into the seventh chukker on the short end of a 7 to 3 score. Led by Capt. Carleton Burke, the coast four rallied to score twice in each of the remaining periods, but Capt. Manuel Andrada's four put over a goal in the final chukker to win.

Elmer Boeske, Midwick star, who scored all but one of the local team's points, missed a chance to give his team a tie. The South Americans by close guarding had fouled Boeske in the last period, but Boeske's free shot went six inches wide and the game ended. The last of the four goals made by Juan Reynal, star No. 3 for the Argentines, was the margin of victory.

The expert passing of Eric Pedley probably enabled Boeske to account for three of his points.

ARGENTINES [8.]		MIDWICK [7].

CHICAGO PLAYERS SCORE.

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—Heavy scoring marked today's polo matches at the Nautilus field. The Lambs ran up nine goals to whip the Flamingos, who got six, and the Cardinals scored nine in a round robin match, while the Flamingos tallied only four and the Rovers three.

Russell Firestone of Akron, O., was outstanding in the round robin event, scoring four goals for the Cardinals. Bob Hassler of Indianapolis and Earl Reynolds and John Hertz of Chicago also scored for the victors.

Roberti K. O.'s Baffi to Win Italian Championship

FLORENCE, Italy, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Roberto Roberti tonight won the Italian heavyweight championship, knocking out Baffi in the fourth round of a title fight.

Bruins Trail, 11-0, at Half; Beaten, 18-15

New York, Feb. 9.—[Special.]—A second half rally by the Chicago Bruins failed tonight and Brooklyn scored an 18 to 15 victory.

The Bruins were held scoreless in the first period, Brooklyn leading 11 to 0. It was the first time this ever has been accomplished in an American Basketball league game during its five years of existence.

It was a different story in the second half. Twice the Bruins were within two points of a tie.

Honey Russell scored the first basket for Chicago from the side of the court. He followed with another a minute later, but Joe Brennan equalized with a short shot. Two baskets by Hickey while Brennan was caging a free throw for Brooklyn cut the margin to 14 to 8. The Bruins continued the attack and when Nat Hickey tossed the ball through the net from half the length of the court had come within two points of a tie at 16 to 14.

Joe Brennan's free throw gave the Triangles a three point lead, but a one pointer by Tillie Voss brought the Brooklyn lead back to two points. Scrill was fouled and he made good to give the Triangles their winning margin with but a minute to play. Brooklyn stalled until the final whistle. Lineup:

ALLISON BEATS BELL IN FINALS AT SAN ANTONIO

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 9—(AP)—Wilmer Allison, Davis cup team player, today won the singles championship match in the San Antonio Country club's invitation tennis tournament by defeating Berkeley Bell of Austin, Tex. Allison, also from Austin, tightened up in the fifth set to beat Bell in five straight games, winning the set and the match.

CUBS, BROWNS, SOX MEET ON BOWLING ALLEYS

Bowling supremacy among baseball athletes in these parts was decided last night on Jimmy Smith's alleys in the North Park hotel. Ray Schalk, Cubs coach, paired with Hank Marino, outclassed Fred Blake of the Cubs, Bill Cissel of the White Sox and Oscar Melillo of the St. Louis Browns, who alternated as partners with Smith.

The first game gave Schalk 204 and Marino 155, against Cissel's 152 and Smith's 214. In the second game, Schalk scored 187 and Marino 210, to 136 for Blake and 252 for Smith. The third brought 191 for Schalk and 224 for Marino, with Smith scoring 207 and Melillo 162.

LA RABIDA FIVE NIPS ENGLEWOOD IN K. OF C. UPSET

Dowling Scores 15-12 Win Over Calumet.

Two upsets marked yesterday's play in the south section of the Knights of Columbus basketball league at White City, both Englewood and Calumet, runners up in the division, going down to defeat. La Rabida defeated Englewood, 28 to 19, the losers failing to score a field goal in the second period, while Dowling took Calumet's measure, 15 to 12, in a slow game.

If Handmade Remember!

Spit is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

. . . the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency . . . join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

Thousands of men who would gladly trounce a spitter caught in the act continue, nevertheless, to accept cigars rolled by dirty fingers and tipped with spit! And remember more than half of all cigars made in this country are made by hand, and therefore subject to the risk of spit!

Certified Cremo protects you against this abomination! Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods developed by the United States Government during the war. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip the cigars without the possibility of spit!

Try a Certified Cremo—see how wonderfully good it is! Made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, we claim Certified Cremo's quality is tastier than that of any other cigar. Don't let its 5c price stand in your way. Your physician has in mind a cigar like Certified Cremo when he recommends a mild smoke in place of heavy brands.

Crush-proof...immaculate...foil-wrapped... Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly was thinking of when he said: "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar!"

FATHER AND SON WIN IN JUNIOR SKI TOURNAMENT

10,000 Watch First Meet at Riis Park.

A father and son combination, Karl and Harvey Nelson, carried away the honors in the first annual junior ski tournament at Jacob Riis park yesterday. The meet, sponsored by the northwest parks commissioners with the assistance of officials of the Norge and Ogden Dunes Ski clubs, was the first of its kind held in Chicago and attracted a crowd of more than 10,000.

Harvey began the Nelson family's day by capturing the event for boys from 14 to 16 years old with a leap of 45 feet. His father then won the special event for adults by going 51 feet from a standing start. Both father and son are members of the Norge Ski club.

Youngsters Leap, Too.

In addition to the events for older boys, a jump for youngsters under 12 was held. Jackie Clark of the Forest Preserve club won with a leap of 39 feet. Sonny Radtin of Evanston, 7 years old, was the featured entrant in the event, but came to grief without accident before he hopped off.

Harold Hansen, also of the Norge club, took first honors in the 12 to 14 year class, while Karl Hendrickson won the event for boys over 16 years of age.

Presents Prizes Feb. 24.

Prizes for the winners of the various events will be presented at a gathering to be held at Blackhawk park on Feb. 24. In addition to the medals to be presented the winners, the commissioners of the northwest parks district decided that every boy who competed will be presented with a bronze button.

The results of yesterday's meet follow:

Under 12 years—Won by Jackie Clark, Forest Preserve; second, Robert Carlstone; third, Alfred Vornow.

12 to 14 years—Won by Harold Hansen, Norge Ski club; second, Buddy Engedahl; third, Norman Jacobson.

14 to 16 years—Won by Harvey Nelson, Norge Ski club; second, Orrin Wingsnes; third, Rob Frederiksen.

Over 16 years—Won by Karl Henricksen; second, Edward Hansen; third, Cleland Clark; fourth, Allen Alsaker; fifth, Jack Doer; sixth, George Petrak.

GRABINER MAKES PLANS FOR SOX TRAINING TRIP

Harry Grabiner, secretary of the White Sox, returned yesterday from a two weeks' vacation in Florida and will buckle down to work today on the matter of arrangements for the getaway of the battery men next Saturday.

It is not known how many players will start for San Antonio from here and how many will proceed direct from their homes to camp. Something pertaining to signed contracts and holdouts, if any, may become known as soon as Owner Comiskey returns to the city. He is motoring back from Florida and is scheduled to arrive tomorrow.

Gus Sonnenberg in Good Condition After Operation

Providence, R. I., Feb. 9.—(AP)—The condition of Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestler, who was operated on here yesterday for an abscess on the groin and infection resulting from mat burns, was reported tonight to be good. It was said he would probably be able to keep his engagement to wrestle Joe Stecher in Miami, Fla., on Feb. 19.

Chicago Nationals Defeat East Chicago Five, 28-16

The Chicago Nationals' basketball team defeated East Chicago yesterday, 28 to 16, at East Chicago. Tonight the Nationals play Cicero Boosters at Trinity gym.

Illinois Basketball Team Invades N. U. Court Tonight

Illinois' basketball team, on its way home from Minneapolis, where it was defeated Saturday night by the Gophers, 26 to 21, will invade Patten gymnasium tonight to meet Northwestern. The two teams are tied with Indiana for fourth place in the Big Ten race with three victories and two defeats each.

ARTHUR LONBERG.

Minnesota, playing its best basketball of the season, won from the Illini by a last period rally which produced five points after the score had been tied at 21 all. The defeat undoubtedly will stir Coach Ruby's men so that the Wildcats will have a harder game than had the Illini been victorious.

Wildcats Revise Lineup.

Northwestern has been idle for two weeks, save for the victory over Marquette last Friday night. Coach Lonborg probably will start his revised lineup, which functioned so well against the Hilltoppers. Mundy and Whelan, forwards; Bergherrh, center, and Riel and McCarnes, guards, are his selections.

Wednesday night Northwestern meets Indiana at Evanston and on Saturday goes to Madison for the return engagement with Coach Meanwell's team. Indiana holds a 36 to 22 victory over the Wildcats, while Northwestern won the opening game from Wisconsin, the only defeat the Badgers have suffered this year.

Purdue Leads Race.

Indiana also meets Chicago at Bloomington, while Minnesota plays the other half of its schedule with Illinois at Champaign.

Purdue continues to set the pace for the Big Ten with four victories. Chicago and Ohio State were added to the Boilermakers' list of triumphs last week. Purdue will finish the first half of its schedule Saturday night, meeting Ohio State at Columbus.

Michigan did not play last week because of examinations, but the Wolverines moved into third place by virtue of the Illini downfall at Minneapolis.

JOLIET AND LEO QUINTETS DIVIDE

De La Salle of Joliet and Leo of the south section divided a Catholic league doubleheader at the former's gym yesterday. The Joliet heavies hung up their fourth victory with a 35 to 12 score, while the visiting lights took a 23 to 10 decision. Simon and Kelo led the winning heavies, while Young, Lenner, and Hayes featured for the Leo lights. Lineups:

Kenny Beats Tebbe; Ties Thurnblad for Cue Lead

Len Kenny last night went into a tie with Art Thurnblad for first place in the Chicago all star three cushion billiard tournament by defeating Harmon Tebbe, 50 to 27, in 69 innings, at Kleckhefer's recreation rooms. Both had high runs of five. In another league game Ed Peters defeated Charley Carr, 50 to 38, in 60 innings.

Becker Takes Champion Dog on Quail Hunt

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Punta Gorda Fla. Feb. 9.—It was just like the first day of an Old Home Week celebration this morning when Kelly Day, a resident of Punta Gorda, took us around to greet and swap experiences with Rex, the famous pointer dog that we met last year.

Rex, a graduate of the school of quailcraft and recently awarded his Ph. D. degree for research on the Florida bob whites, was eleven years old in November but this old master is still going strong. We received a few wags from his tail when we renewed our acquaintance with the old veteran this morning and we soon learned that Rex is unchanged by his honors.

Rex Still Friendly.

Now the most famous pointer in southwest Florida and by far the most brilliant and mechanically perfect shooting dog that we have ever seen, Rex still is a friendly old rascal who loves a lot of attention. This liver and white pointer has had more than 5,000 quail shot over him. Needless to say all the gold bars in the U. S. mint couldn't buy Rex.

In company with Paul H. Davis, Chicago investment banker, and Kelly Day we left Punta Gorda this morning to see what Rex and his promising young son, Bozo, could do on these small, hard running Florida quail. It was a cool day, for this part of Florida. A brisk wind was blowing from the north when we checked out of town, just the kind of a day you want for a hunt. Easy on the dogs and not too warm for the hunters.

Head for Prairies.

Kelly headed the old bus for the broad, silent prairie barrens east of Punta. This country, flat as a table, covered with grass and palmettos and broken occasionally by cypress swamps and cabbage palm hammocks, is by far the most fascinating territory that we have seen down here.

It is virtually untenanted and as silent and remote as any city dweller tired of noise could wish for. Day said it was literally alive with quail. So into the prairie barren we went with Prof. Rex, the old quail master

NAVY LOG SHOWS SPLIT WITH ARMY STARTED IN 1903

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Commander Jonas Ingram, director of athletics at the United States Naval academy here, today said a log had been prepared setting forth the outstanding incidents in connection with the break of athletic relations with the military academy at West Point in 1927.

The log, several thousand words in length and including the official communications of the superintendents of the two schools, will be mailed tomorrow to every member of the Navy Athletic association and published in the Navy Athletic News, Commander Ingram said.

According to the log, a chronological summary of the controversy, the difference between the service schools dates back to 1903.

FARM BOARD IS MAIN FACTOR IN WHEAT MARKET

Definition of Policy Is Awaited by Traders.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Stabilizing efforts on the part of the federal farm board are the leading factors in the wheat market, and it is expected to be until its policies are well defined and put into operation in futures.

Its purchases of more than 2,000,000 bu of cash wheat, mostly in the northwest, since its operations started three or four weeks ago helped to sustain values of futures late in the week, while in the early trading liquidation and general pressure carried wheat prices down to the lowest of the season, showing a loss of 47⅛c from the high in midsummer, with a drop to $1.16½ for May, with a rally in the closing day to $1.22¾, the best of the week, with a finish at $1.20¾@ 1.20⅝. Net changes for the week recorded losses of 16@2¼c, taking the various futures.

Largest shorts are said to have covered their wheat trades, while others are interested mainly in spreads between Chicago and Winnipeg. In some instances wheat traders have gone into corn because the government is not interested in that grain at present.

Announcement that a stabilizing corporation is to be formed by the federal farm board brought a reversal in sentiment in certain quarters, while a large percentage of the operators remain pessimistic and see no permanence in higher prices until stocks are greatly reduced, mainly through export purchases. Domestic supplies are decreasing at a moderate rate. Europe, it is said, will want 1,000,000 bu of wheat from North America and will get it largely from Canada unless prices for hard winters in American markets are put on a competitive basis. It is admitted that competition between exporting countries is to be sharp from now on, and unless American prices are made attractive to foreigners that country will be the last resort for supplying foreign requirements.

There is a belief in certain quarters that supplies in Argentina, Australia, Kansas, are sufficient to satisfy all European requirements for the balance of the season, with no prospects of an immediate shortage or an urgent demand from importers. Even at the lowest level of last week there were no indications of a greatly improved export demand, although there was said to be a liberal removal of hedges against cash wheat.

There is uncertainty as to whether the Canadian government will help the wheat pool of that country, but it is believed that the American farm board which bought cash wheat last week at material premiums over futures and have done no selling, will make an effort to stabilize values through its new company now being formed.

Reduction in stocks of wheat in various positions is disappointingly slow, and unless they are cut down materially in the next five months they will be above the average at the end of the season, not only in the United States but in Canada. Advancing of prices within the next few months, it is believed, would encourage American and Canadian spring wheat farmers to increase their acreage. In Canada the moisture situation at present shows a deficit which must be taken into consideration later.

Taking the world's wheat situation in all, with credit and exchange conditions improved in nearly all countries, present prices for wheat are not high, yet the trade is in a position where greatly increased buying of cash and futures is necessary for a good sustained advance.

Despite all the bearish conditions wheat futures in Chicago closed with net losses of only 1@2¼c for the week, after a range of 6c. March closed at $1.16½, July, 1.21¾@1.21⅞, and September, $1.24@1.24½. Prices follow:

Corn Traders Are Mixed.

Professional traders who have been in wheat are taking hold of corn futures, basing their operations on the belief that there will be no large supplies the balance of the season, as consumption on farms has been heavy. Stocks in Chicago are comparatively small, about 3,000,000 bu, and the total visible is 15,000,000 bu, compared with 26,000,000 bu last year. On the other hand there is a bear interest who are selling futures on every bulge, basing their operations on the slowness in the demand for feeds, with barley being fed extensively in numerous sections to replace corn because of its cheapness. There are enough followers on both sides of the market to make an interesting situation.

Primary receipts since Nov. 1 have been practically 88,000,000 bu compared with 120,000,000 bu last year, while Chicago has received 26,000,000 bu, against 43,000,000 bu last year.

Prices are around 6c lower than last year. At the close net gains were ⅝@1c for the week, with March 85⅛c, May 92⅛@92¼c, and July 94⅛@94c, and September 94⅛c. Prices follow:

Engineers Inspect Site of Proposed Tide Power Plant

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 9.—Representatives of the Insull utility interests and of the General Electric and Westinghouse companies have recently visited the site of the proposed power plant to harness the tides in a branch of the Bay of Fundy, it has been learned, but so far as could be ascertained no negotiations exist at present for the actual construction of the plant.

Dexter P. Cooper, prominent electrical engineer, is understood to have redrafted plans for the proposed tide power plant in order to dispense with the cooperation of Canadian authorities. The plant, if built, will be located only in American territory, where a series of powerful dams will be constructed to capture the high tide and regulate the ebb flow, generating power on the way back to the sea.

STEEL OPERATIONS.

While many of the steel companies in the Youngstown district plan increased operations, there are one or two that will not. Wall street has been advised, with the result that the average operations will drop from 58½ of per cent of rated capacity

LEGAL ASPECTS OF RAIL MERGER PLAN DEBATED

Raise Questions on I.C.C. Program.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 9.—Discussion of the legal aspects of consolidation occupied the minds of railroad men last week.

Whether the interstate commerce commission's plan is a determining factor in its decisions on individual mergers was one question debated. Another was the status of the four merger petitions in the light of the letter of Charles D. Mahaffie, director of the commission's finance division.

Other legal questions which have aroused attention are the proposal that congress direct the commission as to valuation methods to be followed and the congressional inquiry into railroad holding companies and the advisability of empowering the commission to take jurisdiction over them.

Raised at Hearings.

The question of the position of the commission's consolidation plan was raised at the hearing on the Baltimore and Ohio's petition for control of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, in which the D. & H. intervened. The D. & H. contended that the commission must lawfully consider its complete plan for railroad consolidation as a determining factor in reaching a decision upon the application of the B. & O. The B. & O. replied in effect that this argument was put forward merely to delay the proceedings.

E. T. Newcomb, counsel for the D. & H. contended that insistence that the general plan was a determining factor should lead to "meaningless" hearings.

The question was raised on oral argument whether, in view of the announcement of a general plan for unification of railroads, the intervener must move for a hearing and modification of that plan, before it is in a position to urge that the proper procedure in the instant application of the Baltimore and Ohio is dismissal of the application without prejudice.

As Correctly Stated.

"This is obviously equivalent to asserting that no person can offer in any proceeding under paragraphs 2, 3, or 6 of section 5 (of the interstate commerce act) to show that the finding of public interest required by these paragraphs ought not to be made in respect of any combination indicated by the 'plan' unless petition to modify the plan has first been filed. Thus accurately stated the proposition refutes itself for if it were sound the hearing required would be a mere sham, a meaningless and energy wasting gesture."

YOUNG GIANNINI MADE HEAD OF TRANSAMERICA

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 9.—(AP)—L. M. Giannini has been made president of Transamerica corporation, succeeding his father, A. P. Giannini. Elisha Walker of New York was elected chairman of the directorate and of the executive committee. The younger Giannini announced a policy of aggressive expansion both in America and Europe would be pursued by the large bank holding corporation this year.

The corporation's founder, A. P. Giannini, will retain his influence in the management by serving as chairman of the advisory committee. Jean Monnet, associated with Walker in Bancamerica-Blair corporation, a subsidiary of Transamerica, was made vice chairman of the board. Walker and Monnet, it became known at the directors meeting, had become large stockholders.

JEWEL TEA CO. HAS BEST YEAR; SALES EXPAND

The Jewel Tea company had the most prosperous period in its history last year, according to the annual report issued last night by President M. H. Karker. Total sales were $16,844,110, an increase of $873,217, or 5.47 per cent, over 1928. The number of stores in operation increased from 1,121 to 1,215.

Net profit for the year was $1,691,302, equivalent to $6.04 a share on 280,000 common shares outstanding at the end of the year. The company sold 40,000 common shares in January, 1929, and retired its outstanding preferred stock with part of the proceeds. Last June a 75 per cent stock dividend was paid. Net profit for 1928 was $1,530,888, which was equivalent to $5.47 a share on the common stock, figured on the number of shares now outstanding.

WALGREEN SALES, PROFITS SHOW GAIN OVER 1928

Gains in net profits and sales for 1929 are reported by the Walgreen company and subsidiary firms. Net income last year amounted to $3,130,465 after all charges, which is equal after preferred dividends to $3.29 a share on the 858,409 shares of common stock outstanding at the end of the year. In 1928 the company earned $2,752,452, or $2.98 a share on the 828,227 shares then outstanding.

Sales for 1929 totaled $46,622,639, which compares to $31,389,313 in the previous twelve months. The balance sheet shows current assets of $8,787,634, as against current liabilities of $2,862,629.

Chase National Concludes Plans for Cuban Loan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 9.—The Chase National bank has concluded negotiations with the government of the republic of Cuba for the purchase of $40,000,000 of its public works 5½ per cent gold bonds, maturing June 30, 1945. Public offering of the bonds will be made soon by a group headed by the Chase Securities corporation, the Bancamerica Blair corporation, the Equitable Corporation of New York, and the Continental Illinois company.

Finds Necessities of War Are Stimulant to Science

BY SCRUTATOR.

The pacifist theory that war is always a waste and that adequate national defense is necessarily a losing proposition does not hold good in the modern world to a much greater extent than it did in the ancient and medieval.

Science and finance owe much to soldiers and to their necessities. It was the need for the components of the bronze armor of Mediterranean peoples that led their mariners to sail beyond the gates to the Atlantic and up to Britain, where there was tin. The conquests of Alexander in the east resulted in the distribution of the world's hoarded gold and its circulation among trading peoples.

Later times brought more impressive evidence. The science of engineering, as we know it today, is the outgrowth of warfare. Here is a statement on the subject from W. A. Starrett, a leader in the building activities of American cities:

Sees Paradox.

"It is paradoxical that this great branch of human knowledge (engineering) requiring for its full development an undisturbed national peace, was in fact begotten of a military necessity. The 'ingenieur' was developed out of his ingenuity in constructing military bridges and fortifications and redoubts and drainage systems and diversions—always for the armies to which he was attached. And their ingenuities were such that, as a class, they continued to practice and became civil engineers, to distinguish them from the military specialists they started out to be."

Because the early settlers in the United States wanted lead for bullets, mining and smelting of this important metal, which has numerous peacetime usages, were started in Pennsylvania as early as 1621, were taken up in New England in 1650 for the same reason and also under a grant from the French king in the Mississippi valley in 1720.

Manufacture of machinery with interchangeable parts which can be made to fit precisely other parts of a completed article was given its first great impetus in New England factories where rifles for use in the Civil war were demanded in large quantity. The sewing machine and the soldier's weapon were the forerunners of the whole present setup of manufacturing efficiency.

Military Matter First.

Search for explosives was first a military matter. Research that led to the perfection of more destructive powders was pushed by army men. Now the demand for use in peaceful pursuits probably is greater than it ever was in wartime. The real impetus to aviation, previous to Col. Lindbergh's flight, came during the world war.

France maintains a large standing army, the largest in the western world. France has no unemployment problem, as contrasted to the British isles. Also, in the French coffers rests the largest supply of gold in proportion to needs of any country. This does not mean that France is more prosperous than other nations that get along with only a few fighting men in steady work. It does mean that there is a probability France would be facing more serious problems if she adopted pacifism as a creed.

Household Finance Corp. Net $3,372,418 for Year

Household Finance corporation for the twelve months ended Dec. 31, 1929, showed net income after all charges of $3,372,418 against $2,309,405 for 1928, according to the annual report made public today by L. C. Harbison, president. Employment of more capital in the business and acquisition by purchase of forty small loan offices during the year account for the increase.

Morgan & Co. Offers Rail Bond Issues of $25,000,000

New York, Feb. 9.—New financing aggregating $25,000,000 for the Morris and Essex Railroad company, which is under lease to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company, is announced for tomorrow, with the offering of two issues of bonds of the road by J. P. Morgan & Co.

AIR REDUCTION CO. EARNS $7.75 A SHARE; BIG GAIN OVER 1928

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Net earnings of the Air Reduction company for 1929 amounted to $5,972,995, equal to $7.75 a share on 770,402 3-5 shares of capital stock, compared with $3,208,933 or $4.60 a share on 696,793 3-5 shares in 1928.

The Atlantic Refining company and subsidiaries report for 1929 net profits of $17,332,000, equal to $6.79 a share on the common stock, as against $16,849,000, or $7.72 a share, in the preceding years on a lower capitalization.

Net profits of the United States Dairy Products corporation for the year ended Nov. 30, 1929, amounted to $1,720,830, compared with $1,169,300 for the preceding year, an increase of 47.17 per cent. The 1929 profits are equal to $4.04 a share on the outstanding class "B" stock, as of the end of the year.

Technicolor, Inc., earned a net profit of $1,173,980.36 for the year ending Dec. 31, 1929, an increase of $1,220,170.38 over 1928, according to the financial report signed by Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, president. The company showed a deficit of $46,190.20 for 1928.

Estimate White Motor Co. Earnings at $2,875,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 9.—The White Motor company reports that advance figures indicate a net profit of $2,875,000 for 1929, equivalent to $3.50 a share on 800,000 shares. This compares with a net profit for 1928 of $2,320,000. Robert M. Woodruff, president of the company, said the figures reflected a continued increase in sales and profits. The 1929 sales were substantially ahead of 1928, and December business was the second largest in the company's history for the month. Interest in buses has been maintained and 1930 should be a profitable year, Mr. Woodruff says.

SIGNS CONFUSE, BUT BUSINESS IS OPTIMISTIC

Wall St., Industry Ditch Gloom.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 9.—At present the attitude of the financial and business community may be summarized as one of increasing hopefulness but also of increasing perplexity.

The spirit of hopefulness is plainly reaction from an overdone pessimism in immediate sequel to last autumn's shock; both Wall street and outside industry are learning that in October and November, when the house of cards was collapsing on the stock exchange, they had made inadequate allowances for the fact that production and trade had not, since 1927, been indulging in the illusion and speculative extravagance adopted by the stock market.

But, on the other hand, the usually accepted signs of the real industrial situation are particularly confusing. Different industrial weather vanes are swinging in absolutely opposite directions. If it were not for our people's inveterate spirit of underlying financial confidence one might have expected an almost motionless stock market.

Steel Production.

On the one hand, last week's official report of January's steel production showed an increase of 21 per cent over December and, although it remained the lowest output for the month since 1924, nevertheless weekly estimates of productive activity have been raised from 60 per cent of capac-

Principal and interest will be payable in United States Gold Coin of or equal to the standard of weight and fineness existing on February 1, 1930, at the office or agency of the Corporation in New York City. Redeemable as a whole or in part at the option of the Corporation at 105 and accrued interest on any interest payment date on 60 days' notice.

TRUSTEE: CITY BANK FARMERS TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK

The Corporation agrees to pay principal and interest without deduction for any U. S. Federal Income Tax up to but not exceeding 2% per annum and without deduction for any present or future taxes of the Dominion of Canada or any Province, county or municipality therein, excepting income taxes on any resident of Canada and inheritance and succession taxes. The Corporation also agrees to refund on proper application: The Pennsylvania 4 mills tax; the California tax not in excess of 4 mills per annum; the Connecticut tax up to 4 mills annually; the Maryland Securities tax not exceeding 4½ mills per annum; or the Massachusetts Income tax or tax measured by income not exceeding 6% per annum on income derived from the Debentures; all as provided in the Debenture Agreement.

Count Giuseppe Volpi di Misurata, President of the Corporation, summarizes his letter as follows:

Business — The European Electric Corporation Limited has been organized under the laws of the Dominion of Canada to act in a supervisory capacity, either directly or through subsidiaries, for power and light and other public utility companies and to supply technical and financial assistance in connection with the financing, the business development and the operation of the companies and the construction of their properties. It will also engage, through one of its subsidiaries, in a general engineering and construction business.

The management of the Corporation will be composed of the men who organized and who for twenty-five years have managed and developed the Adriatic Electric Company system and have been among the pioneers of the electrical industry in Europe. With them will be associated, as directors of the Corporation, representatives of prominent Swiss and Italian electrical groups as well as important American electrical interests.

The Corporation will own substantial interests in the following European companies:

Società Adriatica di Elettricità (Adriatic Electric Company) an Italian Corporation
Compagnie Italo-Belge pour Entreprises d'Electricité et d'Utilité Publique (Italian-Belgian Electric & Public Utility Company) a Belgian Corporation
Compagnie Européenne pour Entreprises d'Electricité et d'Utilité Publique (European Electric & Public Utility Co.) a Belgian Corporation

In addition, the Corporation will have minority interests in a number of other electrical companies.

The Italian-Belgian Electric & Public Utility Company has entered into agreements for the development of certain power and light systems in Spain and Greece and now has under negotiation similar agreements for developments in other countries.

Assets — The indicated market value based on current quotations (or the approximate liquidating value in the case of stocks which are not quoted) as of February 1st, 1930 of the stocks about to be acquired by the Corporation, was in excess of $26,000,000. In addition to these holdings the Corporation will commence operations with more than $10,300,000 in cash.

Estimated Earnings — Based on present dividend policies and allowing a return of 5% on the Corporation's cash, it is estimated that the Corporation's income from dividends and interest alone will be more than 2.65 times the annual interest requirements of this issue of Thirty-Five Year 6½% Gold Debentures, Series due 1965.

Legal matters in connection with the issuance of these securities will be passed upon by Messrs. Winthrop, Stimson, Putnam & Roberts of New York, except that matters involving Italian and Belgian law will be passed upon by Avv. Roberto Pozzi of Milan, Italy, and Mr. Albert Deveze of Brussels, respectively, and matters of Canadian law by Messrs. Lafleur, MacDougall, Macfarlane & Barclay of Montreal, Canada.

Delivery will be made in the form of Interim Receipts of City Bank Farmers Trust Company, New York, exchangeable for Debentures in temporary or permanent form and accompanying Option Warrants in temporary form, when ready for delivery.

These Debentures with accompanying Option Warrants are offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of proceedings by counsel at 100 and accrued interest, to yield 6.50%

American Shares

General Italian Edison Electric Corporation

(Società Generale Italiana Edison di Elettricità)

Representing Ordinary Shares of Capital Stock

American Shares will be issued by City Bank Farmers Trust Company as Depositary under a Deposit Agreement dated as of October 10, 1929, each such American Share to represent one Ordinary Share of Lire 500 par value of the Capital Stock of General Italian Edison Electric Corporation (Società Generale Italiana Edison di Elettricità) deposited thereunder.

The Deposit Agreement will, in substance, provide that dividends received by the Depositary upon deposited shares shall be converted into dollars at rates then current, and the net proceeds paid pro rata to the registered holders of American Shares by check in United States Dollars; that twenty-five American Shares, or any multiple thereof, shall be exchangeable at any time for the corresponding par value of deposited shares (deliverable at the office of the agent of the Depositary in Europe); that after May 15, 1930, or prior thereto with the consent of The National City Company, any person may deposit ordinary shares of the Capital Stock of the Corporation at the office of the agent of the Depositary in Europe, with evidence of ownership thereof and of power to transfer title thereto, to make such deposit, to withdraw the shares, to sell them and to convert the proceeds into dollars, and against such deposit receive, in New York, certificates for American Shares. The Deposit Agreement will make provision whereby the holders of American Shares may exercise the voting rights on the corresponding deposited shares. For further information as to the rights of holders of American Shares, and as to the charges and fees on transfers or exchanges of American Shares, exchange thereof for deposited shares, deposit of additional shares, the collection of dividends and other matters, reference is made to the Deposit Agreement, copies of which are available at the office of CITY BANK FARMERS TRUST COMPANY, Depositary and Transfer Agent.

THE NATIONAL CITY BANK OF NEW YORK, Registrar.

The following is summarized from the letter of G. Motta, President and Managing Director of the General Italian Edison Electric Corporation:

The General Italian Edison Electric Corporation is both an operating and a holding company and, together with its subsidiary companies, operated and managed as a unit, constitutes the oldest and one of the largest electric light and power systems in Europe. The System serves a greater part of Italy's most important industrial section, extending from the Mediterranean to the Swiss border. The territory has an area of 14,000 square miles, a population of over 10,000,000, and embraces the manufacturing centers of Milan, Brescia, Como, etc., and the ports of Genoa, Spezia, Savona and the Italian Riviera.

The Edison System embraces generating plants with an aggregate capacity of approximately 1,400,000 horsepower, including more than 100 hydro-electric power plants with an installed capacity of 1,130,000 horsepower. The transmission and distribution net owned by the System covers a large part of Northern Italy, serving over 1,000,000 customers. In the year 1929 about 2,780,000,000 kilowatt hours were produced and purchased, representing over 25% of the total electric energy produced in Italy.

The funded debt of the General Italian Edison Electric Corporation outstanding as of December 31, 1928, amounted to $20,316,836, and the funded debt of its Constituent Companies amounted to $10,190,000, in addition to which the minority interests in their capital stocks and surplus, as of the same date, aggregated $23,691,400. The capital stock of the Corporation now outstanding consists of 2,645,896 Ordinary Shares and 54,104 Deferred Shares of a par value of Lire 500 each.

The consolidated earnings of the General Italian Edison Electric Corporation and its Constituent Companies for the three years ended December 31, 1926, 1927 and 1928, respectively, were as follows:

	Calendar Years 1926	1927	1928
Gross Earnings, including other income	$18,070,724.21	$27,080,641.83	$30,036,724.75
Operating Expenses, Repairs, Maintenance, Renewals and Taxes	9,439,163.36	13,899,598.21	14,447,355.16
Net Earnings Before Extraordinary Reserves for Depreciation	$ 8,631,560.85	$13,181,043.62	$15,589,369.59
Interest, Amortization of Discount, Minority Stockholders Equity and Sundry Charges	3,700,010.17	5,333,160.64	5,698,067.86
Balance Available for Extraordinary Reserves for Depreciation, Miscellaneous Appropriations and Dividends	$ 4,931,550.68	$ 7,847,882.98	$ 9,891,301.73
Extraordinary Reserves for Depreciation	1,243,083.66	2,168,474.07	3,739,592.62
Balance	$ 3,688,467.02	$ 5,679,408.91	$ 6,151,709.11

Consolidated earnings figures for 1929 will not be available until May, 1930, but are expected to indicate an increase over 1928 in the Balance Available for Extraordinary Reserves for Depreciation, Miscellaneous Appropriations and Dividends.

In the above consolidated earnings statements there are included, under the item "Operating Expenses, Repairs, Maintenance and Renewals," amounts fully sufficient to normally maintain the integrity of the investment. The balances after all prior charges and minority interests, but before Extraordinary Reserves for Depreciation, directors' fees and statutory reserves, indicate consolidated earnings, at rates of exchange given below, of $2.36, $3.86 and $4.75 a share for the years 1926, 1927 and 1928, respectively, based on the aggregate of 1,900,000 shares of Ordinary and Deferred Stocks outstanding during such years.

The Corporation has paid dividends on its Capital Stock, as from time to time outstanding, for every year since its organization in 1884. The cash dividend paid on the Ordinary Shares for the year 1928 was at the rate of 10%. American Shares will be entitled to the dividend for the year 1929, payable in April, 1930, which is also expected to be at the rate of 10%, equivalent at present exchange to about $2.61. Under existing Italian law there is no income tax or other deduction made from dividends declared by the Corporation.

Temporary certificates have been admitted to listing on The New York Stock Exchange on a "when issued" basis.

Price $44 per Share flat, yielding about 6%

Entitling holder to receive any dividends payable out of earnings for 1929 and subsequent years.

We offer these American Shares subject to allotment or prior sale, if, as and when received by us from the Depositary, subject to the approval of our counsel, Messrs. Shearman & Sterling, New York City, and Av. Rinaldo Vassia, Milan, Italy. It is expected that delivery in the first instance will be made on or about February 18, 1930, in the form of temporary certificates.

EDISON SERVICE

Annual Meeting of Stockholders Commonwealth Edison Company

The stockholders of the Commonwealth Edison Company are hereby notified that the regular annual meeting of the stockholders of said Company will be held in Customers' Hall, on the Second Floor of the Edison Building, 72 West Adams Street, in the City of Chicago, Illinois, on Monday, the 24th day of February, 1930, at 5:00 o'clock, P.M., for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors and of transacting such other business as may be properly brought before such meeting.

Pursuant to resolutions adopted by the Board of Directors of the Company, there will be submitted to the meeting the question of amending the Articles of Incorporation of the Company in two particulars. First, by increasing the number of Directors of the Company from nine to thirteen, and, Second, by increasing the Company's authorized capital stock from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000, all in accordance with the desire of the Board of Directors, as expressed in such resolutions; the stock representing such increase in authorized capital stock to be issued from time to time in the future as and when the Board of Directors may decide that new capital is necessary for corporate purposes.

ity at the beginning of January to something like 77 at the present time. On the other hand, freight carried on the railways in January, by last week's summarized returns, filled less cars by 222,000 than a year ago.

Except for one or two occasions in the traditionally light traffic of December, January's traffic was the smallest of any month since the middle of 1922. It will be nearly a week before the labor department gives out its figures of industrial employment in this country during January and preliminary estimates are contradictory, but December's ratio was the lowest of any month but one since the "deflation period" and January in the past has usually shown a decrease from December.

In other industries than steel indications of recovery are confusing. The late continuous fall in steel prices has been arrested. But the monthly "commodity index numbers" published last week by the mercantile agencies report the lowest general average, except for three or four months in 1927 and 1924, that has been reached since 1922 and the decline in agricultural values has continued into February.

Wheat, which had fallen 27 cents a bushel in January, lost nearly 4 cents more last week. Cotton, after falling 5¼ per cent in January, has gone 6 per cent lower still in the present month. There is little ground for wonderment that the industrial horizon should still seem obscure.

Yet nothing is more evident in financial markets than the fact that these obscurities are not causing outright discouragement. Much is allowed for the well known fact that emphatic change in the industrial situation as a whole occurs very rarely at this time of year.

Many of the larger business plans are necessarily in abeyance in midwinter. Producers and middlemen are watching to see what will be the effect of consumers' purchases of the greatly reduced production. If the trouble has been either overproduction or overconsumption during 1929, drastic and continued curtailment must at some point correct the unstable equilibrium —as it did not much more than a year after the far more dangerous crisis at the beginning of 1921. So, too, of the fall in prices.

Operating Revenues of C. & A. Increase for 1929

Operating revenues of the Chicago & Alton railroad were $188,007 more in 1929 than in 1928, as shown by a financial report issued by S. G. Lutz, vice president. The total was $28,728,354 for 1929, compared to $28,540,347 for 1928. Operating expenses were $22,023,502 in 1929, against $22,422,960 in 1928, and net railway operating income was $3,278,828 last year, and $2,750,872 the year before.

Market Stock Today of Italian Edison Concern

One of the first large offerings of capital stock to be placed upon the market since the crash of last fall will be made today when a syndicate headed by the National City company and including the Continental Illinois company will offer 140,000 American shares of the General Italian Edison Electric corporation.

Population of District, Official Estimate 55,000

The MIDDLE RIO GRANDE CONSERVANCY DISTRICT is a political subdivision of the State of New Mexico, created under an Act of the State Legislature primarily for the purpose of flood protection. The District embraces an area of approximately 210,000 acres, including the City of Albuquerque (the largest city in the State) and numerous other towns and also portions of the counties of Bernalillo, Sandoval, Socorro, and Valencia. The main Chicago-California line of the Santa Fe Railway traverses the District for about 75 miles and the El Paso main line of the same railway runs from Albuquerque to the southern boundary of the District, a distance of approximately 100 miles.

The District was organized in 1925 under the original Conservancy Act passed in 1923, amended by Chapter 45 of the Laws of 1927, and is patterned after the MIAMI CONSERVANCY ACT OF OHIO and the PUEBLO CONSERVANCY ACT OF COLORADO. The constitutionality of the Act has been upheld by the Supreme Court of the State of New Mexico, and its decision, in effect, has been held final by the Supreme Court of the United States.

These bonds constitute an obligation of the entire District and its full faith, credit and resources are irrevocably pledged for the prompt payment of same. They are secured by total benefits in the amount of $22,065,920, confirmed by the District Court of Bernalillo County, all of which are collectible, if necessary, together with interest thereon, in the form of tax assessments for the prompt payment of principal and interest. That portion of the benefits confirmed against the State of New Mexico, the counties of Bernalillo, Sandoval, Socorro and Valencia, the City of Albuquerque and other towns, are payable from AD VALOREM TAXES to be levied and collected by the respective political subdivisions. These benefits, together with benefits against the Santa Fe Railway, the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies, the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company, and other public utilities and urban property, total $11,747,079, or 135% of the total authorized bonds. The United States Government has authorized an appropriation of $1,593,311 towards the project.

Exceptional Opportunity for Securities Salesmen

An investment banking house has openings for high-grade salesmen who have had experience selling stocks, bonds or insurance.

This company participates in a general line of securities and also originates its own offerings. At the present time a new origination is about completed, which makes this opportunity particularly attractive.

An interview with our client will be arranged by us.

Far More Than Just Another Building!

THE Loop is crowded with buildings, new and old, which offer shelter, heat and elevator service. These three are bare essentials. You can buy them anywhere. ◆◆ But the new Chicago Board of Trade Building assures something more, something hard to measure in dollars—yet of definite value to every name on its bulletin board—82 years of fame—82 years of recognition as one of the outstanding commercial headquarters of the world. ◆◆ For this automatic prestige tenants here will pay no premium. Yet it is yours with the copy of the lease you sign, to place proudly on your letterhead—"Board of Trade Building!" ◆◆ Naturally this will be a building unexcelled in service, in fine materials, in careful workmanship, scientific floor planning. Its owners—exacting—have seen to that. Naturally it is close to all the interests of your business day—the financial district has literally grown up in its shadow. ◆◆ No office building in the Loop has a more logical reason for existence. None can more logically be your choice. ◆◆ Ready before May 1st, 1930. Albert H. Wetten & Co., Renting and Managing Agents, 231 South La Salle Street, State 3390.

TRADE EVENTS CREATE ACTIVE MARKET HERE

Wholesale Business Hits Season's Buying Peak.

BY HOWARD CARSWELL.

With such major attractions as the semi-annual convention of the Interstate Merchants' council and the observance of Chicago World City week the wholesale market here reached its winter peak of buying activity last week.

From the several trade shows, which supplemented the interstate merchants convention, comes reports which consistently state that gross sales volume was "more than satisfactory" and, in fact, much better than had been anticipated.

A spurt in both retail and wholesale activity during the week is reported by the Chicago Association of Commerce, with the larger establishments adding to the upturn by wide advertising campaigns. Two prominent wholesalers reported record sales for the first week of February.

Attendance Is Good.

The four days attendance of 2,100 retail merchants from 28 states and Canada at the merchants' convention not only exceeded that of any previous winter market convention but approached the all-time high of 2,220 at last August's summer conclave. The summer market and merchants' convention has always attracted more buyers and merchants to this city than has the winter market.

Two rival expositions in the gift, artwares, and novelties lines both reported a prosperous business for the week. According to E. W. Steinbeck, president of the Gifts, Artwares, and Novelties association, their exposition at the Stevens hotel attracted about 1,800 buyers who patronized the different lines of 150 exhibitors.

The Eastern Manufacturers and Importers' exhibit will continue for another week at the Palmer house. George F. Little of New York, its managing director, states that their gross volume has grown. Attendance of buyers at the displays of their 250 eastern manufacturers and exhibitors amounted to about 1,500. Chicago's prestige and favor as a city of conventions and trade shows is reacting in its favor as the central wholesale market, he said.

F. W. Woolworth.

Miss C. L. W.: Although December (1929) sales were slightly less than those for the like month of 1928, due to bad weather conditions in some districts and the fact that there were five Saturdays in December, 1928, and only four in December, 1929, F. W. Woolworth company's sales for 1929 were $303,033,894, against $287,315,364 in 1928. During 1929 the company increased the number of its stores from 1,725 to 1,828.

The company set a new record of earnings in 1929 with total income, available for dividends, amounting to $35,664,252, against $35,385,606 in 1928, $35,350,474 in 1927, and $28,204,928 in 1926.

Earnings in 1929 were equal to $3.66 per share on 9,750,000 shares of $10 par stock, compared with $9.07 per share on 3,900,000 par $25 shares in 1928.

At the close of 1929 current assets were $51,502,638 and current liabilities were $3,035,117, leaving a net working capital of $48,467,521, against $50,745,743 a year before. Surplus was $61,304,130, against $49,039,878 at the close of 1928.

Nachman Spring-filled.

C. G. G.: Nachman Spring-filled corporation was incorporated in June, 1928, and took over a business originally established in 1915. The company and its subsidiaries manufacture a diversified line of spring constructions for furniture, automotive and airplane manufacturers. Plants are located at Chicago, Grand Rapids, Brooklyn, Los Angeles, Norfolk and Chelsea, Mass.

For the fiscal year ended June 15, 1929, net sales were $4,879,569 and net profit was $394,035, equal to $3.58 per share earned on 101,500 no par shares outstanding.

As of June, 15, 1929, current assets were $2,307,460 and current liabilities were $715,362, leaving a net working capital of $1,592,098. Surplus was $1,185,649.

Dividends are being paid at the annual rate of $3 per share.

The stock is medium grade and speculative.

Nebraska Power.

O. W. E.: Nebraska Power company first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, series "A", due June 1, 1949, and the company's first mortgage 6's, series "B", due June 1, 1949, are secured by first mortgage on all the property of the company. This security is regarded as strong.

Earnings in the five years ended Dec. 31, 1928, averaged $2,361,225, approximately four times interest charges on these bonds.

Both the series "A" and "B" bonds are sound.

To Show "Ideal" Hardware Store at Dealers' Meet

An "ideal" hardware store, stocked in such a fashion that the customer will find no kegs of nails or rolls of chicken wire to stumble over, will be one of the exhibits at the convention of the Illinois Retail Hardware Dealers' association, opening Tuesday at the Hotel Sherman. Among the displays will be a line of chemically heated pads, one of which is designed for attachment to a hunter's gun to keep his trigger finger warm while he is in the field.

Chinese Rail Needs Outlined by U. S. Expert

SHANGHAI, Feb. 9.—(AP)—J. J. Mantell of New York, American railway expert and former vice president of the Erie railroad, has submitted an analysis of China's railway needs to the Nationalist government, stating that experienced personnel, efficient management and stricter financial accounting of railroad finances were absolute necessities if railways ever were to gain a sound footing in China.

For the last year Mantell has been making a survey under the direction of the ministry of railways to determine methods for general rehabilitation, co-ordination and expansion of the country's railways. In making his report Mantell said that the administration of Chinese railroads was characterized by "wholesale inefficiency in all departments and wholesale lack of experienced personnel, while all departments were over-staffed and there was unnecessary waste of money."

Mantell said that every railroad in China excepting the Shanghai-Nanking and the Peking-Mukden lines was bankrupt as a result of inefficient management coupled with wholesale military interference.

None of the country's several rail systems, he asserted, had been developed for economical administration and transportation and for obtaining new business.

MADISON-KEDZIE TRUST & SAVINGS BANK

MADISON & KEDZIE STATE BANK

THE MADISON KEDZIE TRUST & SAVINGS BANK has acquired the deposit liability of the Madison & Kedzie State Bank, one of the city's largest outlying banks, effective Monday, February 10, 1930.

The Madison-Kedzie Trust & Savings Bank will undertake to render a highly satisfactory banking service following sound banking practice, at the same location, northeast corner of Madison Street and Kedzie Avenue. The Madison & Kedzie State Bank for many years has afforded banking facilities to this section of the city, and officers and employees who have worked with customers of that bank in the past will continue to serve them at the Madison-Kedzie Trust & Savings Bank.

Responsibility for the management of the Bank is in the hands of its Board of Directors and its Advisory Committee, each composed of men with outstanding records of achievement in the business and financial world. The experience, background, and banking judgment of these men will insure for the Madison-Kedzie district a strong and complete financial service second to none and keyed to keep pace with the community's constant growth in business and population.

Believing that it will best further its own growth by fostering the prosperity of its depositors, the Madison-Kedzie Trust & Savings Bank will inaugurate a new era of business and financial service in this highly important section of the great West Side. Present and future customers will find here a warm welcome and willingness to serve well.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by some men from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots and injures one of the Moss raiders. The men of the Moss outfit swear to be revenged for the injury and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house where he finds Ellen Lawson alone in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house inquiring for their brother. Jim rides on into town, after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Joe Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the attack on Steve Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save Rutledge his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the little cattle town. Jim goes into the local gambling den and is astonished to find Ellen Lawson there.

INSTALLMENT XIII.

MURDER.

Jim noticed that several men were watching them curiously. They were wondering what this girl, with the look of a shy innocent child still clinging to her, was doing in this gambling hell where women never came except to earn a living. The Texan flushed. He was both annoyed and distressed. What were her people doing to let her come to such a place? Had she not been brought up to understand that there was a deadline no good woman could cross?

His fingers closed on her wrist. "We're going out," he said curtly.

With unexpected strength she twisted her arm free. "No, I've got to see him. I've got to."

The orchestra struck up a dance tune. It was a waltz. Jim came to an impulsive decision.

"Then dance with me," he said. "If he's here we'll see him at the other end of the room. You're not to make a scene if you do see him. I'll try to fix it so that you can speak to him a moment. But you must do just as I say."

"Yes," she promised eagerly.

As he took her in his arms he knew her nerves were at a high tension. She was afraid of this place. She had come into it with her heart in her throat, driven by some compulsion greater than the fear in her fluttering heart. Why must she rescue her brother at such a cost? What was the imperative urge that drove her? Other lads squandered what wages they had saved with no great ill to any one. Ellen must know that it was almost a rule for a cowboy to lose his money when he came to town. That was his reason for coming.

Jim was no expert waltzer. At the ranch hoedowns quadrilles were the order of the day. Many of the cowboys went on the floor only for squares. So Jim discovered in himself a certain assurance when he guided Ellen across the room. Her lissom slender body seemed to him as light as a feather. He felt a curious exultation, even in the midst of his anxiety, at finding how good a dancer he was.

An irruption of men poured through the front door. They were cowboys on a tear. They lined up noisily at the bar. Between the shifting figures on the floor Jim caught a glimpse of Jack Barton and another Circle R rider, a wild young buckaroo called Cinders. They were, he guessed, gloriously drunk and therefore ripe for trouble. But just at this moment he could not take them in hand. He must get rid of this girl first.

At the other end of the room Jim saw the poker players. They were in a big alcove that formed a wing to the main hall. He recognized Joe Shear and Pete Moss. The redheaded lad facing him must be Steve Lawson.

Jim could tell by a sudden tautness of his partner's body that she had seen her brother. Steve was reaching for a stack of chips to push into the center of the table. He lifted his eyes and saw his sister. He stared at her in amazement, his jaw dropping ludicrously.

At that moment there came a crash of guns. The big lamp hanging from the ceiling went out, followed by the one behind the bar. The whole front part of the room was in darkness. A woman screamed. A raucous oath lifted above the clamor. Another shot rang out and shattered the lamp above the poker players. The entire hall was black as Pharaoh's Egypt.

Among the dancers there was a near panic. They crowded toward the back of the room. Somebody stumbled against Ellen and the impact forced her from the arms of her partner.

Out of the darkness the reassuring voice of a bartender came. "It's all right, folks. They've gone. Shot out the lights an' lit out. We'll have candles right away."

Jim had been driven by the press into the alcove. His hand groped to find Ellen. A horrible sound, the intake of a breath that was neither quite a sob nor a groan, shocked him to rigidity. A chill ran down his spine. Something dreadful had occurred. He waited, tense and expectant.

At the other end of the room a candle flickered. Simultaneously there came the wild scream of a woman in terror. It rose from a spot not six feet from Jim. He moved toward the place for he knew the cry had leaped from the throat of Ellen.

Jim found the girl and took her in his arms. She was shivering with fear. He could hear the teeth chattering in the head that lay against his shoulder. The fingers that clutched his neck were trembling.

The candles were lit, one after another. A bartender moved back to the card table with one in each hand. The flames flickered, blown by a draft from the open window back of the players.

"We're getting lamps," he said. "Have 'em in a minute. Don't get impatient, please, gents."

Somebody laughed nervously. "All cowboys are poison, I claim. Ought to be a law against 'em."

Another man spoke. "If we find who they are we'll run 'em outa town. Disturbing peaceable folks with their fool devilitry."

The bartender let out a cry of dismayed surprise. "Good God!" he said, holding one of the candles above the card table.

One of the players was huddled down in his chair. A knife had been driven between his ribs into his heart.

Ringlets of black hair cascaded over the broad shoulders of the dead man. Pete Moss leaped to his feet and pointed a trembling finger at him. "Cripes! It's Joe Shear," he cried. The man was laboring under an excitement he was trying hard to control.

From Moss the gaze of Jim Rutledge passed with swift stabbing scrutiny around the poker table. Buck Roe sat on the left of Shear. His leathery, impassive face told nothing. Next to him was a man earmarked as a professional tinhorn gambler. He had both the clothes and the manner. In the chair on his right was a brown faced player who might be a trail driver or cattle buyer. Steve Lawson completed the circle and was seated beside the dead marshal. The boy was colorless to the lips. He stared at his sister from a stricken face that seemed all eyes of guilty horror.

Sheriff Manders pushed to the front and took in the situation.

"Some one has killed Joe Shear," the bartender faltered.

"So I see. Who did it?" His hard gaze swept from one startled face to another.

Roe spoke, smoothly, evenly. "It was done when the lights were out, Sam."

Manders gave curt orders. "Those of you who are at the table or near by stay where you are. The rest of you quit crowding. I'll have to ask you, gentlemen—those who're not in the alcove—to get back and line up against the walls. I've got to have room here. I expect you all to see that nobody leaves the hall."

Another bartender came back to the poker table with a lamp.

"There's not another lamp chimney in the house," he said. "I can borrow one from Brady next door."

"We'll get along with this and the candles," the sheriff replied. "Hold it over here, Tim. That's right. A little higher."

Manders leaned closer to the dead man, the balls of his thumbs on the edge of the table. He gave an exclamation of amazement. The blade of the knife, on its way to Shear's heart, had been driven through a playing card. The card was the ace of spades.

The sheriff realized that Shear must have had a split second's warning of his death found him. His right hand rested on the butt of the revolver in his side. A notorious killer knows that the price of life is eternal vigilance. He suspects everybody, for his reputation has made him a mark not only for nameless but for other ambitious gunmen. The last conscious thought of the marshal had probably been connected with this instinct for self-preservation.

"Look, Allison." Buck Roe pointed to Rutledge. Triumph rode in the voice of the gambler. He leaped across the table and struck Jim almost like a Good morning!

Here is an arresting picture that possesses the subtle something called charm. It tells an odd, fascinating "backstage" story of an earlier day and its chief characters are a temperamental minstrel man who is driven to drink by a sultry, blonde burlesque queen, and redeemed by a boarding house slavey who adores and marries him.

Helen Twelvetrees is Cinderella as you have always imagined her, drab, beaten, but living in a world apart, spun from the golden threads of her romantic imaginings. Kelly, the minstrel, down and out, becomes her Prince Charming.

Never had there been such a minstrel as Kelly till he fell under the vampire's spell. Then he became no good to anybody, himself included and, when the picture opens we behold him in a cheap room expecting the police, for he has been in a fight the night before and is quite sure he's committed murder.

Fearfully Molly, the slavey, keeps watch for him, and, sure enough, along come two ominous looking fellows who turn out to be—Rand, head of the minstrel show, and one of the members of the troupe. They have come to beg Kelly to straighten up and "come back."

"No!" says Kelly.

"Yes!" says Molly. She has her way, but it is not an easy one, for, from the start she has a viciously determined and crazily adored Polly to contend with. The H. E. is one you clasp to your hearts with a pleasure that amounts to downright enthusiasm.

I have just given you the skeleton of the story, and, purposely, no idea at all of its engrossing incident and the atmosphere in which it unfolds. But you learn about old time minstrel shows and the Bowery, the Bowery, and something, too, of the miracles faith can work.

It will be a long time before you'll forget the magnificent work of Miss Twelvetrees. I know I shall be anxious to see the next picture in which she appears. Fred Scott is fine as Kelly—how he can sing—and Marie Astaire is disturbingly real as Polly. Richard Carle you will admire as Rand. All other rôles are excellently handled.

The sympathetic direction, that, in spots lends itself to the novel and fantastic, has much to do with the hold "The Grand Parade" gets on you at the start and doesn't relinquish till the last prayer has been said.

I guess we shall have to call him "the versatile Vidor"—this King Vidor who made "The Big Parade," a war picture; "The Crowd," a city picture; "Hallelujah," a Negro epic, and who has turned another adroit directorial handspring in the production of "Not So Dumb."

"Not So Dumb" is "Dulcy" of the stage as the screen sees it and it proves a perfect vehicle for Miss Marion Davies, who is a refreshing comedienne when story and director permit her to be.

Dulcy is beautiful, not dumb. Her mouth is full of bromides and her soul of good intentions. She is overflowing with enthusiastic plans for the betterment of existing conditions, especially those concerning her fiancé, and, mistaking activity for usefulness, "fixes" things after the manner of a distraught but well meaning bulless in the proverbial china shop.

Dulcy's young man is, he hopes, about to make extremely advantageous connections with the large concern headed by a Mr. Forbes. Dulcy decides to help him, and arranges a house party to which she invites Mr. and Mrs. Forbes, their daughter and various other persons whose traits and peculiarities I shall not reveal here. One of these is impersonated by the humorist, Donald Ogden Stewart, who hands you considerable amusement.

Item: Dulcy's butler is an ex-convict whom she is reforming.

Item: I here become cryptic and ask you DID you ever play "Guess Who?" All will be clear as Dulcy's remarkable house party gets under way.

As you imagine, many, many things transpire during the week-end festivities pictured. Complications tread upon each other's heels and faux pas play continual leap frog.

Considering preceding events the ending is too good to be true—but it leaves you in a state of complete and beaming satisfaction.

"Not So Dumb" is gay and sparkling comedy. It is smooth as velvet from the production standpoint and is beautifully acted.

See you tomorrow.

New Dental and Health Center to Be Opened Today

A new dental health center to provide free examinations, education, and treatment for 8,600 children in the schools of the near north side will be opened today at the Kinzie school, La Salle and Ohio streets, by the dental bureau of the department of health. The district to be served by the clinic is bounded by North avenue, the lake, and the river.

The dental center will be under the supervision of Dr. C. F. Deatherage, operating dentist, assisted by two examining dentists and two dental hygienists. It will be inaugurated formally at 2 p. m. today by Acting Health Commissioner Gottfried Koehler and Dr. F. R. Conner, representing the public service committee of the Chicago Dental society.

Germans Honor Memory of Author of Miracle Plays

GANDERSHEIM, Feb. 9.—(AP)—One thousand years ago today, Roswitha, the first German woman dramatist, writer of miracle plays, was born here.

In honor of this anniversary impressive exercises were held here under the auspices of the city council.

The morning was taken up with a memorial service in the ancient cathedral. The address by the local clergymen extolled the services to religion of Roswitha, Benedictine nun. In the evening selections from several of Roswitha's dramas were produced, dealing with the struggle between good and evil, between angels and devils.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question, Mrs. Della Carlisle, 4349 Carolina street, Gary, Ind., was awarded $5.

The Question.

Are you for discarding "The Star Spangled Banner" as our national anthem?

The Answers.

Mrs. William F. Pagels, 6321 North Talman avenue, housewife. — No. The arguments being brought up against this song are of little concern to us. There is something about "The Star Spangled Banner" that is inspiring. As far as we are concerned it belongs to the United States, and when it's played it makes one feel proud of being an American.

T. M. Marshall, 5200 Winthrop avenue, retired. — "The Star Spangled Banner" should not be changed either in word or melody. From earliest childhood days this song has been a part of us. It has a patriotic note; it is a Declaration of Independence in itself. They might as well change the United States flag.

Miss Nellie B. Wood, 8215 Avalon avenue, secretary. — I hope they leave it the way it is. We have been singing that song since childhood and nothing else can take its place; nothing else would have the same meaning. There is no use giving up one song that means much for one that means nothing.

Robert Nordin, 2116 North Spaulding avenue, automobile dealer.—No sir. I like "The Star Spangled Banner." I have been singing it ever since childhood; it is a wonderful song. Nothing else can possibly take its place. They couldn't produce a better national anthem.

Miss Martha Kammerdiener, 128 North Wells street, stenographer. — Nothing else can take the place of "The Star Spangled Banner" as the national anthem as it now is. We have had it and heard it too long to discard it now. I like it; it stirs me. It is high for some women's voices, but my voice is better for high than low notes.

Egypt Offers Lesson for History Race

Select Words with Care, Is the Moral.

Cryptologists have joined the ranks of those offering advice to entrants in THE TRIBUNE contest for the best history of the United States in 500 words. From the wall of a tomb of a forgotten king archæologists translated a tale which the history editor interprets as a caution to entrants in their choice of words.

The tale concerns one Seth-ur-amen, a boatman, who befriended the weeping Isis in her wanderings. Seth-ur-amen gave the disguised goddess shelter in his humble hut. As she departed the next day she disclosed her identity and offered him a reward. There is a pebble on this beach, she said, pointing to the wide expanse of shore with millions of pebbles, that has the power of turning any metal it touches into gold. Seek you it tomorrow.

Seth-ur-amen rose early the next morning. He placed a brass bracelet on his left wrist and touched it with a pebble. When no change was apparent he threw the pebble into the sea. In this fashion he continued through the day until the last rays of the sun were dying. Then he paused and looked at the bracelet, and lo! it was gold. In his haste he had thrown the touchstone into the sea.

The moral of this tale, as pointed out by the history editor, is that each word in the history should be weighed with care and the right word for each particular idea should not be thrown away in a feverish search for the prize. The statement of Joseph Conrad should be kept in mind: "Give the right word and the right accent and I will move the world."

Only six days remain for entrants to turn in their histories. The deadline is midnight, Feb. 15, when all manuscripts must be received at Tribune Square. Address the History Contest Editor, Tribune Square. Each contestant may submit as many histories as he desires in either prose or verse.

To the writer winning first prize will be awarded $1,000. Second and third prizes will be $500 and $250, respectively, and seven prizes of $50 each will be awarded the next seven best entries. The contest was inspired by the agreement of former President Coolidge to write a 500 word American history to be carved upon the Mount Rushmore memorial in South Dakota.

THE STAGE

"MLLE. MODISTE."

A comic opera by Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom, given at the Majestic theater Feb. 9, 1920, with Fritzi Scheff as star. The cast:

Mrs. Hiram Bent	Sarah Edwards
Fifi	Fritzi Scheff

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

VICTOR HERBERT'S "Mlle. Modiste," a comic opera nearly twenty-five years old, came to life for us, mellow with charm, at the Majestic theater last night. And so did Fritzi Scheff, its original seductrix of song. This was a premiere that billowed with unforced encores.

Given the place of honor at the beginning of a cycle of Herbertian operettas, some of which may fairly be called minor classics, Miss Scheff behaved as if the years had never dimmed the star on her dressing room door. She proved with clear emphasis, to those who missed the first staging of "Modiste," why she had been, for a decade, the greatest singing girl of the American stage. She is, of course, no longer the lithe, finely made bit of Viennese loveliness whose waist line was so exquisite and whose ankle so distracting. She is still, however, a lady worth a second look; the old chic survives, and the saucy face has retained its winsomeness. Moreover, the famous ankle has practically held its own. Fritzi Scheff was a heroine of the period of ankles, and she gives an adequate demonstration of the fact that those were happy days.

And the voice, that most important factor? It answers "present," in clear and luscious melody. Miss Scheff is singing better than she did before her retirement, which happened about ten years ago. In fact, her voice seems richer than it was when her fame was young. She has apparently extended her range; she now competes with the 'cello as well as the soaring lark. No sentimentality of old memories is needed to find the lyric ecstasy in her performance. Miss Scheff, in this revival of "Mlle. Modiste," is by no means a reputation in ruins. She is, to the contrary, a mature and captivating artist, easily and expertly expressing her full gift of song.

She is also a knowing, expert comedienne whose style betrays none of the obvious tricks of the old-school comedienne. Somehow or other we never used to talk, in the days when "Mlle. Modiste" was having its first vogue, about Fritzi Scheff as an actress. Perhaps we took that for granted; or perhaps we labored under the delusion that operettas didn't require much acting. At any rate, last night Miss Scheff played the rôle of Fifi, the hat shop girl who became a theatrical favorite, as well as sang it. She made most of the heroines of the modern operettas seem like novices recruited from the choir lofts.

The long-lived song hit of the score, "Kiss Me Again," comes early—it is the "Celeste Aida" of "Modiste." And when the reincarnated prima donna swung into its familiar enchantment, with all the old mood and the old loveliness of tone, the first nighters knew that Fritzi was herself. The applause suggested that she could have stood there and sung that one number for the entire evening. Nor was there any anti-climax in the rest of the performance. Fritzi made good all along the line, not as an old favorite but as a contemporary star.

The other principals in the company also do full justice to the tradition. The blustering Comte of the heavy threats and the basso merriment in "I Want What I Want," is admirably treated by Detmar Poppen. The American millionaire who tosses his francs about Fifi's hat shop evokes dry, crisp comedy in the hands of Alan Brooks. The inevitable tenor in the soldier suit—Fifi's true love—is competently represented by Nathaniel Wagner, as Gaston, the artist with plush pants. Robert Rhodes had the honor of first blood, as the sports writers used to say, in the volleys of applause that followed Herbert's gay score to its finale.

Except in the matter of the women's dresses, the revival has been staged in the terms of its period. Some of the lines have "dated," and the stage direction of the chorus speaks eloquently of the naïvete of the "Modiste" era. But in general, this is a show that cannot be greeted with tolerant condescension, as a relic of an outworn régime, by us moderns. It was good in its time, and its day is not done. "Mlle. Modiste" is still a rapid fire of songs-hits, composed by a master.

Horowitz Again Gathers Fame at Piano Here

Fills Orchestra Hall for His Recital.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

That young wizard of the keyboard, Vladimir Horowitz, was back in town again yesterday afternoon to prove that Orchestra hall, even when its stage is thrown open to the public, is too small for certain recitals. As closely as could be observed, no one sat on the organ bench, but practically every other seat in the hall contained a madly applauding occupant.

And Mr. Horowitz again wove his spells with those ten perfectly tempered steel springs that he calls his fingers. It was an excellent program for such a person to play, running all the way from Busoni's translation of a Bach organ toccata into terms of the piano to a pair of Prokofieff's contumelious gestures at all conventional music.

When he played an old timer, Chopin's Etude in F or Polonaise in A flat, it was as though he made a new creation, maintaining the line but bringing it down to date with a touch of accent here, a bit of phrasing there, little things all that succeeded in giving it a novel and freshened appearance.

He even went in for such musical blah as three of the Paganini études, one in the Liszt rendering, the other two in Busoni's revision of Liszt, and by the sheer magnificent exuberance of his performance made them sound as though they really had some importance in the world of music. Of course, it was Horowitz who was important in this case and not Paganini or Liszt or Busoni or the three put together. But that is the way this young man is in the habit of doing things.

There was other cause for rejoicing at the Playhouse, for here Lucia Chagnon was giving a recital of soprano songs. At the start she picked out a group of pleasant things from the works of the French ancients: Lully, Marais, Rameau, and Gretry. Some were plaintive, some were gay; only one, that by Gretry, made any claims to being pretentious, and the three were all pretty.

It was a good beginning, and Miss Chagnon continued with "Deh Vieni" from Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro." Her voice has the bead of quality in it, a combination of youthful charm and efficient training that makes everything sound pleasant. Also she is a musician.

Among the other musical events of the afternoon was a concert at the Central theater by the Chicago Musical college Symphony orchestra, directed by Maurice Goldblatt. As the name would indicate, it is largely if not entirely made up of students of the institution, and it played part of a Beethoven symphony as well as classical overtures and other works of the standard répertoire. The soloists, William Pfeiffer and Helene Polenz, were also students.

Mu Xi chapter of the music sorority, Mu Phi Epsilon, gave a program at the Chicago Woman's club. The soloists were Harriet Case, soprano; Ethel Heide, contralto; Marion Ranstead, pianist, and Lulu Gleseck Butler, violinist.

OUR SECRET AMBITION

Three Nippon Artists Show Work Lacking in the Ancient Skill

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Japanese contemporary artists are being weaned from the fantastic delicacy of design used by their great-grandfathers. It seems in some ways a pity. A little group of contemporary prints at the Kroch galleries shows how three men undertake to illustrate the trend of the twentieth century. Genjin Torii is one exhibitor. He was born in 1900 and comes of the famous Torii family which for generations has been associated with the classical theater of Japan. He studied color printing under Kaburagi Kiyokata.

Shinsui Ito is another pupil of the same master and he is acclaimed a fine woodblock artist as well as a painter. The third man is Hasui Kawase, born in Tokio in 1883. He studied with Kiyokata, too, and rests in his fame chiefly on his work in landscape. Probably he is best known for a series of a hundred prints published under the inclusive title, "A Souvenir of Travel."

In spite of this knowledge of the artists the exhibit is disappointing. There is little lightness of imagination and the larger subjects depicted by these men seem coarse; the portaits of women are the type that we find on calendars and candy boxes and posters. The color is good, sometimes brilliant, but for exquisite craftsmanship and whimsical imagery we must go to the old prints, many of them to be seen in the Buckingham collection of the Art institute.

The Orientals, an organization of men and women interested in Chinese art, will have the first view this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in gallery H-II., of the Art institute, of Miss Buckingham's gift of three magnificent Buddhist sculptures of the T'Ang Dynasty. There will be a short talk and tea. Members may bring guests.

The Art Institute Alumni association will hold its annual dinner and election of officers on Tuesday, Feb. 15, at 6:30 o'clock, at the Chicago Woman's club, 66 East Eleventh street. Hitherto these annual meetings have been at the Art institute.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Back Talk

Romance Seldom Comes the 'Pick-up' Way, Says Doris

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The hope of meeting romance on the way home from work leads girls into strange byways, I fear. To any of us elders who, in her youth, has known the awful depression attendant upon grim, lonely evenings stretching out before her, we cannot be wholly out of sympathy with a girl who clutches at the dangerous straw of pickup acquaintance making.

Neither can we, grown wise in the ways of world and men, condone the folly. The price of loneliness is only loneliness, bad as it is. But the price of folly is bitter, bitter medicine to take, as "Mauna" knows it now. She was one of these reckless ones who took a chance on adventure when a man in a car pulled up to the curb and addressed her. "Mauna's" is a police case now.

Luckily for her, a woman court attendant believed her story and she is due for another chance.

But here's Irene. She meets a man on an "L" station. He smiles. She answers encouragingly. He asked for her telephone number. She gave it to him. He called up next evening. She told her mother he was a friend of one of the men in the office.

She accepted his invitation to a show for the next evening. He drives up in a cab, enters Irene's home. Mother is on the job and instinctively does not like this man twice her 18 year old girl's age, suave, sleek and not square eyed.

She waits up for her daughter's return. It is two-thirty when daughter arrives home. After the show, the two went to a dancing place. Irene does not drink. Neither does she smoke. But she did want to be able to tell the other girls at the office about the party she was out on last night.

She came home not liking the man for certain attempts at familiarity, as she puts it. He asked for another evening. Her better sense tells her not to see the man any more. But "life," she argues, "is just terrible when you haven't a beau to take you to places."

Life can be made pretty terrible, too, by beaus that do take you places—if they're men you know not a thing about, who might be married, might be criminal of character, who might be a dozen undesirable things.

Anyway, romance does not come clean on the pickup route. It starts off on the wrong foot. That's why we elders, though duly sorry for lonely youngsters, cannot condone pickup offenses against wholesome romance.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Hickory Nut Cake.

During this patriotic month we are called upon to provide viands as truly American as we can find which are good enough for party or entertainment use. In plain old fashioned American days these things were simple. Simple native products were used in their composition.

The meat of a hickory nut has a sweet and unique flavor, though it is so hard to get at that the shell is mentioned as a very symbol of hardness. There are professional ways of getting the nut meats while a home fashion has been to heat the nuts enough to shrink the meat, which then comes out from the shell with less difficulty.

The following recipe for hickory nut cake, which we think would be all right for Lincoln's birthday cake, was first printed in this column many years ago, and then several years ago some one who had used it thirteen years before wrote asking us to repeat the recipe. It is a simple one: One-fourth cup butter, one cup sugar, one cup milk, two egg whites, one and one-half cups sifted flour, one-half teaspoon or a whole teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon baking powder, one-half cup chopped hickory nuts. Perhaps it is best to cut up the nuts with a knife on a board so that they will not be oily.

Cream the butter thoroughly and work the sugar into it until the mixture looks like a hard sauce. Add the milk and work the two together, then the flour sifted with the other dry ingredients a little at a time. Add to the batter when it has been made smooth and fine the cut up hickory nuts.

Finally, fold in the egg white, add flavoring to taste and bake in tins in a 350 degree oven. The criticism of this batter would seem to be that it contained too little flour, but the cake will be much moister and pleasanter to eat if one can make it so that it will bake with no more flour than this.

Invitation Overheard.

At one time there was a fiery tempered girl employed in the same office as I who was constantly complaining. Eventually our employer told her. "Any one that isn't satisfied can take his coat and leave."

One day all the girls congregated in my office when "His Nibs" was presumably out for lunch. As one of the girls remarked about a certain piece of furniture in my office, I said to her in a rather loud, gruff voice, "Any one who isn't satisfied can take her coat and leave," which met with an outburst from the girls, but ceased rather too suddenly, for in looking up we saw "Him" at the door. Was I embarrassed? E. S.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9. — Mrs. Hoover was the guest of honor at the wedding yesterday of Miss Beatrice Pitney, daughter of the late Mr. Justice Mahlon Pitney of the United States Supreme court, to Horace Lamb of New York. Bishop Freeman performed the ceremony at the Bethlehem chapel of the Washington cathedral at noon, assisted by the bride's cousin, the Rev. Henry Pitney Van Dusen. Shelton Pitney gave his sister in marriage. A breakfast and reception followed in the home of the bride's mother, on R street. After their wedding trip they will be at home in New York.

Vice President Curtis and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Cann, were entertained at dinner last night by the former ambassador to Russia and Mrs. George T. Marye.

The secretary of commerce and Mrs. R. P. Lamont of Chicago gave a dinner dance last evening at the Montgomery Country club as part of the debut festivities of their daughter, Gertrude. They have as their guests over the week-end Mrs. Kellogg Fairbanks of Chicago, Miss Lois Smith of New York, Miss Elizabeth Duncan of Baltimore, William Northey of South Mass., and Mrs. Frederick Bagel of Dubuque, Ia.

The secretary of labor and Mrs. James J. Davis entertained at dinner last evening in honor of the retiring British ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard. Mrs. Davis will head the receiving line at the last one of the Bachelors' Cotillions this season, tomorrow night, at the Mayflower.

Mrs. William Fitch Kelley, formerly of Chicago, and her sister, Miss Martha McClure of Iowa, were among the assistants this afternoon at the tea given by Mrs. C. C. Calhoun in the country place, "Rossdhu."

China's Newer Sage to Discuss Native Dramas

BY THALIA

The American Friends of China seem to have arrived at that adult stage of development that seems so difficult of attainment for organizations. Just now the members are concerned with the visit here of Dr. P. C. Chang, a noted critic and authority on Chinese drama and poetry, who is to speak at a luncheon to be given tomorrow at the roof bungalow of the Hotel Sherman. Dr. Chang is the house guest of the William H. Bushes of 1528 North State parkway, having arrived last Friday. He is on a tour of America, and so is preferring to confine his activities here to appearances before various civic groups, rather than purely social gatherings. Mr. and Mrs. Bush, however, did have some of their friends in for tea to meet him yesterday afternoon, and there may be other entertaining done for him before he leaves on Thursday.

Another oriental in whom the Friends are interested is the Chinese actor, Nei Lan Fang of Peiping, who went through Chicago a few days ago. Mrs. Charles Hubbard and Mrs. Wesley Dixon went down to meet him at the train, and Mrs. John Paul Welling, president of the Friends, had intended to but had a sprained ankle. He goes to New York to make plans for a tour of the United States, and when he returns members of the organization will plan to have theater parties to see him at the Chinese theater.

The second of the Junior league's series of lectures is to be given this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Drake hotel. "Designing Furniture for the Modern Home" is the subject of the talk and it is to be illustrated with modern styles of modern furniture in the Paris exposition and of furniture not in the Metropolitan museum.

The lowly pastime of gum chewing has numerous exponents among the bobbesaihs who attend the exciting ice hockey matches at the Stadium. Last Thursday night at the Black-hawk-Montreal game practically the whole front line of women in the smartest part of the arena was engaged in fervid mastication.

As the contest waged more thrilling, the jaws of the élite kept time to the pace of the players. Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, in a cunning red felt hat and red frock, was one of the most graceful, albeit one of the most determined chewers. Mrs. Lester Armour, Mrs. Russell Kelley, Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter, and Mrs. Dudley Mudge were others engaged in urbane champing.

The W. David Owens have sent out cunningly contrived lace paper invitations for a Valentine party on Friday evening at the apartment they are occupying during the winter at 900 North Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Andrew R. Sheriff is to sing French songs at the reception the Alliance Française is to give for its new members on Friday afternoon, Feb. 14.

Miss Caroline McIlvaine, for many years director of the Chicago Historical society, announces the first Chicago antiques exposition, to be held at the Drake hotel from April 21 to 25. Everything from ships and figureheads to warming pans, just so they be antique, will be shown.

An impressive list of 69 prominent women are to serve as patronesses and they will decide which four children's charitable organizations are to receive part of the ticket sale. Miss McIlvaine is arranging to bring together for the show many pieces interesting because of their association with Chicago history.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dill Scott will have as their guests for dinner and the Northwestern-Illinois basketball game at Patten gymnasium this evening Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Cutten, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Mills, and William A. Dyche.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. McIlvaine of 1100 Lake Shore drive leave this week for a long stay at the Arizona-Biltmore at Phoenix, Ariz.

Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Smith Rhett of 1340 North Dearborn street are being congratulated upon the birth of a son on Jan. 25 at Miami, Fla. The baby is to be named William Means Rhett II. for his paternal grandfather. Mrs. Rhett is the former Miss Eunice Emery. Her marriage took place on Feb. 12, 1929, at the Bath club at Miami Beach.

Mrs. James B. Condit of 7534 Chappel avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Meryl Ann, to Chesley E. McDougall, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. McDougall of 6905 Bennett avenue. Miss Condit is a member of Omicron chapter of Chi Omega sorority of the University of Illinois. Mr. McDougall attended the University of Chicago.

Changing the Rhodes Scholarship Method Stirs Chicago Lawyer

Emphatic disapproval was voiced yesterday by J. H. Winston, a former Rhodes scholar, of the recently announced plan for selection of Rhodes scholars in this country by a method other than that provided in the will of the "empire builder," Cecil Rhodes, described in THE TRIBUNE of yesterday. Mr. Winston is a member of the law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw.

"Mr. Rhodes' announced purpose in founding his scholarships," he commented, "was to promote international friendships and good feeling. It was his purpose to foster those friendships by having representatives from each of the American states go to Oxford and associate with Englishmen, that each might get a better understanding of the other's viewpoint.

"Granted that the standard of Rhodes scholars can be improved by wiping out state boundary lines, I regard that as a consideration that should not sway the trustees from faithfully carrying out the provisions of the testator's will."

Under the Rhodes will, two scholarships are left to each of the states. Under the change that will be put into effect in December, by present plans, the forty-eight states will be divided into eight groups of six states each, and selections made from the district rather than the state. Opposition to the idea is founded on the contention that the "backward" states will almost inevitably lose in the annual choice in favor of more metropolitan areas.

"It is perfectly obvious," Winston added, "that two of the six states may get all four appointments made from that group annually, and that the other four states will get none. It is a complete answer to the proposition that the testator awarded the scholarships to Idaho, for instance, and that Idaho should receive them.

"Considering that it was Mr. Rhodes' scheme to bring Americans from each state into association with Englishmen at Oxford."

Russian Quartet Delights Critic

BY HAZEL MOORE.

The Kedroff quartet would seem to be on a fair way of accomplishing their worthy purpose of rescuing that abused musical medium, the male quartet, from the depth to which the barbershop harmonies of callow youth had sunk it.

For the Kedroff quartet is distinctly stalwart, adult, and male. It is highly musical, and a large and appreciative audience at the Civic theater yesterday afternoon agreed with this department that as music making instruments these four Russian voices produced a musical blend comparable to that of a string quartet.

Perhaps in the word Russian lies a good deal of the potency of their success. Besides the resonant barytone and astounding double bass of the two Kedroffs, and the perfectly attuned balance of the quartet, the Russian musical literature is particularly rich. The sacred music alone is of a quality and extent unknown in the Anglo-Saxon churches.

The first group of the all-Russian program yesterday was made up entirely of religious songs from the services of the Eastern Orthodox church, psalms set to tunes both ancient and modern. In these the suppliant element is greatly stressed, and the noble quality of the unaccompanied singing of the Kedroffs was a delight.

A group of folk songs confirmed the impression that while Russian music lies in the Russian soul, joy lies not with it. Only in their humorous songs is there delight. The folk and art songs are inevitably touched with sadness.

Reverting, however, to the fact that the quartet finds no dearth of good music to sing, one discovers the frequent arrangements and harmonizations by N. Kedroff, who appears to be the senior member and leading spirit of the organization. If you are in doubt as to the musical worth of the male quartet, go at the next opportunity to hear the Kedroffs, and remain to be convinced.

Harold Bauer's audience at the Studebaker theater at the same hour, had no lack of convictions, and these were all that this pianist is now what he has always been, the epitome of solid pianism. Students flock to hear him in the certainty that he can do no wrong nor they in following his sterling example.

They also know that they will find his program made up of standard works without a flippant touch to leaven it. So, yesterday, the program was eminently satisfactory to the audience of Bauerites. Mozart and Haydn constituted the first group of two fantasies, the C minor and the C major. Mr. Bauer played these as he plays all the works of his classic repertoire, with the firm assurance of real authority.

The Schumann "Studes Symphoniques" produced to this listener a warmer and friendlier tone from the piano, though in every thing that Baure plays one may be sure that he is right. The "Prelude, Chorale and Fugue" of Cesar Franck, and Debussy's "Children's Corner" were other items to bring joy to the hearts of his delighted hearers.

Chicago Priest Made Italian Knight During Banquet in His Honor

The Rev. Luigi Giambastiani, pastor of St. Philip Benizi church, was made a knight of the crown of Italy last night at a testimonial dinner given in his honor at the church auditorium at Oak street and Cambridge avenue by nineteen Italian societies of the north side. The decoration was presented to Father Giambastiani by Dr. Giuseppe Castruccio, Italian consul in Chicago, on behalf of the Italian government.

The knighthood was conferred on Father Giambastiani for his work among Italians in Chicago during his twenty-five years as pastor of the church.

Rev. H. S. Longley Becomes Fourth Bishop of Iowa

Davenport, Ia., Feb. 9.—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. Harry Sherman Longley of Des Moines was enthroned today as fourth bishop of the Episcopal church of Iowa, succeeding the late Bishop Theodore N. Morrison, under whom he served for several years as coadjutor bishop.

The services in Trinity cathedral were attended by clergy and laymen, as well as representatives of other diocesan organizations here for the seventy-fifth annual convention of the diocese.

Blue Eyes Can Be Deepened by Clever Use of Colors

by Gabriele Ziegfeld

There is a certain type of eye that is classified as blue, but there is so little depth to the color that it might as well be classified as gray. The disadvantage is that such blues usually lack the beauty of the pure gray eye.

The type of eye that needs more depth of color and either more blue or more gray can be lent it with a clever use of color. I'm thinking of one who makes the mistake of wearing a shade of blue that is brilliant, hard, and lightish in tone. Dresses and hats match usually. The eyes are dimmed instead of lighted with the color.

Blue eyes, I think, call for cleverer color handling than most other shades because they can be reduced to such an insipid state if the wrong color is used near them. That bright blue bordering on king's blue, but in reality bearing a trade name of its own, which was so popular last season and still maintains favor, can wash out the type of eye I speak of like nothing on earth. It's a brightly lighted indigo in tone and a complete costume of it is apt to be killing to blondes and particularly to the pale eyed blonde.

A vivid blonde with strong hair and eye coloring might dare it with some degree of success—but even she would appear lovelier with a more softened blue. A brunette with black hair, young, snappy, brown or black eyes and brilliant skin looks wonderful in the color. But for the pale eyed blonde is urged the motto: "Keep off."

Colors are not to be chosen because they are the newest thing—unless one has the physical requirements to meet the mode.

Deep soft blues are best for the pale eyed blonde if one wants bluer depths to her orbs, or warm silvery grays if she would have softer moonbeam eye rays. Not the dull, dead navies, but navies of a warmish tone are recommended. Not pastel shades of blue, either. They are too negative for the type. And browns usually are death to the pale eyed. Clear white is a color to steer away from.

A bit of eye shadow in a warm blue is advised in such cases, as it will deepen the actual blue in the eye.

600 Couples Expected at U. of Ill. Military Dance

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 9.—Six hundred couples are expected to dance at the annual military dance on the University of Illinois campus the night of Feb. 21. The grand march will be led by Fred Humbert, Geneseo, Ill., student colonel of the university R. O. T. C. and his guest, Miss Ethel Magnuson of Berwyn, Ill.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMEN'S AND MISSES' PAJAMAS.

These pajamas are made with a tuck-in blouse, and the neck and top of the pocket are ruffle trimmed. The trousers are closed at the side, and the belt indicates the fashionable raised waistline. Printed or plain crêpe de chine, satin crêpe, flat silk crêpe, sateen, rayon crêpe and cotton broadcloth are all suitable materials.

The pattern, No. 3059, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 35 inch material with 3¾ yards of binding and ¾ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Write your name and address plainly on dotted lines, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Inclose 10 cents in stamps or coin [coin preferred; wrap it carefully] for each number, and address your order to Clotilde Patterns, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 247 Park avenue, New York City.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Steps in vegetable marketing, from the federal farm board on down, will feature the three day school which the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, will hold at La Grange, Feb. 11, 12 and 13, for truck growers in the northeastern part of Illinois. The school is being held in coöperation with the farm advisers and county farm bureaus of northeastern Illinois and the Cook County Truck Gardeners' and Farmers' association. The entire second day is to be given over to marketing problems.

La Grange is easily reached from all points of the district, and plans are being made to handle the crowd of farmers and truck growers from a dozen or more northeastern Illinois counties. Sessions on the first and second days of the school will be held in the town hall and on the third day in the Masonic temple.

Marketing discussions on the second day of the school will include "The South Water Market as Outlets for Local Vegetables," by August Geweke, president of the Cook County Truck Gardeners' and Farmers' association; "Roadside Markets in the Chicago Area," by H. W. Day of the Illinois Growers' Marketing association; "Varieties of Sweet Corn and Other Vegetables Especially Adapted to Roadside Marketing," E. P. Lewis of the Cook county branch experiment station; "The Ideal Farmers' Market," by O. G. Barrett, Cook county farm adviser, and "The Federal Farm Board with Special Reference to Truck Crops," C. L. Stewart, in charge of the college agricultural economics division.

Tuesday, the first day of the school, is to be given over largely to topics of general interest and to a discussion of the results which the college has obtained in its fertilizer experiments at its Cook county branch experiment station. The third day will bring the growers new information on insect control, types of vegetables for canning and soup manufacture.

Suits Have Stripes and Sun Tan Backs

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Though the flounce and the train may flourish in the ball rooms along the Riviera, whither all chic Parisiennes have fled, yet the beaches show understandings strictly stripped for action. Variety is the spice of femininity, nowadays. The smart Parisienne may deck herself in frills and furbelows for dancing at the Ambassadors at Cannes or a turn round the tables of the Sporting club at Monte Carlo, but she maintains a business-like practicality when it comes to sports gear.

There is a fascination in observing the girl that swirled and billowed across the dance floor the night before in a cloud of lace, stepping across the rubber beach in a bathing costume reduced to its briefest statement. After your dearest rival has remarked, looking at your train: "Those new skirts are so convenient for knock-knees" there is a great satisfaction in confronting her without the ghost of a skirt to hide the fact that your own are perfect. You don't even need the rare billows of the Mediterranean.

Paris sports creators intend smart women to really swim this year. You'd never suspect concealed water wings. The chic bathing suits are severely simple and cut for close comfort. They are nevertheless very modest, for they have no suggestive exaggerations. They depend for decoration upon the clever cut of décolleté and shoulder line, upon their contrasted colors, and sometimes on original striping of the jersey that goes to make them.

This swimming suit from Schiaparelli, who is one of the smartest sports creators in Paris today, follows the line made famous by Annette Kellerman. It is made of green jersey striped with red and white cut so as to form a series of squares that become slenderizing diagonals above and below. It has a modestly pointed décolleté front and a sun tan back. A sleveless beach coat of the plain green jersey, as essentially simple in line as the swimming suit, completes the ensemble. It is held close at the neck by an attached cravat scarf of the same striped jersey as the suit. It is characteristic of the charming invention of Madame Schiaparelli that she shelters a deeply sun tan bathing suit under a high necked coat and cutely contradicts the cravat by suppressing even the shadow of a sleeve.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Requires Artificial Leg.

"A friend of mine has been in the hospital for several months and has had his leg amputated at the knee. When he comes home he will need an artificial limb which he cannot afford to buy. I wonder if one of your kind friends who perhaps recently bought a new one would give his old artificial leg to this man. MRS. J. M."

The loss of his leg will not be such a great trial to this man if he is equipped with a well fitting artificial limb. Perhaps the one you are replacing would do. May he not have it?

Is It Fair to Spring the New Baby on Your Only Child?

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Suppose you were a child—an only child, much loved, with easy access to the time and companionship of your mother and father. Suppose the years—maybe only one or two, maybe five or six—had built up for you a home world which you had no reason to expect would change in its general routine of interests, work, and play. Suppose you were all fitted or accommodated to life—a happy and normally important member of the family.

And then suppose, one fine day, a new figure loomed up importantly on the horizon. And everybody made a fuss over it ,and talked about it, and admired it, and loved it, and gave it seemingly endless attention. And suppose the time and companionship you had been used to you no longer had easy access to.

Supose, in short, that without warning or preparation, you had a new baby sprung on you. Do you think it would be quite fair? Suppose you were expected quite suddenly to become more independent, to do lots of things for yourself that you'd never done before—suppose you were expected to be quiet because the baby was sleeping when you'd not been required to be, suppose grown-ups who used to talk to and be interested in you gave all their attention to the baby. Imagine, with the best of your imagination, all the big and little sudden changes that a new baby implies—and then answer this question: Is it fair to "spring" the new baby on your only child?

BRING FLORIDA SUNSHINE to CHICAGO for the WINTER MONTHS

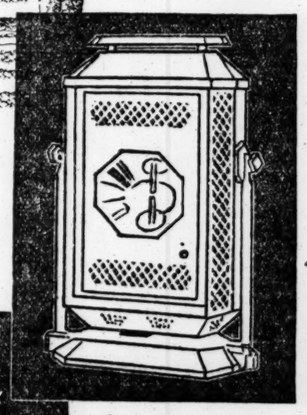
Here's year 'round health from Ultra-Violet Ray "Sunshine"



PAY MONTHLY ON YOUR LIGHT BILL

for only $59.50

Let an Eveready Sunshine Lamp—made by the National Carbon Co.—give your entire family the healthful ultra-violet rays found in natural sunlight. Sunless Chicago winters necessitate this modern health treatment; even the smoke in summer shuts out these much needed rays. Eveready serves you the year 'round—so handy because you merely plug into your light socket to turn on the "sun"—whenever you want, as long as you want. Don't gamble with the weather for sunshine—particularly if you have children whose growing bodies need all the strength that sunshine can give. Come in for a private demonstration in our "Sunshine Booth," free of charge.

To all purchases made on the deferred payment plan, a carrying charge is added.

J. S. TEMPLETON, ECCENTRIC GRAIN TRADER, IS DEAD

Sponsor of Free Lunch for Traffic Cops.

James Stuart Templeton, retired member of the Board of Trade, whose eccentricities gained him much publicity two decades ago, died yesterday in his home, 733 Forest avenue, Evanston.

Mr. Templeton provoked a storm among the grain traders in November, 1911, when, in a letter to the newspapers, he charged that the Board of Trade was prone to expediency instead of fair dealing and called for a house cleaning. He described the state grain inspection department as "incompetent, if not dishonest."

W. Scott Cowan, the grain inspector, and his assistant, Samuel H. Smith, promptly began suit charging Mr. Templeton with libel and asking $50,000 damages. A jury returned a verdict supporting the libel charge but refusing to award damages.

In the winter of 1914, as a "tonic" for his nerves, the broker gave Police Chief McWeeny $1,000 to provide refreshments for loop traffic policeman, specifying hot coffee for winter and lemonade for the summer months. The satisfaction of seeing his bounty distributed each morning made him feel like "a brand new man," Mr. Templeton explained.

Says Accident Cured Him.

The following fall he went to the mountains of Vermont to recuperate, he said, from the strain of his philanthropies. While motoring he was in an accident, receiving a blow on the head which, he said, cured him of a nervous trouble on which he had spent thousands of dollars in medical treatment without gaining relief.

The following year, when his chauffeur struck a pedestrian, Mr. Templeton sold both cars and announced he would motor no more. He returned to his philanthropy that winter, giving Judge Harry P. Dolan a check to pay the fines of paupers arrested for picking up coal along railroad tracks.

In May, 1916, at the instigation of his son, Kenneth, the grain trader was adjudged incompetent and committed to the Kenilworth sanitarium. From the sanitarium he wrote State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne that he had been "railroaded" to the institution and demanded a rehearing of the case.

Objects to Café Bill.

He remained in the sanitarium, however, until 1922, when his family discovered he was at liberty through publication of his request for a warrant against proprietors of the Moulin Rouge café. It seemed he had given a party there and was seeking redress because the bill was $197.

In recent years, Mr. Templeton lived quietly with his family. He is survived by his widow, Emily; his sons, Kenneth and Wallace; and his daughters, Mrs. Mary G. Morrow and Mrs. John F. Price.

Mrs. Mary Walton Dies After Illness of 3 Months

Mrs. Mary Walton, 63 years old, 18 East Chestnut street, died last night at the John B. Murphy hospital after an illness of three months. She had been a parishioner of the Holy Name cathedral for 40 years and was, as a girl, employed in the home of Eugene Field, the poet. She is survived by her husband, Michael J. Walton; one daughter, Mrs. Dave Barry; and one son, Robert.

Elmer's Soul Stirred by Two Radio Concerts

One Is by Our Civic Opera Orchestra in Boston.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Yesterday's radio program developed into a stirring climax with two concert programs, both of eastern origin and both at about the same hour.

One was by the Chicago Civic Opera orchestra, Georgio Polacco conducting, from the stage of the Boston Opera house, through WBBM, 8 to 9. Operatic excerpts only were played by the orchestra, all being familiar to the radio audience. But the pieces sounded as of the opera stage, rather than of the concert room; dynamic markings were strongly stressed, and crescendo and diminuendo shading were used with full power and effect. The result was a performance with a punch in it.

Redferne Hollinshead, tenor, and Muriel La France, soprano, were guest soloists. Miss La France displayed about as clear a tone as any voice I know of in radio.

The other program was an orchestral concert from New York through W-G-N, 8:15 to 9:15, with Eugene Goossens as conductor, and Mme. Nina Koshetz, Russian soprano, and George Cehanovsky, Russian baritone, as guest soloists.

The concert closed with a magnificent performance of the overture to "The Flying Dutchman" [Wagner]. Both the soloists were excellent singers, and they were heard in an admirable program of songs and arias.

Almost amounting to a feature by itself was the singing by Mme. Koshetz of a song without words by Rachmaninoff entitled "Vocalise," in which the vowel o was used throughout the song. Only once before do I recall a similar type of song over the radio.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, Frederick Stock conducting, through W-G-N, 2 to 3 o'clock, was a delightful Sunday afternoon affair. As pleasing as could be was the wedding music and wedding march from Rubinstein's opera "Feramors." Scarcely less impressive were the three selections from MacDowell's "Indian" suite, And the overture to Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was given a richer coloring than I had ever heard in this selection over the radio.

Less pretentious, but nevertheless a creditable and enjoyable concert was the orchestral Musical Melange from W-G-N, 4:45 to 5:30. It was comparable to a small symphony concert. The special soprano soloist I judge to be disappointing for effective radio singing, due to excessive vibrato.

MRS. JOHN DILL ROBERTSON DIES; ILL FOR YEAR

Mrs. Bessie Foote Robertson, wife of Dr. John Dill Robertson, former health commissioner and president of the school board, and more recently president of the west park board, died yesterday at the Jefferson Park hospital after an illness of a year from cancer of the throat. At the bedside were Dr. Robertson and their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Robertson. Mrs. Robertson was 53 years old. For 22 weeks she had been unable to leave the hospital.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the chapel at 41 North Leavitt street. Interment will be in Acacia mausoleum.

Born in Colchester, Conn., of an old New England family, Mrs. Robertson came to Chicago in 1898, the year of her marriage, and with Dr. Robertson made this city her home.

Funeral Tomorrow for Dr. Koppnagle, Socialist

Funeral services for Dr. Saul A. Koppnagle, former national organizer and secretary of the Chicago branch of the Communist party, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Graceland cemetery. Dr. Koppnagle was 70 years old and died suddenly Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Emerine Stonecipher, 1106 Columbia avenue. Dr. Koppnagle, a physician, found his greatest interest in politics and for 30 years was identified with the Socialist party. He is survived by two sons and four daughters.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD OF GAS.

Mrs. Anna Malmberg, 35 years old, was found dead of asphyxiation yesterday sitting in a chair in front of a stove on which two jets were open in her home at 2926 Lincoln avenue. The police said she committed suicide because of domestic troubles.

BRIG. GEN. MAUS, INDIAN FIGHTER, IS DEAD AT 79

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Marion Perry Maus, 79, noted Indian fighter, died at his home in New Windsor, Md., today, after a lengthy illness.

Gen. Maus retired in 1913. He served in various Indian campaigns in the west and was in action against the Sioux in the Dakotas, the Nez Perces in Montana, and the Apaches in Arizona and Old Mexico. He also took part in the campaign against the Sioux in 1890.

Gen. Maus was awarded the congressional medal for bravery in the Sierra Madre campaign, and was given the silver star citation by the war department Oct. 1, 1877. As aid de camp to the commanding general at Santiago he participated in the conference resulting in the surrender of the Spanish forces.

He served during the Chicago riots in 1894, and was in charge of the business district at San Francisco following the great fire.

A. L. McCaskill, Carolina Republican Leader, Dies

Fayetteville, N. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—A. L. McCaskill, 67, North Carolina Republican leader and collector of customs for the port of Wilmington, died at his home here today.

JUDGE GREEN OF CIRCUIT COURT DIES IN PEORIA

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Circuit Judge T. N. Green, 73, of Pekin, died at the Methodist hospital here this morning from heart and kidney trouble. He had been in the hospital for two weeks.

He was born at Delavan, Ill., on Feb. 14, 1866, and received his legal training in New Jersey. He was elected Circuit judge in 1901 and served continuously until his death.

In the recent Mansfield poison liquor cases, Judge Green disqualified himself after an address from the bench in which he denounced the prohibition laws.

He was married in 1884 to Fannie E. Schultz, who survives with one sister, Miss Lillian Green, and a brother, Don M. Green, both of Pekin.

SHOT, BLAMES CARD GAME.

Manuel Pulido, 35 years old, 4337 South Hermitage avenue, was in a serious condition at the Bridewell hospital last night with a bullet wound in his abdomen, and Juan Gonzalez, 25 years old, 1138 South Marshfield avenue, was held on a charge of assault with intent to kill as a result of a quarrel over a card game Saturday night in Gonzalez's room. Pulido said Gonzalez shot him.

SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

"My Child Won't Drink Milk—What Shall I Do?"

In January "Good Housekeeping," Demetria M. Taylor of the Institute staff, writes: "Authorities agree that when a child refuses to drink milk, the parent's attitude usually is at fault. How many children are given a glass of milk accompanied by these words, 'You must drink it because it's good for you.' Even grown-ups rebel at eating or drinking anything because it's good for them."

"Selected" Milk Tempts because of its Sweet Natural Taste

Children drink it willingly and eagerly because they like it. That "Sweet Natural Taste" which so encourages the milk drinking habit is due to the special care and vigilance taken in the production of "Selected" on 105 picked dairy farms.

We pay a liberal premium to these farmers because they have fine, healthy herds, and use modern equipment and methods that meet our rigid requirements covering feeding, stabling, milking, cooling and handling "Selected."

If you have to coax and force children to drink the 4 glasses a day that they need for growth and development, tempt them by offering "Selected."

The three pennies more a quart that it costs will prove a priceless investment if it induces the habit of drinking milk, the body-builder—4 glasses a day.

Grown-ups find "Selected" the most satisfying milk they ever used—a delicious, nourishing beverage.

Costs only 3 cents more a quart to enjoy this special drinking milk.

Three simple methods of arranging a trial are suggested below.

WE MAKE SECOND MORTGAGES
Dullness in the real estate market has not affected our ability to make second mortgage loans to home owners at the same low cost; the low rates and convenient terms which we have applied have stood every test during the last five years—and they stand the test today.
We have not raised our rates; we make appraisals promptly; we close loans with dispatch; we charge 7% accruing interest and commissions which work out as follows:
$35.00 per $1,000 for 1 year
$65.00 per $1,000 for 2 years
$90.00 per $1,000 for 3 years

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The Am delegation, it was learned tonigh give unqualified support to the ish thesis for abolition of the s rine at the plenary session of t power naval conference tom This attitude will represent t the most signal concessions ma the United States to the British point on naval limitation sinc Washington conference, when American delegation presented re why the submarine is of utmost in the American scheme of na defense.

Prime Minister MacDonald open the plenary session with a gument for outlawing the subm the use of which by the Germa the world war drove Great Brit a desperate pass. He will be fo by American Secretary of State son, who will support the Briti gument, but will submit as an native to abolition a propositio radical reduction in the numb underseas craft and the outlaw their use against merchant ship

Quotes Advisory Committee.

The winning of America to ab of abolishing submarines is one outstanding accomplishments of ish statesmanship in the last de At the Washington conference Secretary of State Charles Hughes, while urging measur prohibit the ruthless employme the submarine against merchant refused to agree to abolition of weapon and cited the report o American advisory committee o defense value to America. With erence to the position of Great ain, the American advisory comm said:

"A nation possessing a great chant marine protected by a s surface navy naturally does no fire the added threat of subm warfare brought against it. Th particularly the case if that n gains a livelihood through ove commerce. If the surface nav such a nation was required to its home waters it would be grea its advantage if the submarine t was removed.

"On the other hand, if a nation not a large merchant marine, b dependent upon sea borne comm it would be necessary to carry the to it. It would be very natura that nation to desire a large su rine force to protect the approa on sea and to attack troop transp supply ships, etc., of the enemy

Value of Subs.

"Control of the surface of the by an attacking power would not mate it from constant exposure to by submarine attacks. Submar acting legitimately from basis in distant possessions would harass greatly disturb any enemy attemp operations against them. They m even delay the fall of these possess until our fleet could assemble commence major operations.

"It will impose on our fleet the protecting our two long coast operly at all times. Submarine cated at bases along both coasts w be use. l as scouts and could at any ene. y who should desire to m raids on exposed positions. Reter of a large submarine force ma some future time result in the Un States holding its outlying possess

"If these colonies once fall, the penditure of men necessary to re ture them would be tremendous may result in a drawn war w would really be a United States feat. The United States needs a l submarine force to protect its i ests."

New Stand Unexplained.

Why the American government pudiated this statement of its nee submarines for adequate national fense and adopted the British s for abolition of the weapon has n been explained.

THE TRIBUNE'S exclusive repor suppressed portions of Mr. Stims proposals, including the desire of United States to build a new ba ship in order to achieve capital parity, was confirmed today at headquarters of the American de tion. Mr. Stimson, however, decl to explain why he suppressed this posal in his public summary week.

The Japanese are up in arms this proposition. They assert they will never consent to scrap battleship, as Mr. Stimson propo while the United States is allow build a new one, even though plan provides for America scrap four of its older ships.
